Crisis, Conflict and Celebration Katarzyna Kajdanek, Anna Bednarczyk, Rui Carvalho, 2025-02-03 This book illuminates how the profound challenges faced by contemporary societies over the past few decades encompassing climate change and other environmental risks global health threats warfare and mass migration manifest themselves in European cities The chapters bring cutting edge ethnographic studies which address these complex issues through three key conceptual dimensions of urban life crisis conflict and celebration The concept of crisis is critically explored in its various economic political and cultural dimensions affecting urban residents in multiple social and spatial aspects of their lives Crises often lead to conflicts dynamic processes that give rise to interest groups and complex social landscapes of resistance By examining conflicts in urban contexts the book uncovers the power dynamics and vulnerabilities emerging during turbulent times Crises and conflicts also present opportunities for urban transformation and regeneration bringing underlying beliefs and norms into question paving the way for new social dynamics within urban environments These conflictual spaces can therefore become arenas for celebration of urbanity where communities express resilience cultural identity and collective solidarity As well as providing new insights into the present and future of European cities and the pivotal role of urban areas as centers of social change contestation and community building the book provides an important methodological contribution through innovative qualitative research in a diverse range of European urban areas

Gender in the Post-Fordist Urban Marguerite van den Berg, 2017-03-02 This book investigates the gender revolution in urban planning and public policy Building on feminist urban studies it introduces the concept of genderfication as a means of understanding the consequences of post Fordist gender notions for the city It traces the changes in western urban gender relations arguing that in the post Fordist urban landscape gender is used for urban planning and public policy both to rebrand a city's image and to produce space for gender equal ideals often at the cost of precarious urban populations This is a topic that remains largely unexplored in critical urban studies and radical geography Chapters cover how Jane Jacobs perspectives provide an alternative to the patriarchal modernist city for contemporary planners and using Rotterdam as a case study Van Den Berg discusses why new urban planning methods focus on attracting women and children as new urbanites Topics include forms of place marketing gender as a repertoire for contemporary urban Imagineering and the concept of urban regeneration The final chapter investigates how cities aiming to redefine themselves imagine future populations and how they design social policies that explicitly and particularly target women as mothers Scholars in all fields of urban studies will find this work thought provoking instructive and informative Handbook on Gender and Cities

Linda Peake, Anindita Datta, Grace Adeniyi-Ogunyankin, 2024-10-03 This Handbook acts as a state of the art foundation for the field of gender and cities scholarship through in depth assessments of the latest research within key areas of feminist urban academia Multidisciplinary in its scope editors Linda Peake Anindita Datta and Grace Adeniyi Ogunyan bring together over 60 feminist scholars to present contemporary research in this important field of study Cities, Slums and Gender in the Global South Sylvia Chant, Cathy McIlwaine, 2015-12-22 Developing regions are set to account for the vast majority of future urban growth and women and girls will become the majority inhabitants of these locations in the Global South This is one of the first books to detail the challenges facing poorer segments of the female population who commonly reside in slums It explores the variegated disadvantages of urban poverty and slum dwelling from a gender perspective This book revolves around conceptualisation of the gender urban slum interface which explains key elements to understanding women's experiences in slum environments. It has a specific focus on the ways in which gender inequalities can be entrenched but also alleviated. Included is a review of the demographic factors which are increasingly making cities everywhere feminised spaces such as increased rural urban migration among women, demographic ageing and rising proportions of female headed households in urban areas. Discussions focus in particular on education, paid and unpaid work, access to land, property and urban services, violence, intra urban mobility and political participation and representation. This book will be of use to researchers and professionals concerned with gender and development, urbanisation and rural urban migration.

Urban Theory Mark Jayne, Kevin Ward, 2016-10-04. Urban Theory: New Critical Perspectives provides an introduction to innovative critical contributions to the field of urban studies. Chapters offer easily accessible and digestible reviews and as a reference text. Urban Theory is a comprehensive and integrated primer which covers topics necessary for a full understanding of recent theoretical engagements with cities. The introduction outlines the development of urban theory over the past two hundred years and discusses significant theoretical, methodological and empirical challenges facing the field of urban studies in the context of an increasing globally inter connected world. The chapters explore twenty four topics which are new additions to the urban theoretical debate, highlighting their relationship to long established concerns that continue to have intellectual purchase and which also engage with rich new and emerging avenues for debate. Each chapter considers the genealogy of the topic at hand and also includes case studies which explain key terms or provide empirical examples to guide the reader to a better understanding of how theory adds to our understanding of the complexities of urban life. This book offers a critical and assessable introduction to original and groundbreaking urban theory and will be essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students in human geography, sociology, anthropology, cultural studies, economics, planning, political science and urban studies.

Urban Geography in Postcolonial Zimbabwe Abraham R. Matamanda, Verna Nel, Innocent Chirisa, 2021-05-07. This interdisciplinary book provides a cross sectoral and multi dimensional exploration and assessment of the urban geography perspectives in Zimbabwe. Drawing on work from different disciplines, the book not only contributes to academia but also seeks to inform urban policy with the view of contributing to the national aspirations of Zimbabwe attaining middle income status by 2030. Adopting a multi dimensional assessment that transcends disciplines such as urban and regional planning, human and physical geography, urban governance, political science, economics and development studies, the book provides a background for co production concerning urban development in the Global South. The book contributes into its analysis of the institutional and legislative framework that relates to the urban geography of Zimbabwe as these are responsible for the evolution of the urban system in the country. The connections among different sectors and issues such as environment, economy, politics and the wider objectives of the SDGs, especially goal 11 aspiring to create sustainable communities by 2030, are explored. The success stories relating to urban geography in Zimbabwe are identified together with the best possible practices that may inform urban planning policy and management
