Research At The Imf Relevance And Utilization Evaluation Report:

Research at the IMF International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office, 2013-03-04 This evaluation report assesses research produced at the IMF between 1999 and 2008 focusing on the relevance and utilization of research to member country authorities IMF staff and other stakeholders The report also examines the technical quality and management of research and offers recommendations for enhancing the relevance of research improving the technical quality of analytical work promoting openness to alternative perspectives and improving the management of research

Behind the Scenes with Data at the IMF International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office, 2016-04-16 This report examines whether the IMF has effectively leveraged an important asset data It finds that in general the IMF has been able to rely on a large amount of data of acceptable quality and that data provision from member countries has improved markedly over time Nonetheless problems with data or data practices have at times adversely affected the IMF's surveillance and lending activities The roots of data problems are diverse ranging from problems due to member countries capacity constraints or reluctance to share sensitive data to internal issues such as lack of appropriate staff incentives institutional rigidities and long standing work practices Efforts to tackle these problems are piecemeal the report finds without a clear comprehensive strategy that recognizes data as an institutional strategic asset not just a consumption good for economists The report makes a number of recommendations that could promote greater progress in this regard

IEO Annual Report 2012 International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office, 2012-10-26 This Independent Evaluation Office IEO Annual Report 2012 presents an overview of overall developments in FY2012 In FY2012 the IEO expended approximately 97 percent of its total budgetary resources including the approved budget amount and the resources carried forward from FY2011 as authorized Vacancies amounted to about one and one half staff years over the course of the financial year This level of vacancies is within the range of what could be expected in a small organization with structural difficulties in recruitment and retention

IEO Evaluation Report International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office, 2019-02-06 In response to the Global Financial Crisis the IMF launched many initiatives to strengthen financial surveillance and better advise member countries of vulnerabilities and risks While these initiatives have not yet been tested by a major crisis the efforts have delivered a substantial upgrade of the Fund's financial surveillance including giving the IMF clearer responsibilities over financial sector stability and cross country spillovers making periodic financial stability assessments mandatory for jurisdictions with systemically important financial sectors invigorating efforts to integrate financial and macroeconomic analysis in bilateral and multilateral surveillance enhancing cooperation with the Financial Stability Board and standard setting bodies to promote reforms and monitor agreed standards and taking steps to recruit and train greater financial expertise While recognizing these achievements this evaluation finds that the quality and impact of the IMF's financial surveillance has been uneven The expansion of products and activities has presented the Fund with difficult trade offs between bilateral and multilateral surveillance between countries with systemically important financial sectors and other member countries and between financial surveillance and other activities Moreover resource constraints have slowed the needed build up of financial and macrofinancial expertise These are critical issues given the IMF s position as the only international financial institution with the mandate and ability to conduct financial and macrofinancial surveillance over the full range of countries as well as the global economy and given that these issues are at the core of the IMF s responsibilities Thus to further strengthen financial surveillance the evaluation recommends devoting greater resources to financial surveillance overall further strengthening financial and macrofinancial analysis in Article IV surveillance refining resource allocation for FSAPs enhancing rigor and transparency in multilateral surveillance intensifying efforts to be a global center of excellence on financial and macrofinancial research and extending efforts to develop financial expertise among IMF staff

IEO Annual Report 2013 International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office,2013-08-20 The Independent Evaluation Office IEO evaluation on International Reserves IMF Concerns and Country Perspectives was discussed by the Board in December 2012 This evaluation examined the IMF s analysis of the effect of reserves on the stability of the international monetary system and its advice on reserve adequacy assessments in the context of bilateral surveillance In the multilateral context the evaluation acknowledged the IMF s broader work stream on the international monetary system but noted that this work had not sufficiently informed the analysis and recommendations regarding reserves The IEO evaluation of The Role of the IMF as Trusted Advisor was discussed by the Board in February 2013 This evaluation found that perceptions of the IMF had improved but that they varied markedly by region and country type Recognizing that there will always be an inherent tension between the IMF s roles as a global watchdog and as a trusted advisor to member country authorities the evaluation report explored how the IMF could sustain the more positive image it had achieved in the aftermath of the recent global crisis The evaluation found that among key challenges facing the IMF were improving the value added and relevance of IMF advice and overcoming the perception of a lack of even handedness

Strategy, Policy, & Review Department,International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,2012-10-23 This paper presents a forward looking implementation plan for the above cited Independent Evaluation Office IEO report During the Board discussion Executive Directors noted that the report provides a balanced assessment of the quality relevance management and utilization of IMF research and were particularly encouraged by the overall finding that a large number of IMF analytical papers are of high quality widely read and appreciated by country authorities and the research community At the same time they noted the finding that IMF research is of uneven quality and perceived to be message driven Directors therefore saw scope for enhancing the relevance and technical quality of the analytical work openness to alternative points of view and coordination of research activities across the institution Recurring Issues from a Decade of Evaluation International Monetary Fund. Independent Evaluation Office,2014-08-21 This report seeks to help the IMF enhance its effectiveness by identifying major recurring issues from the IEO s first 20 evaluations and assessing where they stand The IMF s core areas of responsibility are surveillance lending and capacity development The aim of this report is to strengthen the follow up process by focusing on key issues that recurred in IEO evaluations rather than on specific recommendations on their implementation The IEO believes that a framework of reviewing and monitoring recurring issues would be useful in establishing incentives for progress strengthening the Board s oversight and providing learning opportunities for the IMF
