Psychedelic White Goa Trance And The Viscosity Of Race:

Psychedelic White Arun Saldanha, 2007 Psychedelic White is one of the most innovative refreshingly different analyses of race I have read in the last decade Elizabeth Grosz author of The Nick of Time Politics Evolution and the Untimely The village of Anjuna located in the coastal Indian state of Goa has been one of the premier destinations on the global rave scene for nearly two decades The birthplace of Goa trance the most psychedelic variety of electronic dance music Anjuna first attracted adventurous Westerners in the 1970s who were drawn there by its tropical beaches tolerant locals and readily available drugs Today rave tourists travel to Goa to take part in round the clock dance parties and lose themselves in the crowds the music and the drugs But do they really escape where they come from and who they are A rich and theoretically sophisticated ethnography Psychedelic White explains how race plays out in Goa's white counterculture and grapples with how to make sense of racism when it is not supposed to be there Goa is a site of particularly revealing forms of interracial collision and contrary to author Arun Saldanha's expectations that the nature of rave would create an inclusive atmosphere he repeatedly witnessed stark segregation between white and Indian tourists He came to understand race in its creative dimension as a shifting and fuzzy assemblage of practices environments sounds and substances dance skills sunlight conversation cannabis and tea In doing so his work shows how the rave scene in Goa harbors conflicting tendencies regarding race The complicated intersection of cultures and phenotypes Saldanha asserts helps to consolidate whiteness Race emerges not through rigid boundaries but rather through what he terms viscosity the degree to which bodies gather together for pleasure and self transformation Challenging the prevailing conception of racial difference as a purely social construction and offering building on the works of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari Psychedelic White presents nothing less than a new materialist approach to race Arun Saldanha is assistant professor of geography at the University of Minnesota

Migration, Space and Transnational Identities D. Conway, P. Leonard, 2014-12-10 Twenty years after the post apartheid Government took office this timely text interrogates the extent to which the attitudes identities and everyday lives of British people have changed in accordance with the new South Africa New ethnographic research is drawn upon to explore important questions of mobility locality and identity Beyond Mysteries: the Local World of Ancient Eleusis, 2025-02-27 Situated at the crossroads between Athens Boiotia Megara and Salamis Eleusis was exposed to the changing fortunes in a connected world From the Athenian perspective Eleusis marked the fringes of their territory From everybody else's point of view it was a destination or a gateway to Athens the Saronic region and the Aegean Central Greece or the Peloponnese In the midst of these itineraries the Eleusinians had their own ideas about the world writ large This volume delves into the local horizon of the site its agents and stakeholders the stories that moved them and the places where interactions took place Food and Culture Carole Counihan, Penny Van Esterik, 2013 This reader reveals how food habits and beliefs both present a microcosm of any culture and contribute to our understanding of human behaviour Particular attention is given to how men and women define themselves differently through food choices

New Geographies of Race and Racism Caroline Bressey, 2016-04-29 In recent years geographers interested in ethnicity race and racism have extended their focus from examining geographies of segregation and racism to exploring cultural politics social practice and everyday geographies of identity and experience This edited collection illustrates this new work and includes research on youth and new ethnicities the contested politics of race and racism intersections of ethnicity religion and race and the theorisation and interrogation of whiteness Case studies from the UK and Ireland focus on the intersections of race and nation and the specificities of place in discourses of racilisation and identity A key feature of the book is its engagement with a range of methodological approaches to examining the significance of race including ethnography visual methodologies and historical analysis

Changing Contours of Criminal Justice Mary Bosworth, Carolyn Hoyle, Lucia Zedner, 2016 Celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Oxford Centre for Criminology this edited collection of essays seeks to explore the changing contours of criminal justice over the past half century and to consider possible shifts over the next few decades The question of how social science disciplines develop and change does not invite any easy answer with the task made all the more difficult given the highly politicised nature of some subjects and the volatile evolving status of its institutions and practices A case in point is criminal justice at once fairly parochial much criminal justice scholarship is now global in its reach and subject areas that are now accepted as central to its study victims restorative justice security privatization terrorism citizenship and migration to name just a few were topics unknown to the discipline half a century ago Indeed most criminologists would have once stoutly denied that they had anything to do with it Likewise some central topics of past criminological attention like probation have largely receded from academic attention and some central criminal justice institutions like Borstal and corporal punishment have at least in Europe been abolished Although the rapidity and radical nature of this change make it quite impossible to predict what criminal justice will look like in fifty years time reflection on such developments may assist in understanding how it arrived at its current form and hint at what the future holds The contributors to this volume have been invited to reflect on the impact Oxford criminology has had on the discipline providing a unique and critical discussion about the current state of criminal justice around the world and the origins and future implications of contemporary practice All are leading internationally renowned criminologists whose work has defined and often re defined our understanding of criminal justice policy and literature

Global Africans Toyin Falola, Cacee Hoyer, 2017-01-20 Black African African descendant and of African heritage are just some of the ways Africans and Africans in the diaspora both old and new describe themselves This volume examines concepts of race ethnicity and identity as they are ascribed to people of colour around the world examining different case studies of how the process of identity formation occurred and is changing Contributors to this volume selected from a wide range of academic and cultural backgrounds explore issues that encourage a deeper understanding of race ethnicity and identity As our notions about what it means to be black or of African heritage change as
