Out Of Eden The Peopling Of The World:

Out of Eden: The Peopling of the World Stephen Oppenheimer, 2012-03-01 In a brilliant synthesis of genetic archaeological linguistic and climatic data Oppenheimer challenges current thinking with his claim that there was only one successful migration out of Africa In 1988 Newsweek headlined the startling discovery that everyone alive on the earth today can trace their maternal DNA back to one woman who lived in Africa 150 000 years ago It was thought that modern humans populated the world through a series of migratory waves from their African homeland Now an even more radical view has emerged that the members of just one group are the ancestors of all non Africans now alive and that this group crossed the mouth of the Red Sea a mere 85 000 years ago It means that not only is every person on the planet descended from one African Eve but every non African is related to a more recent Eve from that original migratory group This is a revolutionary new theory about our origins that is both scholarly and entertaining a remarkable account of the kinship of all humans Further details of the findings in this book are presented at www.bradshawfoundation.com/stephenoppenheimer Out of Africa's Eden Stephen Oppenheimer, 2003 Out of Eden Stephen Oppenheimer, 2003-01-01 The question of how the world was first peopled by modern humans is one of the most controversial in science This book presents new findings that radically change our existing views of humanity's global migration Its main argument centers around the theory that there was only one exodus one group of early modern humans from Africa that went on to people the rest of the world It suggests that this exodus took place 80 000 years ago via a little known southern route across the mouth of the Red Sea It also argues that living Malaysian tribes provide an extant link of the route pursued from there as modern humans beachcombed their way to Australia in the space of 10 000 years These theories form an account of modern man's remaining journey around the world to the Mammoth Steppe heartland of Asia to the now submerged continent of Beringia and on to the last great unpeopled lands of the Americas Van natuurlandschap tot risicomaatschappij Ton Dietz, Frank den Hertog, Herman van der Wusten, 2008 Bijdragen over aspecten van de omgang van de mens met zijn omgeving Biofictions Josie Gill, 2020-02-20 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched Winner of the 2020 British Society for Literature and Science book prize In this important interdisciplinary study Josie Gill explores how the contemporary novel has drawn upon and intervened in debates about race in late 20th and 21st century genetic science Reading works by leading contemporary writers including Zadie Smith Kazuo Ishiguro Octavia Butler and Colson Whitehead Biofictions demonstrates how ideas of race are produced at the intersection of science and fiction which together create the stories about identity racism ancestry and kinship which characterize our understanding of race today By highlighting the role of narrative in the formation of racial ideas in science this book calls into question the apparent anti racism of contemporary genetics which functions narratively rather than factually or objectively within the racialized contexts in which it is embedded In so doing Biofictions compels us to rethink the long asked question of whether race is a biological fact or a fiction calling instead for a new understanding of the relationship between race science and fiction From Big Bang to Big Mystery Brendan M. Purcell, 2012 Everyone knows about the mystery of the Big Bang what started it This book is about the other creation mystery where did human beings in particular come from It traces the material part of our origins from the Big Bang through evolution including the almost 7 million year hominid sequence up to the first humans in Africa over 150 000 years ago That data doesn't seem to explain what paleontologists and archaeologists call the Big Bang of Human Consciousness In his fascinating accessible and thorough study renowned priest and academic Brendan Purcell shows the complementarity that scientists theologians and philosophers bring to a deeper understanding of the mystery of human existence and human consciousness The Incredible Human Journey Alice Roberts, 2010-04-05 Alice Roberts has been travelling the world from Ethiopian desert to Malay peninsula and from Russian steppes to Amazon basin in order to understand the challenges that early humans faced as they tried to settle continents On her travels she has witnessed some of the daunting and brutal challenges our ancestors had to face mountains deserts oceans changing climates terrifying giant beasts and volcanoes But she discovers that perhaps the most serious threat of all came from other humans When our ancestors set out from Africa there were already two other species of human on the planet Neanderthal in Europe and Homo erectus in Asia Both contrary to popular perception were intelligent adept at making tools and weapons and were long adapted to their environments So Alice asks why did only Homo sapiens survive Part detective story part travelogue and drawing on the latest genetic and archaeological discoveries Alice examines how our ancestors evolved physically in response to these challenges finding out how our colour shape size diet disease resistance and even athletic ability have been shaped by the range of environments that our ancestors had to survive She also relates how astonishingly closely related we all are As a lecturer in Anatomy at Bristol University Alice Roberts is eminently qualified to write this book As a talented artist she is perfectly qualified to illustrate it and dotted throughout this lively book are many of the sketches and photographs from her travels The Humans Who Went Extinct Clive Finlayson, 2010-11-11 Originally published in hardcover Oxford New York Oxford University Press 2009 Anthropological Perspectives on Tooth Morphology G. Richard Scott, Joel D. Irish, 2013-02-21 This follow up to The Anthropology of Modern Human Teeth puts methods to use in interpreting human origins and affinities World Cities: Achieving Liveability And Vibrancy Giok Ling Ooi, Belinda Yuen, 2009-08-11 How does a city make sound policy decisions on sustainability and governance while simultaneously promoting economic growth and development excellence This book focuses on the major challenges that world cities are facing in such key areas as governance social inclusiveness infrastructural development financial solvency as well as environmental and ecological sustainability Based on case studies from cities in North America Europe and the Asia Pacific this collection of essays brings together some of the top academics professionals and policymakers from the world over and presents their views on how to best strike the balance between growth and sustainability The range of perspectives ideas and depth of information makes this an invaluable resource for researchers city planning professionals and policymakers in environment urban development and urban economic planning
