Preserving The Old Dominion Historic Preservation And Virginia Traditionalism:

Preserving the Old Dominion James Michael Lindgren, 1993 In 1889 tradition minded women including many from Virginia's most prominent families formed the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities APVA the first state preservation organization in the United States And where better After all who else could so readily claim both colonial and Confederate heritage both Jamestown and the White House of the Confederacy In Preserving the Old Dominion cultural historian James Lindgren shows how the preservation movement strove to rebuild a revered past upon the foundations of its historic structures While vividly capturing entertaining incidents white gloved pilgrimages a Richmond costume ball even a search for a Jamestown Rock to set back those arriviste New Englanders and introducing battling often with each other preservationists Lindgren also explores the serious consequences of these sometimes amusing efforts He shows how the reinvention of the past shaped contemporary Virginia and the South In a very real sense the battle between North and South was replayed at the end of the nineteenth century in a contest to control the nation's past The AVPA's significance lies not only in the fact that it played a major role in the resurgence of conservatism in the late nineteenth century South but that it fits into a larger American picture where tradition minded Americans tapped their history whether imagined or real to shape their identity Preserving the Old Dominion incorporates history anthropology architecture archaeology religion and politics it will be of interest to historians in all fields as well as women's studies scholars Restoring Women's History Through Historic Preservation Gail Lee Dubrow, Jennifer B. Goodman, 2003-01-28 This essay collection draws upon work presented at three national conferences on women and historic preservation held at Bryn Mawr College in 1994 Arizona State University in 1997 and at Mount Vernon College in 2000 Giving Preservation a History Max Page, Randall Mason, 2004 Table of contents Historic Preservation Resources, 1994 Giving Preservation a History Randall F. Mason, Max Page, 2019-10-21 In this volume some of the leading figures in the field have been brought together to write on the roots of the historic preservation movement in the United States ranging from New York to Santa Fe Charleston to Chicago Giving Preservation a History explores the long history of historic preservation how preservation movements have taken a leading role in shaping American urban space and development how historic preservation battles have reflected broader social forces and what the changing nature of historic preservation means for efforts to preserve national urban and local heritage The second edition adds several new essays addressing key developing areas in the field by major new voices The new essays represent the broadening range of scholarship on historic preservation generated since the publication of the first edition taking better account of the role of cultural diversity and difference within the field while exploring the connections between preservation and allied concerns such as environmental sustainability LGBTQ and nonwhite identity and economic development Heritage Conservation in the United States John H. Sprinkle, Jr., 2023-05-25 Heritage Conservation in the United States begins to trace the growth of the American historic preservation movement over the last 50 years viewed from the context of the civil rights and environmental movements The first generation of the New Preservation 1966 1991 was characterized by the establishment of the bureaucratic structures that continue to shape the practice of heritage conservation in the United States The National Register of Historic Places began with less than a thousand historic properties and grew to over 50 000 listings Official recognition programs expanded causing sites that would never have been considered as either significant or physically representative in 1966 now being regularly considered as part of a historic preservation planning process The book uses the story of how sites associated with African American history came to be officially recognized and valued and how that process challenged the conventions and criteria that governed American preservation practice This book is designed for the historic preservation community and students engaged in the study of historic preservation

The Creative Destruction of Manhattan, 1900-1940 Max Page, 1999 The oxymoron creative destruction suggests the tensions that are at the heart of urban life between stability and change between particular places and undifferentiated spaces between market forces and planning controls and between the natural and unnatural in city growth Page investigates these cultural counter weights through case studies of Manhattan s development with depictions ranging from private real estate development along Fifth Avenue to Jacob Riis s slum clearance efforts on the Lower East Side from the elimination of street trees to the efforts to save City Hall from demolition Contrary to the popular sense of New York as an ahistorical city the past as recalled by powerful citizens was in fact at the heart of defining how the city would be built

BOOK JACKET Myth, Memory, and the Making of the American Landscape Paul A. Shackel, 2001-09-30 Penetrating insight into the processes by which our collective historical memory is constructed Through a range of case studies the authors explore how and why certain landscapes and monuments are intentionally endowed with specific messages why certain stories are obscured or forgotten and how collective memories change over time James Delle Franklin and Marshall College The authors in this collection show how the creation of a collective memory of highly visible objects and landscapes is an ongoing struggle their meanings always being constructed changed and challenged The sites and symbols the authors address are nationally recognized and include a balance of places that illuminate class ethnic racial and historical experiences Focusing on material culture they explore the tensions that exist among various groups elite landowners the National Park Service preservationists minority groups who compete for control over the interpretation of American public history
