

The Peacemaker's Pledge

The 4 G's of Peacemaking

Goody Good

Instead of focusing on our own desires or doubting our ability to bring peace, we will focus on the Lord and His kingdom, prayerfully depending on His grace and wisdom. We will not use force or threats to achieve our goals, but will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

Get the Goo Out of Your Eye

Instead of blaming others for our conflict or making accusations, we will look in our own hearts and take responsibility for our own contribution to the conflict. We will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

Goody Better

Instead of promoting that conflict cannot end or talking about others behind their backs, we will seek to resolve our differences as we would personally and graciously with those whose interests seem to be at stake. We will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

Go and Be Graciously

Instead of accepting premature compromise or allowing relationships to suffer, we will actively pursue peace and reconciliation. We will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

A Commitment to Biblical Conflict Resolution

As people motivated by God by His truth and His promises of peace, we believe that we are called to respond to conflict in a way that is consistent with the principles of the Bible. We will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

We believe that the Bible provides us with the principles and promises that we need to resolve our conflicts. We will seek to understand the hearts of others and to win them over by the power of the truth.

Peacemaking Principles

Responding to Conflict Biblically

For more information, visit our website at www.peacemaker.org. We are a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting peace and reconciliation.

UNDERSTANDING THE NATURE OF CONFLICT

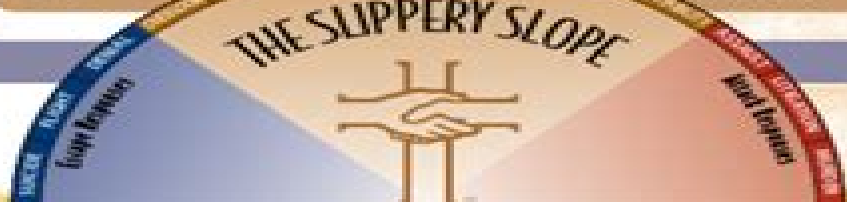

Conflict is a natural part of life. It arises from differences in perspective, interests, or needs. While conflict can be destructive, it can also be a catalyst for growth and change. The key is to respond to conflict in a way that is consistent with the principles of the Bible.

Escape responses

People tend to use escape responses when they are overwhelmed or unable to resolve a conflict. These responses include avoiding the conflict, withdrawing, or fleeing. While these responses may provide temporary relief, they do not address the underlying issues and can lead to further conflict.

Peacemaking responses

Peacemakers are people who seek to bring about peace and reconciliation. They do this by listening to the needs of all parties, understanding the underlying issues, and seeking to find a mutually beneficial solution. Peacemaking responses include active listening, empathy, and a willingness to compromise.

THE GOSPEL—THE KEY TO PEACE

The key to changing the way we deal with conflict is the Gospel. The Gospel teaches that God made peace with us and between us by sending His Son to die for our sins and give us life. Through His sacrifice, we are reconciled to God and to one another.

Attack responses

People tend to use attack responses when they are angry or feel threatened. These responses include blaming others, making accusations, or using force. While these responses may provide a sense of satisfaction in the moment, they do not address the underlying issues and can lead to further conflict.
