Teaching Cultural Competence and Cultural Humility in Medical Education Freddy A. Paniagua,2024-12-23 Training in multicultural issues is an area of increasing focus in medical education internationally In the United States specifically the inclusion of the topic in training programs is among the key criteria established by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education LCME for approval of schools of medicine where Standard 7 6 deals with Structural Competence Cultural Competence and Health Inequities This new textbook provides a culturally sensitive framework to address the major elements in the LCME Standard 7 6 and to address related requirements for including multicultural issues in the curriculums of medical schools around the world Key Features The first book in the field to provide a framework to help approved medical schools and those in the submission process for approval in the United States to respond appropriately to Standard 7 6 in the LCME This framework also supports the design of culturally sensitive curriculums in medical schools outside the United States Provides specific guidelines to equip future physicians with the skills to take the culturally sensitive approaches they must use when assessing diagnosing and treating culturally diverse patients in order to ensure optimal outcomes for patients Helps medical educators and schools to specify where and how in the curriculum students are best trained to become culturally competent and the need also to display attributions of cultural humility during clinical encounters with clients patients With a practical approach the book provides invaluable hands on guidance to students seeking to develop their skills knowledge and competence in this area Additionally by specifying where and how in the curriculum students can be trained to be culturally competent the book serves as an essential reference for educators and medical schools seeking support in the development and implementation of a culturally appropriate curriculum Fair Housing Planning Guide ,1996 In Silence or Indifference Wayne A. Wiegand,2024-08-30 Librarians around the country are currently on a battleground defending their right to purchase and circulate books dealing with issues of race and systemic racism Despite this work the library community has often overlooked even ignored its own history of White supremacy and deliberate inaction on the part of White librarians and library leadership Author Wayne A Wiegand takes a crucial step to amend this historical record In Silence or Indifference Racism and Jim Crow Segregated Public School

Libraries analyzes and critiques the world of professional librarianship between 1954 and 1974 Wiegand begins by identifying racism in the practice and customs of public school libraries in the years leading up to the Brown v Board of Education decision This culture permeated the next two decades as subsequent Supreme Court decisions led to feeble and mostly unsuccessful attempts to integrate Jim Crow public schools and their libraries During this same period the profession was honing its national image as a defender of intellectual freedom a proponent of the freedom to read and an opponent of censorship Still the community did not take any unified action to support Brown or to visibly oppose racial segregation As Black school librarians and their Black patrons suffered through the humiliations and hostility of the Jim Crow educational establishment the American library community remained largely ambivalent and silent The book brings to light a distressing history that continues to impact the library community its students and its patrons Currently available school library literature skews the historical perspective that informs the present In Silence or Indifference is the first attempt to establish historical accountability for the systemic racism contemporary school librarianship inherited in the twenty first century
