The Ghost Apple Aaron Thier, 2014-03-04 At the turn of the eighteenth century John Morehead Tripoli is marooned on the unspoiled Caribbean island of St Renard There he lives for an idyllic year in a community of Carawak Indians Three hundred years later the Carawak are gone St Renard is carpeted with banana plantations and sugarcane fields and Tripoli himself is remembered only through his grandson founder of New Hampshire's Tripoli College which maintains a branch campus on the island The college never prosperous has been forced to enter into a coercive financial relationship with snack food giant Big Anna Brands the same corporation that controls most of the land on St Renard Big Anna deposes the college president uses students and faculty as test subjects for a dietary and mood additive called Malpraxalin and hijacks the St Renard campus for a field studies program At the heart of this twisted satire are two souls in transition Bill Brees is a grandfatherly dean undercover as a Tripoli freshman and bemused by how things have changed since his undergrad days Maggie Bell is an African American student startled into the realization that nothing really changes at all When these unlikely friends both elect to spend their spring semesters in the Caribbean they will see a side of Big Anna even uglier than they could have imagined The Ghost Apple develops through a varied and colorful collection of documents including tourism pamphlets blog posts slave narratives and personal correspondence Slowly these texts reveal the extent of Tripoli's current crisis and highlight those historical crises in the midst of which the college and the nation were founded

The Alienated Academic Richard Hall, 2018-08-25 Higher education is increasingly unable to engage usefully with global emergencies as its functions are repurposed for value Discourses of entrepreneurship impact and excellence realised through competition and the market mean that academics and students are increasingly alienated from themselves and their work This book applies Marx's concept of alienation to the realities of academic life in the Global North in order to explore how the idea of public education is subsumed under the law of value In a landscape of increased commodification of higher education the book explores the relationship between alienation and crisis before analysing how academic knowledge work identity and life are themselves alienated Finally it argues that through indignant struggle another world is possible grounded in alternative forms of organising life and producing socially useful knowledge ultimately requiring the abolition of academic labour This pioneering work will be of interest and value to all those working in the higher education sector as well as those concerned with the rise of neoliberalism and marketization within universities will become an invaluable resource reminding today's citizens that these traditions will never die The Collected Works of Chögyam Trungpa, Volume 10 Chogyam Trungpa, 2017-11-14 The Collected Works of Chogyam Trungpa brings together in ten volumes the writings of one of the first and most influential and inspirational Tibetan teachers to present Buddhism in the West. Organized by theme, the collection includes full-length books as well as articles, seminar transcripts, poems, plays, and interviews, many of which have never before been available in book form. From memoirs of his escape from Chinese-occupied Tibet to insightful discussions of psychology, mind, and meditation; from original verse and calligraphy to the esoteric lore of tantric Buddhism, the impressive range of Trungpa's vision, talents, and teachings is showcased in this landmark series. Volume Ten begins with Chogyam Trungpa's three most recent books: Work Sex Money, Mindfulness in Action, and Devotion and Crazy Wisdom. The first two books in the volume emphasize the importance of meditation in action and bringing awareness, mindfulness, intentionality, and a sense of the sacred into everyday life. The third book explores devotion and discusses mutual commitment and surrendering between teacher and student. The selected writings in this volume range from older articles originally published in the Vajradhatu Sun to recently edited articles, including several that have not yet appeared in print. Overall, these articles show us how Trungpa Rinpoche worked deeply and directly with many interest groups and subsections of the community and how he infused each situation with dharma, taking every opportunity to present essential teachings.
