

RETHINKING THE POWER OF MAPS

Denis Wood

Rethinking Power Maps Denis Wood

Kären Wigen

Rethinking Power Maps Denis Wood:

Rethinking the Power of Maps Denis Wood, 2010-04-16 A contemporary follow up to the groundbreaking Power of Maps this book takes a fresh look at what maps do whose interests they serve and how they can be used in surprising creative and radical ways Denis Wood describes how cartography facilitated the rise of the modern state and how maps continue to embody and project the interests of their creators He demystifies the hidden assumptions of mapmaking and explores the promises and limitations of diverse counter mapping practices today Thought provoking illustrations include U S Geological Survey maps electoral and transportation maps and numerous examples of critical cartography participatory GIS and map art

Territorial Imaginaries Kären Wigen, 2025-04-16 Fresh offerings on world mapping beyond Western conventions This strikingly colorful volume contends that modern mapping has never been sufficient to illustrate the complex reality of territory and political sovereignty whether past or present For Territorial Imaginaries editor Kären Wigen has assembled an impressive slate of experts spanning disciplines from political science to art history to contribute perspectives and case studies covering three main themes mapping before the nation state rethinking and critiquing mapping practices and robust traditions of counter cartography Each contributor proposes alternative ways to think about mapping and the essays are supported with rich archival documentation Among the far reaching case studies are Barbara Mundy's cartographic history of Indigenous dispossession in the Americas Peter Bol's examination of two Chinese maps created five hundred years apart and Ali Yalcin's exploration of tensions between top down and bottom up mapping of Habsburg and Ottoman border claims

Media and Mapping Practices in the Middle East and North Africa Alena Strohmaier, Angela Krewani, 2025-10-01 A few months into the popular uprisings in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region in 2009-10 the promises of social media including its ability to influence a participatory governance model grassroots civic engagement new social dynamics inclusive societies and new opportunities for businesses and entrepreneurs became more evident than ever Simultaneously cartography received new considerable interest as it merged with social media platforms In an attempt to rearticulate the relationship between media and mapping practices whilst also addressing new and social media this interdisciplinary book abides by one relatively clear point space is a media product The overall focus of this book is accordingly not so much on the role of new technologies and social networks as it is on how media and mapping practices expand the very notion of cultural engagement political activism popular protest and social participation

Mapping Beyond Measure Simon Ferdinand, 2019-12-01 Over the last century a growing number of visual artists have been captivated by the entwinements of beauty and power truth and artifice and the fantasy and functionality they perceive in geographical mapmaking This field of map art has moved into increasing prominence in recent years yet critical writing on the topic has been largely confined to general overviews of the field In Mapping Beyond Measure Simon Ferdinand analyzes diverse map based works of painting collage film walking performance and digital drawing made in Britain Japan the Netherlands Ukraine the United States and the former Soviet Union arguing that together they challenge the dominant modern view of the world as a measurable and malleable geometrical space This challenge has strong political ramifications for it is on the basis of modernity's geometrical worldview that states have legislated over social space that capital has coordinated global markets and exploited distant environments and that powerful cartographic institutions have claimed exclusive authority in mapmaking Mapping Beyond Measure breaks fresh ground in undertaking a series of close readings of significant map artworks in sustained dialogue with spatial theorists including Peter Sloterdijk Zygmunt Bauman and Michel de Certeau In so doing Ferdinand reveals how map art calls into question some of the central myths and narratives of rupture through which modern space has traditionally been imagined and establishes map art's distinct value amid broader contemporary shifts toward digital mapping

Mapping in Architectural Discourse Marc Schoonderbeek, 2021-11-29

This book explores the notion of mapping in architectural discourse First locating positioning and theorizing mapping it then makes explicit the relationship between research and design in architecture through cartography and spatial analysis It proposes three distinct modalities tool operation and concept showing how these methods lead to discursive aspects of architectural work and highlighting mapping as an instrument in developing architectural form It emphasizes the importance of place and time as fundamental terms with which to understand the role of mapping An investigation into architectural discourse this book will appeal to academics and researchers within the discipline with a particular interest in theory history and cartography

Uncertain Climes Joseph Giacomelli, 2023-04-05 Drawing on the writings of scientists foresters surveyors and settlers Joseph Giacomelli shows that climate uncertainty infused Gilded Age thinking about economic growth and national development He details a multivalent discourse on climate that infused both practical concerns and overarching political themes not least Manifest Destiny Giacomelli makes it clear that uncertainty drew together concerns about human induced climate change and cultural worries about the sustainability of capitalist expansionism A rising belief in scientific positivism was matched by a growing awareness of the illusory nature of scientific certainty faith in society's power to improve landscapes tussled with persistent fears of environmental catastrophe

Introducing Human Geographies Paul

Cloke, Philip Crang, Mark Goodwin, 2013-12-05 Introducing Human Geographies is the leading guide to human geography for undergraduate students explaining new thinking on essential topics and discussing exciting developments in the field This new edition has been thoroughly revised and updated and coverage is extended with new sections devoted to biogeographies cartographies mobilities non representational geographies population geographies public geographies and securities Presented in three parts with 60 contributions written by expert international researchers this text addresses the central ideas through which human geographers understand and shape their subject Part I Foundations engages students with key ideas that define human geography's subject matter and approaches through critical analyses of dualisms such as local global society space and human nonhuman Part II Themes explores human geography's main sub disciplines with sections devoted to biogeographies cartographies cultural geographies development geographies economic geographies environmental geographies historical geographies political geographies population geographies social geographies urban and rural geographies Finally Part III Horizons assesses the latest research in innovative areas from mobilities and securities to non representational geographies This comprehensive stimulating and cutting edge introduction to the field is richly illustrated throughout with full colour figures maps and photos These are available to download on the companion website located at www.routledge.com/9781444135350 Thinking with Maps Bertram C. Bruce, 2021-05-15 A 2022 Choice Reviews Outstanding Academic Title Spatial reasoning which promises connection across wide areas is itself ironically often not connected to other areas of knowledge Thinking with Maps Understanding the World through Spatialization addresses this problem developing its argument through historical analysis and cross disciplinary examples involving maps The idea of maps here includes traditional cartographic representations of physical environments but more broadly encompasses the wide variety of ways that visualizations are used across all disciplines to enable understanding to generate new knowledge and to effect change The idea of thinking with maps is also used broadly Maps become not simply one among many items to learn about but indispensable tools for thinking across every field of inquiry in a way similar to that of textual and mathematical language Effective use of maps becomes a way to make knowledge much as writing or mathematical exploration not only displays ideas but also creates them The book shows that maps for thinking are not just a means to improve geographic knowledge as valuable as that may be Instead they provide mechanisms for rejuvenating our engagement with the world helping us to become more capable of facing our global challenges This book has a broader aim It is fundamentally about general principles of how we learn and know It calls for a renewed focus on democratic education in which both the means and ends are democratic Education just as the political realm should follow Dewey's dictum that democratic ends need democratic methods for their realization Maps and mapping are invaluable in that endeavor The Eye of War Antoine Bousquet, 2018-10-09 How perceptual technologies have shaped the history of war from the Renaissance to the present From ubiquitous surveillance to drone strikes that put warheads onto foreheads we live in a world of globalized individualized targeting The perils are great In The Eye of War Antoine Bousquet provides both a sweeping historical overview of military perception technologies and a disquieting lens on a world that is increasingly one in which anything or anyone that can be perceived can be destroyed in which to see is to destroy Arguing that modern day global targeting is dissolving the conventionally bounded spaces of armed conflict Bousquet shows that over several centuries a logistical order of militarized perception has come into ascendancy bringing perception and annihilation into ever closer alignment The efforts deployed to evade this deadly visibility have correspondingly intensified yielding practices of radical concealment that presage a wholesale disappearance of the customary space of the battlefield Beginning with the Renaissance's fateful discovery of linear perspective The Eye of War discloses the entanglement of the sciences and techniques of perception representation and localization in the modern era amid the perpetual quest for military superiority In a survey that ranges from the telescope aerial photograph and gridded map to radar digital imaging and the geographic information system Bousquet shows how successive technological systems have profoundly shaped the history of warfare and the experience of soldiering A work of grand historical sweep and remarkable analytical power The Eye of War explores the implications of militarized perception for the character of war in the twenty first century and the place of human subjects within its increasingly technical armature
