Geographies of Post-Industrial Place, Memory, and Heritage Mark Alan Rhodes II,William R. Price,Amy Walker,2020-11-23 All industrialization is deeply rooted within the specific geographies in which it took place and echoes of previous industrialization continue to reverberate in these places through to the modern day This book investigates the overlap of memory and the impacts of industrialization within today s communities and the senses of place and heritage that grew alongside and in reaction to the growth of mines mills and factories The economic and social change that accompanied the unchecked accumulation of wealth and exploitation of labor as the industrial revolution spread throughout the world has numerous lasting impacts on the socioeconomics of today Likewise the planet itself is now reeling The memory and heritage of these processes reach into the communities that owe the industrial revolution their existence but these populations also often suffered adverse impacts to their health and environment through the large scale and rapid extraction of natural resources and production of goods Through the themes of memory community and place working post industrial landscapes and the de romanticization of industrial pasts this book examines the endurance and decline of these communities the spatial processes of industrial byproducts and the memory and heritage of industrialization and its legacies While based in the traditions of geography this collection also draws upon and will be of great interest to students and scholars of cultural persistence and desistance While there is consensus across the body of desistance research that social relations have a role to play in variously constraining enabling and sustaining desistance no desistance studies have adequately analysed the dynamics or properties of social relations or their relationship to individuals and social structures This book aims to reset this balance By examining the social relations and life stories of six Scottish men in their forties Weaver reveals the central role of friendship groups intimate relationships and families of formation employment and religious communities She shows how for different individuals these relations triggered reflexive evaluation of their priorities behaviours and lifestyles but with differing results Weaver's re-examination of the relationships between structure agency identity and reflexivity in the desistance process ultimately illuminates new directions for research policy and practice This book is essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of criminology and criminal justice delinquency probation and criminal law
