

□ Section 1:

□ Differential persuasion effects due to type of media (250):

- The more lifelike the medium, the more persuasive its message
- Order of persuasiveness: live (face-to-face), videotaped, audiotaped, and written
 - Messages are best comprehended and recalled when written
- Shelly Chaiken and Alice Eagly reasoned that if a message is difficult to comprehend, persuasion should be greatest when the message is written, because readers will be able to work through the message at their own pace
 - Gave University of Massachusetts students easy or difficult messages in writing, on audiotape, or on videotape
 - Results:
 - Easy-to-understand messages are most persuasive when videotaped
 - Difficult messages were most persuasive when written
 - Thus, the difficulty of the message interacts with the medium to determine persuasiveness

□ Personality types associated with social inequality (319-321):

- Theresa Vesico and her colleagues found that powerful men who stereotype their female subordinates give them plenty of praise, but fewer resources, thus undermining their performance.
 - Allows men to maintain their positions of power
- Peter Glick and Susan Fiske's distinction between "hostile" and "benevolent" sexism extends to other prejudices.
 - We see other groups as competent or as likeable but often not as both
 - We typically respect the competence of those high in status and like those who agreeably accept a lower status
 - Those high in social dominance orientation tend to view people in terms of hierarchies
- Jim Sidanius, Felicia Pratto, and their colleagues argue that the desire to be on top leads people high in social dominance to embrace prejudice and to support political positions that justify prejudice.

Resources in Education, 1987-10 Clinical Neuropsychology Study Guide and Board Review Kirk Stucky, Michael Kirkwood, Jacobus Donders, Christine Liff, 2020-09-01

Clinical Neuropsychology Study Guide and Board Review Second Edition provides an easy to study volume with sample questions and recommended readings that are specifically designed to help individuals prepare for the ABCN written examination. In addition, this book can be used as a teaching tool for graduate students and trainees at various levels. The book is divided into three sections: Section I Foundations of Clinical Neuropsychology, Section II Fundamentals of Assessment, and Section III Disorders and Conditions. The format is geared toward exam preparation and is much less dense than a typical textbook. Information is provided in a concise, outlined manner with liberal use of bullets, boxes, illustrations, and tables that allow readers to easily review and integrate information into their already established knowledge base. To augment the study guide, a recommended readings list at the end of each chapter provides references to more comprehensive materials considered important or seminal in each topic area. Additionally, the book contains four 125-question mock exams designed to help readers study and prepare for the written exam. The answers to all questions are explained along with appropriate and supportive references. Features: Detailed charts and summary tables that facilitate conceptual learning; Concise coverage of pediatric, adult, and geriatric issues and conditions; Emphasis on critical teaching points relevant to current neuropsychological practice; Mock exam questions with answers and references at the end of every chapter relevant to the content; Four separate 125-question full-length mock exams with answers and references.
