Resolving Identity Based Conflict In Nations Organizations And Communities:

Resolving Identity-Based Conflict In Nations, Organizations, and Communities Jay Rothman, 1997-06-05 Conflict can either destroy or create depending on whether and how it is guided This is the simple yet profound insight that underlies Jay Rothman's innovative new framework for understanding and transforming identity based conflict in nations organizations and communities Reading a newspaper working in an organization or sitting in on a town meeting can provide vivid examples of identity conflicts in action Based in the national organizational and community groups that provide individuals with meaning safety and dignity identity conflicts are passionate and volatile because they strike at our core who we really are and what we care about most deeply Though often impervious to traditional methods of conflict management identity based conflict also provides adversaries with dynamic opportunities for finding not only common ground but higher ground than separate parties could have found on their own Grounded in his grassroots conflict resolution work in the Middle East work that earned him the honor of witnessing the historic White House handshake between Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and PLO President Yasser Arafat and brilliantly refined to address a wide range of organizational and community conflicts Rothman's ARIA model is a versatile and innovative synthesis of the best contemporary ideas in conflict management resolution and transformation Step by step Resolving Identity Based Conflict traces the ARIA journey through Antagonism Resonance Invention and Action in a variety of environments In straightforward jargon free language Rothman conveys solid theoretical insights and practical how to's that allow researchers and practitioners to Recognize the crucial differences between identity and resource based conflicts Zero in on the needs and motivations shared by even the bitterest of adversaries Create joint agendas for groups in conflict Transform intragroup and intergroup conflicts in organizations of every kind

Healing Identities Cynthia Burack, 2004 Group identifications famously pose the problem of destructive rhetoric and action against others Cynthia Burack brings together the theory work of women of color and the tools of psychoanalysis to examine the effects of group collaborations for social justice and progressive politics This juxtaposition illuminates some assumptions about race and equality encoded in psychoanalysis Burack's discursive analysis suggests the positive identity affirming aspects of group relational life for African American women One analytic response to groups emphasizes the dangers of these identifications and exhorts people to abandon or transcend them for their own good and for the good of others who may be harmed by group based forms of cultural or material violence Another response understands that people feel a need for group identifications and asks how they may be made more resistant to malignant group based discourse and action What can black feminist thought teach scholars and democratic citizens about groups Burack shows how the rhetoric of black feminism models reparative rather than destructive forms of group dialogue and action Although it may be impossible to eliminate group identifications that provide much of the impetus for bias and violence she argues we can encourage more progressive forms of leadership solidarity and coalition politics

Resolving Structural Conflicts Richard E.

Rubenstein,2017-01-06 This book analyses how certain types of social systems generate violent conflict and discusses how these systems can be transformed in order to create the conditions for positive peace Resolving Structural Conflicts addresses a key issue in the field of conflict studies what to do about violent conflicts that are not the results of misunderstanding prejudice or malice but the products of a social system that generates violent conflict as part of its normal operations This question poses enormous challenges to those interested in conflict resolution since the solution to this problem involves restructuring social political and cultural systems rather than just calling in a mediator to help people arrive at an agreement This study breaks new ground in showing how local conflicts involving crime police and prisons transnational conflicts involving religious terrorism by groups like ISIS and international conflicts involving Great Power clashes are all produced in large part by elite driven exploitative or oppressive social structures It also presents new ideas about the implications of this structural turn for the practice of conflict resolution emphasizing the need for conflict resolvers to embrace a new politics and to broaden their methods far beyond traditional forms of facilitation Written by a leading scholar this book will be of much interest to students of conflict resolution peace studies war and conflict studies sociology political science and international relations in general

Environmental Conflict Management Tracylee Clarke,Tarla Rai

Peterson,2015-03-04 A step by step guide connecting theory to practice Environmental Conflict Management introduces students to the research and practice of environmental conflict and provides a step by step process for engaging stakeholders and other interested parties in the management of environmental disputes In each chapter authors Dr Tracylee Clarke and Dr Tarla Rai Peterson first introduce a specific concept or process step and then provide exercises worksheets role plays and brief case studies so students can directly apply what they are learning The appendix includes six additional extended case studies for further analysis In addition to providing practical steps for understanding and managing conflict the text identifies the most relevant laws and policies to help students make more informed decisions Students will develop techniques for public involvement and community outreach strategies for effective meeting management approaches to negotiating options and methodologies for communicating concerns and working through differences and outlines for implementing and evaluating strategies for sustaining positive community relations
