Social Movements and Protest Politics Greg Martin, 2023-12-22 This fully revised and updated edition of Social Movements and Protest Politics provides interdisciplinary perspectives on the sociology of protest movements. It considers major theories and concepts which are presented in a clear accessible and engaging format. The second edition contains new chapters on methods and ethics of social movement research and legal mobilisation, protest policing and criminal justice activism including calls to abolish or defund police made at protests during the COVID 19 pandemic. This edition introduces readers to the concept of the post protest society wherein the right to protest is whittled away to near vanishing point and authorities have considerable legal recourse to ban protests and render the tactics of protest movements ineffective. The book also looks at recent developments and novel social movements including Black Lives Matter, Extinction Rebellion, Gilets Jaunes, MeToo and Hong Kong's Umbrella Movement as well as the rise of contemporary forms of populism in democratic societies. The book presents specific chapters outlining the early origins of social movement studies and more recent theoretical and conceptual developments. It considers key ideas from resource mobilisation theory, the political process model and new social movement approaches. It provides extensive commentary on the role of culture in social protest including visual images, emotions, storytelling, music and sport, religious movements, geography and struggles over space, media and movements and global activism. Historical and contemporary case studies and examples from a variety of countries are provided throughout including the American civil rights movement, Greenpeace, Pussy Riot, Indigenous peoples movements, liberation theology, Indignados, Occupy, Tea Party and Arab Spring. Each chapter also contains illustrations and boxed case studies to demonstrate the issues under discussion. Social Movements and Protest Politics will be an indispensable resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students in the social sciences and humanities wanting to be introduced to or extend their knowledge of the field. The book will also prove useful to university teachers and academic researchers, activists and practitioners interested in the study of social, cultural and political protest.

The Routledge Handbook of Grassroots Climate Activism Sabine von Mering, Thomas E. Bell, Alexandre da Silva Faustino, Wendy Steele, Ann Ward, Mariana Arjona Soberón, 2024-12-19. The Routledge Handbook of Grassroots Climate Activism introduces contemporary forms of grassroots climate activism from around the world through the lenses of a variety of academic disciplines, methodologies and perspectives. Focusing on bottom up case studies, it showcases innovative and creative approaches as well as the knowledge of those working towards swift decarbonisation, just transitions and climate justice. Grassroots climate activism presents a rich body of material to be studied not only by anthropologists, sociologists, geographers and political scientists but also by scholars in the humanities and the creative arts. This timely handbook explores climate activism across six continents and it provides perspectives from climate activists themselves. The authors interrogate a range of key questions: what forms of mobilisation, organisation and practice constitute grassroots climate activism and how have these changed over the last decade? What are the boundaries of the climate movement and how does it interact with or differ from other social movements? How do activists engage with the moral dimensions of the climate crisis?

How do grassroots engagements with climate struggles give shape to plural site specific but nonetheless interconnected forms of climate activism What tools do climate activists use to create functioning and effective local national and transnational networks How has climate activism been impacted by the Covid 19 pandemic What is the relationship between critical scholarship and climate activism What methodologies are particularly effective for studying climate activism and why This handbook aims to inspire others to devote more attention to grassroots climate activism It brings together established and up and coming scholars scholar activists and practitioners who present novel cutting edge research and new findings exploring current developments in different parts of the world This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of climate activism climate solutions climate and society human environmental crises grassroots activism and social movements It will also be of interest to practitioners involved in climate action and to all those who are ready to launch their own grassroots initiatives or support one of the many already underway

Cycling Activism Peter Cox, 2023-07-28 The first full length study of cycling activism through the lens of social movement theory this book demonstrates that despite tremendous differences bike activism can be understood as a continuous and connected activity spanning a century and a half and across continents With examples from street protest to institutional lobbying it emphasises cycling s current central importance to zero carbon transport futures while showing that cycling activism is also not always about the bike or the cyclist as successive generations of activists have used cycling to articulate different visions of freedom and autonomy Moving from a consideration of social movement theory as a means to understand cycling activism the author presents a series of case studies of collective action organisations networks and campaigns in order to illustrate and elaborate a theoretical model through which diverse campaigns and approaches to change can be understood As such Cycling Activism will appeal to those with interests in mobilisation for social change mobility and transport studies and social movement theory as well as cycling studies

Methodological Practices in Social Movement Research Donatella Della Porta, 2014 Social movement studies have grown enormously in the last few decades spreading from sociology and political science to other fields of knowledge as varied as geography history anthropology psychology economics law and others With the growing interest in the field there has been also an increasing need for methodological guidance for empirical research This volume aims at addressing this need by introducing main methods of data collection and dataanalysis as they have been used in past research on social movements The book emphasises a practical approach presenting in each chapter specific discussions on the main steps of research using a certain method from research design to data collection and the use of information In doing so dilemmas and choices are presented and illustrated within chapters following the same systemic approach

Methodological Reflections on Researching Communication and Social Change Norbert Wildermuth, Teke Ngomba, 2016-11-01 This book identifies the strengths and weaknesses of different methodological approaches to research in communication and social change It examines the methodological opportunities and challenges occasioned by rapid technological affordances and society wide transformations This study provides grounded insights on these issues from a broad range of proficient academics and experienced practitioners Overall the different contributions address four key themes a critical evaluation of different ethnographic approaches in researching communication for and social change a critical appraisal of visual methodologies and theatre for development research a methodological appraisal of different participatory approaches to researching social change and a critical examination of underlying assumptions of knowledge production within the dominant strands of methodological approaches to researching social change In addressing these issues through a critical reflection of the methodological decisions and implications of their research projects the contributors in this book offer perspectives that are highly relevant for students researchers and practitioners within the broad field of communication for and social change
