Legislature, 1887 China's Troubled Waters Steve Chan, 2016-02-26 Although territorial disputes have been the leading cause for interstate wars in the past China has settled most of its land borders with its neighbours Its maritime boundaries however have remained contentious This book examines China s conduct in these disputes in order to analyse Beijing s foreign policy intentions in general The Present Depression in Trade; Its Causes and Remedies Edwin

Goadby, William Watt, 1885 China's Use of Military Force in Foreign Affairs Markus B. Liegl, 2017-03-16 This book explains why China has resorted to the use of large scale military force in foreign affairs How will China use its growing military might in coming crisis and existing conflicts This book contributes to the current debate on the future of the Asia Pacific region by examining why China has resorted to using military force in the past Utilizing fresh theoretical insights on the causes of interstate war and employing a sophisticated methodological framework the book provides detailed analyses of China's intervention in the Korean War the Sino Indian War China's border clashes with the Soviet Union and the Sino Vietnamese War It argues that China did not employ military force in these wars for the sake of national security or because of material issues under contestation as frequently claimed Rather the book's findings strongly suggest that considerations about China's international status and relative standing are the principal reasons for China's decision to engage in military force in these instances When reflecting the study's central insight back onto China's contemporary territorial conflicts and problematic bilateral relationships it is argued that the People's Republic is still a status seeking and thus highly status sensitive actor As a result China's status ambitions should be very carefully observed and well taken into account when interacting with the PRC This book will be of much interest to students of Chinese foreign policy Asian politics military and strategic studies and IR in general
