Rethinking Private Authority Agents And Entrepreneurs In Global Environmental Governance:

Rethinking Private Authority Jessica F. Green, 2013-12-22 Rethinking Private Authority examines the role of non state actors in global environmental politics arguing that a fuller understanding of their role requires a new way of conceptualizing private authority Jessica Green identifies two distinct forms of private authority one in which states delegate authority to private actors and another in which entrepreneurial actors generate their own rules persuading others to adopt them Drawing on a wealth of empirical evidence spanning a century of environmental rule making Green shows how the delegation of authority to private actors has played a small but consistent role in multilateral environmental agreements over the past fifty years largely in the area of treaty implementation This contrasts with entrepreneurial authority where most private environmental rules have been created in the past two decades Green traces how this dynamic and fast growing form of private authority is becoming increasingly common in areas ranging from organic food to green building practices to sustainable tourism She persuasively argues that the configuration of state preferences and the existing institutional landscape are paramount to explaining why private authority emerges and assumes the form that it does In depth cases on climate change provide evidence for her arguments Groundbreaking in scope Rethinking Private Authority demonstrates that authority in world politics is diffused across multiple levels and diverse actors and it offers a more complete picture of how private actors are helping to shape our response to today s most pressing environmental problems Encyclopedia of Global Environmental Governance and Politics Philipp H. Pattberg, Fariborz Zelli, 2015-11-27 The Encyclopedia of Global Environmental Governance and Politics surveys the broad range of environmental and sustainability challenges in the emerging Anthropocene and scrutinizes available concepts methodological tools theories and approaches as well as overlaps with adjunct fields of study This comprehensive reference work written by some of the most eminent academics in the field contains 68 entries on numerous aspects across 7 thematic areas including concepts and definitions theories and methods actors institutions issue areas cross cutting questions and overlaps with non environmental fields With this broad approach the volume seeks to provide a pluralistic knowledge base of the research and practice of global environmental governance and politics in times of increased complexity and contestation Providing its readers with a unique point of reference as well as stimulus for further research this Encyclopedia is an indispensable tool for anyone interested in the politics of the environment particularly students teachers and researchers Essential Concepts of Global Environmental Governance Jean-Frederic Morin, Amandine Orsini, 2014-07-11 Aligning global governance to the challenges of sustainability is one of the most urgent environmental issues to be addressed This book is a timely and up to date compilation of the main pieces of the global environmental governance puzzle The book is comprised of 101 entries each defining a central concept in global environmental governance presenting its historical evolution introducing related debates and including key bibliographical references and further reading The entries combine analytical rigour with empirical description The book offers cutting edge analysis of the state of global environmental governance raises an up to date debate on global governance for sustainable development gives an in depth exploration of current international architecture of global environmental governance examines the interaction between environmental politics and other fields of governance such as trade development and security elaborates a critical review of the recent literature in global environmental governance This unique work synthesizes writing from an internationally diverse range of well known experts in the field of global environmental governance Innovative thinking and high profile expertise come together to create a volume that is accessible to students scholars and practitioners alike

Global Environmental Governance and the Accountability Trap Susan Park, Teresa Kramarz, 2019-02-19 An examination of whether accountability mechanisms in global environmental governance that focus on monitoring and enforcement necessarily lead to better governance and better environmental outcomes The rapid development of global environmental governance has been accompanied by questions of accountability Efforts to address what has been called a culture of unaccountability include greater transparency public justification for governance decisions and the establishment of monitoring and enforcement procedures And yet as this volume shows these can lead to an accountability trap a focus on accountability measures rather than improved environmental outcomes Through analyses and case studies the contributors consider how accountability is being used within global environmental governance and if the proliferation of accountability tools enables governance to better address global environmental deterioration Examining public private voluntary and hybrid types of global environmental governance the volume shows that the different governance goals of the various actors shape the accompanying accountability processes These goals from serving constituents to reaping economic benefits determine to whom and for what the actors must account After laying out a theoretical framework for its analyses the book addresses governance in the key areas of climate change biodiversity fisheries and trade and global value chains The contributors find that normative biases shape accountability processes and they explore the potential of feedback mechanisms between institutions and accountability rules for enabling better governance and better environmental outcomes Contributors Graeme Auld Harro van Asselt Cristina Balboa Lieke Brouwer Lorraine Elliott Lars H Gulbrandsen Aarti Gupta Teresa Kramarz Susan Park Philipp Pattberg William H Schaedla Hamish van der Ven Oscar Widerberg

The Global Environment Regina S. Axelrod, Stacy D. VanDeveer, 2019-07-11 The new edition of this award winning volume reflects the latest events in the in global environmental politics and sustainable development while providing balanced coverage of the key institutions environmental issues treaties and policies The book highlights global environmental institutions major state and non state actors and includes a wide range of cases such as climate change biodiversity hazardous chemicals ozone layer depletion nuclear energy and resource consumption

Global Governance in a World of Change Michael N. Barnett, Jon C. W. Pevehouse, Kal Raustiala, 2021-12-09 Introduces the idea of modes of governance to compare the causes and consequences of changes in global institutions

Existential Politics

Jessica F. Green, 2025-10-07 A new way to tackle the real politics of climate change through asset revaluation It's no secret that the Paris Agreement and voluntary efforts to address climate change are failing Governments have spent three decades crafting international rules to manage the climate crisis yet have made little progress on decarbonization In Existential Politics Jessica Green explains why this is unsurprising governments have misdiagnosed the political problem of climate change focusing relentlessly on measuring reporting and trading emissions This technical approach of managing tons ignores the ways that climate change and climate policy will revalue assets creating winners and losers Policies such as net zero carbon pricing and offsets all cater to the losers owners of fossil assets Ultimately Green contends climate change is a political problem Climate politics should be understood as existential creating conflicts that arise when some actors face the prospect of the devaluation or elimination of their assets or competition from the creation of new ones Fossil asset owners such as oil and gas companies and electric utilities stand to lose trillions in the energy transition Thus they are fighting to slow decarbonization and preserve the value of their assets Green asset owners who will be the basis of the decarbonized economy are fewer in number and relatively weak politically Green proposes using international tax finance and trade institutions to create new green asset owners and constrain fossil asset owners reducing their clout Domestic investments in green assets facilitated by global trade rules can build the political power of green asset owners Global Forest Governance and Climate Change

Emmanuel O. Nuesiri, 2018-03-07 This edited collection assesses governance in forestry programmes and projects including REDD governance It examines political representation participation and decentralisation in forest governance providing insight as to how forest governance arrangements can be responsive to the socio economic interests of local people and communities who live adjacent to and depend on forests Global Forest Governance and Climate Change argues that inclusive complementary representation of local communities is required for strong participatory processes and democratic decentralisation of forest governance Responsiveness to local people's socio economic interests in forestry initiatives require paying attention to not just the hosting of participatory meetings and activities but also to the full cast of appointed self authorized and elected representative agents that stand speak and act for local people This book will be of interest to students and academics across the fields of climate change governance forestry development studies and political economy It will also be a useful resource for policy makers and practitioners responsible for forestry and climate change initiatives Routledge Handbook of Environmental Policy Helge Jörgens, Christoph Knill, Yves

Steinebach, 2023-06-28 This Handbook provides a state of the art review of research on environmental policy and governance The Routledge Handbook of Environmental Policy has a strong focus on new problem structures a perspective that emphasizes the preconditions and processes of environmental policymaking and a comparative approach that covers all levels of local national and global policymaking The volume examines the different conditions under which environmental policymaking takes place in different regions of the world and tracks the theoretical conceptual and empirical developments that have been made in recent years It also highlights emerging areas where new and or additional research and reflection are warranted Divided into four key parts the accessible structure and the nature of the contributions allow the reader to quickly find a concise expert review on topics that are most likely to arise in the course of conducting research or developing policy and to obtain a broad reliable survey of what is presently known about the subject The resulting compendium is an essential resource for students scholars and policymakers working in this vital field

Environmentalism of the Rich

Peter Dauvergne, 2018-02-09 What it means for global sustainability when environmentalism is dominated by the concerns of the affluent eco business eco consumption wilderness preservation Over the last fifty years environmentalism has emerged as a clear counterforce to the environmental destruction caused by industrialization colonialism and globalization Activists and policymakers have fought hard to make the earth a better place to live But has the environmental movement actually brought about meaningful progress toward global sustainability Signs of global unsustainability are everywhere from decreasing biodiversity to scarcity of fresh water to steadily rising greenhouse gas emissions Meanwhile as Peter Dauvergne points out in this provocative book the environmental movement is increasingly dominated by the environmentalism of the rich diverted into eco business eco consumption wilderness preservation energy efficiency and recycling While it s good that for example Barbie dolls packaging no longer depletes Indonesian rainforest and that Toyota Highlanders are available as hybrids none of this gets at the source of the current sustainability crisis More eco products can just mean more corporate profits consumption and waste Dauvergne examines extraction booms that leave developing countries poor and environmentally devastated with the ruination of the South Pacific island of Nauru a case in point the struggles against consumption inequities of courageous activists like Bruno Manser who worked with indigenous people to try to save the rainforests of Borneo and the manufacturing of vast markets for nondurable goods for example convincing parents in China that disposable diapers made for healthier and smarter babies Dauvergne reveals why a global political economy of ever more more growth more sales more consumption is swamping environmental gains Environmentalism of the rich does little to bring about the sweeping institutional change necessary to make progress toward global sustainability
