

1. Sociology and the Real World

Sociology– the systematic or scientific study of human society and social behavior, from large-scale institutions and mass culture to small groups and individual interactions

- Howard Becker (1966)– “the study of people doing things together; because neither the individual nor society exist independently of one another.”

Beginner's mind– approaching the world without preconceptions in order to see things in a new way

- We clear our minds of stereotypes, expectation, and opinions so that we can be more receptive to our experiences

Culture shock– happened when you experience a sense of disorientation upon entering a new social or cultural environment

Level of Analysis

- Microsociology – examines small-group interactions to see how they impact large institutions of society
- Macrosociology– examines large-scale social structures to determine how they impact groups and individuals

Personal Troubles– refer to a problem affecting individuals that the affected individual, as well as other members of society, typically blame on the individual's own personal and moral failings

- Personal troubles can become public issues

Public issues– whose sources lies in the social structure and culture of a society, refer to social problems affecting many individuals. Problems in society thus help account for problems that individual experience

- Blaming one versus blaming the system

Theories of Sociology

1. Structural Functionalism (macro)

- Society is conceived as a stable, ordered system, made up of interrelated parts, or structures
- Each structure has a function that contributes to the continued stability or equilibrium of the whole

Structures are social institutions such as: family, education system, politics, the economy, religion

McKeever, 2024-07-25 Foregrounding the work professional communicators do to support public health and social missions this book examines how the principles and practices of public relations can be applied by nonprofit government and corporate entities working to understand and improve public health and social conditions Many organizations attempt to influence prosocial behaviors such as donating one's time money or talents participating in advocacy or activism or otherwise working to protect public health or inspire social change This book explores research and practice related to communication and other factors involved in motivating such efforts Each chapter focuses on a different topic providing definitions summarizing research and explaining how it has been or can be applied to practice and ends with discussion questions to consider and references for further reading Ideally placed for advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in public relations health communication or strategic communication as well as for communications professionals looking to apply research to their practice

The Age of Surveillance Capitalism Shoshana Zuboff, 2019-01-31 THE TOP 10 SUNDAY TIMES BESTSELLER A NEW YORK TIMES NOTABLE BOOK OF THE YEAR ONE OF BARACK OBAMA'S TOP BOOKS OF THE YEAR Shortlisted for The Orwell Prize 2020 Shortlisted for the FT Business Book of the Year Award 2019 Easily the most important book to be published this century I find it hard to take any young activist seriously who hasn't at least familiarised themselves with Zuboff's central ideas Zadie Smith The Guardian The challenges to humanity posed by the digital future the first detailed examination of the unprecedented form of power called surveillance capitalism and the quest by powerful corporations to predict and control us The heady optimism of the Internet's early days is gone Technologies that were meant to liberate us have deepened inequality and stoked divisions Tech companies gather our information online and sell it to the highest bidder whether government or retailer Profits now depend not only on predicting our behaviour but modifying it too How will this fusion of capitalism and the digital shape our values and define our future Shoshana Zuboff shows that we are at a crossroads We still have the power to decide what kind of world we want to live in and what we decide now will shape the rest of the century Our choices allow technology to enrich the few and impoverish the many or harness it and distribute its benefits The Age of Surveillance Capitalism is a deeply reasoned examination of the threat of unprecedented power free from democratic oversight As it explores this new capitalism's impact on society politics business and technology it exposes the struggles that will decide both the next chapter of capitalism and the meaning of information civilization Most critically it shows how we can protect ourselves and our communities and ensure we are the masters of the digital rather than its slaves

The Unforeseen Impacts of the 2018 US Midterms Tauna S. Sisco, Jennifer C. Lucas, Christopher J. Galdieri, 2020-04-07 This book explores multiple stories of the 2018 US midterm elections From retirements and redistricting to MeToo and tariffs it synthesizes the consequences through a thoughtful empirical analysis As the final votes are counted we scholars know that midterm elections matter and have unforeseen consequences for decades to come

Infusing Real World Experiences into Engineering Education AMD NextGen Engineer, National Academy of Engineering, 2012-11-15 The aim of this report is to encourage enhanced richness and relevance of the undergraduate engineering education experience and thus produce better prepared and more globally competitive graduates by providing practical guidance for incorporating real world experience in US engineering programs The report a collaborative effort of the National Academy of Engineering NAE and Advanced Micro Devices Inc AMD builds on two NAE reports on The Engineer of 2020 that cited the importance of grounding engineering education in real world experience This project also aligns with other NAE efforts in engineering education such as the Grand Challenges of Engineering Changing the Conversation and Frontiers of Engineering Education This publication presents 29 programs that have successfully infused real world experiences into engineering or engineering technology undergraduate education The Real World Engineering Education committee acknowledges the vision of AMD in supporting this project which provides useful exemplars for institutions of higher education who seek model programs for infusing real world experiences in their programs The NAE selection committee was impressed by the number of institutions committed to grounding their programs in real world experience and by the quality creativity and diversity of approaches reflected in the submissions A call for nominations sent to engineering and engineering technology deans chairs and faculty yielded 95 high quality submissions Two conditions were required of the nominations 1 an accredited 4 year undergraduate engineering or engineering technology program was the lead institutions and 2 the nominated program started operation no later than the fall 2010 semester Within these broad parameters nominations ranged from those based on innovations within a single course to enhancements across an entire curriculum or institution Infusing Real World Experiences into Engineering Education is intended to provide sufficient information to enable engineering and engineering technology faculty and administrators to assess and adapt effective innovative models of programs to their own institution s objectives Recognizing that change is rarely trivial the project included a brief survey of selected engineering deans concern in the adoption of such programs
