Introduction to Human Memory (PLE: Memory) Vernon Gregg, 2014-05-09 Originally published in 1986 this book was written for undergraduates who had completed an introductory course in psychology and aimed to acquaint the student with the core of recent experimental findings and theoretical ideas concerning human memory Each chapter deals with a specific area of memory research but care is taken to build on what has been covered in preceding chapters so providing an integrated treatment of the subject Thus the book can comfortably be read from cover to cover or selected issues can be referred to in isolation Important features of the book include discussion of fundamental issues about the nature of the scientific process the role of models and theories in it and the historical development of models of human memory Also the treatment of Forgetting includes chapters on motivational aspects psychopathological forgetting post hypnotic amnesia and directed forgetting and organic amnesia

Levels of Processing in Human Memory (PLE: Memory) Laird S. Cermak, Fergus I.M. Craik, 2014-05-09 As a conceptual framework for the investigation of human memory the levels of processing paradigm had enjoyed immense popularity since its introduction in the early 1970s It was the impetus behind literally hundreds of experiments and was used as an explanation for a wide range of retention phenomena Consequently a wealth of data and theory had emerged and this title assimilates and evaluates this information Originally published in 1979 the distinguished contributors to the volume both proponents and opponents of the levels of processing framework present here their latest data and ideas on a viewpoint that has been a tremendous influence in memory research and related areas
