Presentation Skills For The Next Generation:

MindXpres: Conceptual and Technical Foundations for Next Generation Presentation Solutions Reinout Roels, 2019-05-27 Presentation tools such as PowerPoint were initially created to simulate physical slides and have inherited a lot of their limitations. In this dissertation, we identify the shortcomings and unmet user needs in presentation software by means of literature study, observations, a survey, and the programmatic analysis of over 12,000 PowerPoint documents. The results indicate that user needs are slowly evolving while existing software has hardly changed over the last 30 years. We motivate the need to rethink the concept of a presentation and provide conceptual and technical foundations that can enable interoperable and well-integrated solutions for the identified shortcomings. The resulting MindXpres platform consists of a new conceptual framework, content model, information system, and presentation engine. We present MindXpres as a presentation platform that enables researchers and developers to build innovative presentation solutions that cannot be implemented in the existing tools. We further demonstrate the flexibility of the MindXpres platform by discussing a wide range of proof-of-concept plug-in solutions for the identified shortcomings and unmet user needs. Successful Presentation Skills Andrew Bradbury, 2006 A good presentation involves effective communication and is essential for business success. This guide addresses the common problems people face: overcoming nerves, handling visual aids, and shaping the presentation itself. Next Generation Course Redesign Philip M. Turner, Ronald S. Carriveau, 2010 There is widespread recognition that large enrollment introductory classes are a significant problem. Lack of engagement, incongruous learning styles, and teaching methods, and high failure/dropout rates are some of the symptoms. The University of North Texas has developed and promulgated a process for redesigning these classes that brings to bear the creativity of the faculty, resulting in higher level student learning without increasing instructional costs. This groundbreaking book provides the reader with a theoretical foundation for course redesign that employs assessment-driven experiential learning and tools and examples to bring all or part of the process to their campus. Back cover Mastering Presentations Doug Staneart, 2012-11-28 A simple four-step process for delivering winning presentations. Mastering Presentations explains how entrepreneurs and small business owners can use guest speaking opportunities to generate rapport with audiences in order to foster business relationships with these audiences. The book provides a simple four-step process for giving presentations that helps eliminate the butterflies and increase self-confidence. It offers tips such as the 10 speaking venues that can generate more clients and credibility, an easy way to improve your memory that will help you present more confidently, a simple but powerful process to design your presentation in 15 minutes or less, and more. Explains how and why speaking to groups is a quick and easy way to generate positive word of mouth, advertising for your company. Lists PowerPoint mistakes that will kill your chances of success and how to avoid them. Offers tips on how to lead fearless question and answer sessions. The energy and enthusiasm of a great presentation is contagious, and public speaking is a great way to channel this energy and generate a loyal following.
