Bates,Judith Tucker,2010-03-29 This book arose from the need to develop accessible research based case study material which addresses contemporary issues and problems in the rapidly evolving field of human ecology Academic political and indeed public interest in the environmental sciences is on the rise This is no doubt spurred by media coverage of climate change and global warming and attendant natural disasters such as unusual drought and flood conditions toxic dust storms pollution of air and water and the like But there is also a growing intellectual awareness of the social causes of anthropogenic environmental impacts political vectors in determining conservation outcomes and the role of local representations of ecological knowledge in resource management and sustainable yield production This is reflected in the rapid increase of ecology courses being taught at leading universities in the fast growing developing countries much as was the case a decade or two ago in Europe and North America The research presented here is all taken from recent issues of Human Ecology An Interdisciplinary Journal Since the journal itself is a leading forum for contemporary research the articles we have selected represent a cross section of work which brings the perspectives of human ecology to bear on current problems being faced around the world The chapters are organized in such a way to facilitate the use of this volume either to teach a course or to introduce an informed reader to the field Land-use Change in the Northwestern Uplands of Vietnam Manh-Cuong Pham,2005 The GLOBE Program Teacher's Guide ,1996 Reforesting Landscapes Harini Nagendra,Jane Southworth,2009-12-02 The 21st century has seen the beginnings of a great restoration effort towards the world's forests accompanied by the emergence of an increasing literature on reforestation regeneration and regrowth of forest cover Yet to date there is no volume which synthesises current knowledge on the extent trends patterns and drivers of reforestation This edited volume draws together research from leading researchers to explore reforestation and forest regrowth across the world from multiple dimensions including ecosystem services protected areas social institutions economic transitions remediation of environmental problems conservation and land abandonment and at different scales Detailing the methods and analyses used from across a wide range of disciplines and incorporating research from North South and Central America Africa Asia and Europe this groundbreaking book provides a global overview of current trends explores their underlying causes and proposes future forest trajectories The first of its kind the book will provide an invaluable reference for researchers and students involved in interdisciplinary research and working on issues relevant to the biophysical geographic socioeconomic and institutional processes associated with reforestation Mountain Landscapes in Transition Udo Schickhoff,R.B. Singh,Suraj Mal,2021-11-02 This book compiles available knowledge of the response of mountain ecosystems to recent climate and land use change and intends to bridge the gap between science policy and the community concerned. The chapters present key concepts, major drivers and key processes of mountain response, providing transdisciplinary orientation to mountain studies incorporating experiences of academics, community leaders and policy makers from developed and less developed countries. The book chapters are arranged in two sections. The first section concerns the response processes of mountain environments to climate change. This section addresses climate change itself, past, current and future changes of temperature and precipitation and its impacts on the cryosphere, hydrosphere, biosphere and human environment systems. The second section focuses on the response processes of mountain environments to land use/land cover change. The case studies address effects of changing agriculture and pastoralism, forest water resources management and urbanization processes, landscape management and biodiversity conservation. The book is designed as an interdisciplinary publication which critically evaluates developments in mountains of the world with contributions from both social and natural sciences.
