General Coding Conventions & Local Guidelines

7. The algorithm index lists common integral and polynomial functions in KCD-NO-PCS (see the appendix for details). Entries for similar or different algorithms are sorted by the number of variables in use to compare the results. Comparing the algorithm index is essential in KCD-NO-PCS because an algorithm index can be constructed directly from the correct table.
8. KCD-NO-OM, vol. 3, uses the Refactor List to present all codes in numerical order with their complete code descriptions. KCD-NO-PCS uses the Refactor section to enable the reader to complete the correct code.
9. KCD-NO-OM, vol. 3, codes are then shown, or four steps. Codes must be reported with the total number of steps required. Symbols in the Refactor List will no longer appear. Additional steps are required. KCD-NO-PCS codes are additional steps are required. The Refactor List is used to present the Refactor List.

6. Answer each directly from the appropriate index. Always check the Subject List or Index to confirm the code is accurate and complete.
7. Codes must be reported at the highest level of specificity. When a code cannot determine the approach or procedure from the documentation, the physician should be queried for the exact question.
8. If you are unsure of the correct answer, leave it blank. Do not put in the same one twice because the computer will

3. The word and/or should be replaced by "and."

8. Staphylococcus aureus (Gram-positive) is a common cause of skin infections. It is a facultative anaerobe, meaning it can grow with or without oxygen. It is also a fermenter, meaning it can break down sugars to produce energy. It is a pathogen, meaning it can cause disease. It is a bacterium, meaning it is a single-celled organism. It is a prokaryote, meaning it lacks a nucleus. It is a eubacterium, meaning it is a true bacterium. It is a Gram-positive bacterium, meaning it has a thick cell wall that retains the Gram stain. Conducting: 11 years to ICD-10-PCS

1. Body systems character 31 as specified in upper or lower are used using the diaphragm as the center point. ICD: 008000Z Pericardium and heart, right ventricle, other areas.
2. General operations should follow the steps in a procedure after the procedure has been performed on a regional area compared to a specific body part. ICD: 009600Z Pericardium, division of a drainage device in the lower abdominal area.
3. Portions of the procedure that are required to reach the intended specific anatomical site, as well as those necessary to finish the procedural site, are not coded separately.
4. If a procedure is discontinued after the root operation has begun, report the code for the root operation. Character 31 of the procedure that was intended to be performed. ICD: 009440Z Pericardium, endoscopic release of other device.
5. When a procedure is discontinued prior to the root operation character 31 being performed, report a procedure using the root operation "Inspection" of the body part or anatomical area inspected. ICD: 008140Z Pericardium, endoscopic inspection, ventricle, left.
6. When an inspection character 31 is done as a part of completing another procedure, it is not reported separately except when the inspection is performed using a different approach (character 30) than the procedure. ICD: 008140Z Pericardium, endoscopic inspection of right lower part, 008000Z Pericardium, division of external drainage tube, right lower part.
7. Inspections character 31 performed on multiple tubular body parts (character 41) use the character that reports the most distal part inspected. ICD: 011000Z Inspection of uterus via natural opening, anteroposterior.
8. For inspections character 31 performed on non-tubular body parts or a region, report a body part character 41 that identifies the entire area. ICD: 008000Z Inspection, via natural opening, of upper abdominal wall.
9. When a listing character 31 root operations "Excision," "Extraction," or "Drainage" is followed by a more extensive related procedure (character 31 root operations "Reconstruction," "Excision," or "Resection") at the same anatomical site, report each procedure separately. ICD: 008000Z Pericardium, excision, lower lung base, left; diagnostic, 008100Z Open incision, lower lung base, left.
10. When an attempt to stop postprocedural bleeding (character 31 root operation "Control") is unsuccessful and another more extensive procedure is required (character 31 root operations "Repair," "Replacement," "Excision," "Extraction," "Resection," "Reattachment," "Replacement," or "Resection"), report only the more extensive procedure. Do not report "Control" in addition.
11. Multiple procedures, when performed during the same session, will be reported separately when:
 - A. The same root operation character 31 is performed on different body parts. ICD: 008000Z Pericardium, division of external drainage tube, right lower part; 008000Z Pericardium, division of external drainage tube, right lower part.
 - B. The same root operation character 31 is performed on different anatomical sites included in the same body part (character 41). ICD: 009000Z Open exploration, subcutaneous tissue and fascia, left upper arm; 009000Z Open exploration, subcutaneous tissue and fascia, left lower arm.
 - C. More than one root operation character 31 with specific objectives is performed on the same body part (character 41). ICD: 008000Z Open incision, lumbar vertebral disc, 008000Z Open incision, spine, lumbar vertebral disc.
 - D. One root operation character 31 begins with one approach (character 30) and is changed to a different approach (character 30). ICD: 008000Z Delivery products of conception, external; 100000Z Cerebral exploration, products of conception.
12. When a body part (character 41) is being released (character 31 root operation), the code should identify the body part being released, not the tissue being moved or cut to free the body part. ICD: 004040Z Pericardium, transverse release of right basal part.
13. When a dissection is attempted and unsuccessful and instead of a biopsy, functioning body part, report the term the dissection was attempted. ICD: 008000Z, ICD: 008000Z Introduction of peritoneal dialysis catheter, new introduction, umbilicus, right.

Medical Coding: Icd-10-Pcs BarCharts, Inc, Shelley C. Safian, 2012-05-31 The health care industry is moving toward a major change in the code set or language used to report the reasons why a physician or health care professional provided care to a patient Since 1978 the industry has used codes from ICD 9 CM volume 3 to report the procedures services and treatments provided to inpatients in acute care facilities Within the next few years the transition will be made to ICD 10 PCS The transition from ICD 9 CM volume 3 to ICD 10 PCS will only affect those health information management professionals and those getting ready to enter this profession working on hospital inpatient procedure coding but it will require even the most seasoned professionals to learn how to accurately report what has been provided to patients With the use of tabular examples and color coded text this QuickStudy guide helps make the transition smoother and promote better understanding and greater comfort with the new code set
