No Child Left Behind And The Public Schools:

No Child Left Behind Paul H. Berkhart, 2008 This book presents the latest developments related to the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 legislation to extend and revise the Elementary and Secondary Education Act ESEA which was signed into law as P L 107 110 H R 1 This legislation extensively amends and re authorises many of the programs of federal aid to elementary and secondary education Major features of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 include the following a states will be required to implement standards based assessments in reading and mathematics for pupils in each of grades 3 8 by the 2005 2006 school year and at three grade levels in science by the 2007 2008 school year b grants to states for assessment development are authorised c all states will be required to participate in National Assessment of Educational Progress tests in 4th and 8th grade reading and mathematics every second year d states must develop adequate yearly progress AYP standards incorporating a goal of all pupils reaching a proficient or advanced level of achievement within 12 years and apply them to each public school local education agency LEA and the state overall e a sequence of consequences including public school choice and supplemental services options would apply to schools and LEAs that fail to meet AYP standards for 2 or more consecutive years f ESEA Title I allocation formulas are modified to increase targeting on high poverty states and LEAs and to move Puerto Rico gradually toward parity with the states g within 3 years all paraprofessionals paid with Title I funds must have completed at least 2 years of higher education or met a rigorous standard of quality h several new programs aimed at improving reading instruction are authorised i teacher programs are consolidated into a state grant authorising a wide range of activities such as teacher recruitment professional development and hiring j states and LEAs participating in Title I have various requirements to ensure that teachers meet the bill s definition of highly qualified by the end of the 2005 2006 school year k almost all states and LEAs are authorised to transfer a portion of the funds they receive under several programs and selected states and LEAs may consolidate funds under certain programs through performance agreements l federal support of public school choice is expanded m several previous programs are consolidated into a state grant supporting integration of technology into K 12 education n the Bilingual and Emergency Immigrant Education Acts are consolidated into a single formula grant with existing limits on the share of grants for specific instructional approaches eliminated and o the 21st Century Community Learning Center program is converted into a formula grant with increased focus on after school activities

No Child Left Behind William Hayes, 2008-08-14 While few would quarrel with the goal of the No Child Left Behind legislation the nation is badly divided over whether the law is having a positive effect on our schools At the same time it is also true that most Americans including many professional educators have only a limited understanding of the content and scope of the legislation As we are currently engaged in a national debate about the future role of the federal government in the field of education it is essential that people become better informed about the history content and results of No Child Left Behind This book is a valuable tool informing the current discussion on the reauthorization of the law As a result the reader will be better able to make up his own mind as to the direction we should take as a nation in pursuing the noble objective of ensuring that no child is left behind The Myth and Reality of No Child Left Behind Todd Alan Price, Elizabeth Peterson, 2009 Students of education are aware of the story of public education of legendary figures like Horace Mann riding from district to district trying to improve the American school by establishing a common school fund and developing teacher training programs Those who followed worked hard to broaden the mission and refine the institution While advancing the distribution of textbooks developing curriculum materials and employing testing tools even as early as 1845 standardized testing was used to see if it all worked Advocates used the Elementary and Secondary Education Act ESEA of 1965 to make accessible to all an education of worth for social advancement Yet today s No Child Left Behind Act signed in 2002 is ironically so a reform driven not by the advocates but by public education s most ardent detractors NCLB appears to be an attempt to change the public education system fundamentally from the perspective that it is broken its mission in need of radical revision No Child Left Behind? Paul E. Peterson, Martin R. West, 2003-11-18 The 2002 No Child Left Behind Act is the most important legislation in American education since the 1960s The law requires states to put into place a set of standards together with a comprehensive testing plan designed to ensure these standards are met Students at schools that fail to meet those standards may leave for other schools and schools not progressing adequately become subject to reorganization The significance of the law lies less with federal dollar contributions than with the direction it gives to federal state and local school spending It helps codify the movement toward common standards and school accountability Yet NCLB will not transform American schools overnight The first scholarly assessment of the new legislation No Child Left Behind breaks new ground in the ongoing debate over accountability Contributors examine the law s origins the political and social forces that gave it shape the potential issues that will surface with its implementation and finally the law s likely consequences for American education The No Child Left Behind Act's Impact on Indian Education United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor. Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education, 2008 No Child Left Behind United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions, 2009 No Child Left Behind and other Federal Programs for Urban School Districts Frank Brown, Richard C. Hunter, 2006-07-04 The No Child Left Behind NCLB Act is designed to close the achievement gap between disadvantaged and disadvantaged children through its Title I program This book explores models to achieve equity in Title I schools and defines what is required of states in Title I schools It examines how each state implements NCLB accountability standards No Child Left Behind Act Damian P. Olivert, 2007 On 8 January 2002 the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 legislation to extend and revise the Elementary and Secondary Education Act ESEA was signed into law as P L 107 110 H R 1 This legislation extensively amends and re authorises many of the programs of federal aid to elementary and secondary education Major features of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 include the following states will be required to implement standards based assessments in reading and mathematics for pupils in each of grades 3-8 by the 2005-2006 school year and at three grade levels in science by the 2007-2008 school year grants to states for assessment development are authorized all states will be required to participate in National Assessment of Educational Progress tests in 4th and 8th grade reading and mathematics every second year states must develop adequate yearly progress AYP standards incorporating a goal of all pupils reaching a proficient or advanced level of achievement within 12 years and apply them to each public school local education agency LEA and the state overall and a sequence of consequences including public school choice and supplemental services options would
