Contemporary Issues in Construction in Developing Countries George Ofori, 2012-06-26 Economic growth and socio economic development are particularly important for developing countries and the construction industry plays a central role in driving both of these Traditionally the issues faced have been assumed to be merely offshoots of those encountered in industrialised nations and are usually discussed only in this context In addition research in construction management and economics has generally failed to take proper account of the unique or highly emphasised characteristics of the industries in developing countries or their economic and social environment This volume challenges underlying assumptions and focuses on the distinct characteristics of construction in developing countries In so doing it considers the issues from the perspective of the developing countries themselves to present a strong contemporary picture for researchers It forms a companion volume to New Perspectives on Construction in Developing Countries which provides an update on the generic subjects relating to the construction industry in developing countries and covers new concepts and issues
