Circulation and Governance of Asian Medicine Céline Coderey, Laurent Pordié, 2019-08-29 This book unpacks the organized sets of practices that govern contemporary Asian medicine from production of medications in the lab to their circulation within circuits and networks of all kinds and examines the plurality of actors involved in such governance Chapters analyze the process of industrialization and commercialization of Asian medicine and the ways in which the expansion of the market in Asian medicines has contributed to the inscription of products within a large system of governance greatly dominated by global actors and the biomedical hegemony At the same time the contributors argue that local actors continue to play a major role in reshaping the regulations and their implementation thus complexifying the trajectory of the remedies and their natures Examining in particular the plurality of actors involved in governance and circulation and the converging or conflicting logics actors follow in regard to negotiations and tensions that arise the book brings a unique multi layered contribution to the study of governance and circulation of Asian medicines offering further proof of their fluidity and resilience Filling a significant gap in the market by addressing circulation and governance of Asian medicines in Asian countries including Bangladesh Myanmar and Singapore this book will be of interest to students and scholars in the field of Asian studies Asian culture and society global health Asian medicine and medical anthropology

China in Global Health Mary Augusta Brazelton, 2023-02-09 Mary Brazelton argues that the territories and peoples associated with China have played vital roles in the emergence of modern international health In the early twentieth century repeated epidemic outbreaks in China justified interventions by transnational organizations these projects shaped strategies for international health China has also served as a space of creativity and reinvention in which administrators developed new models of health care during decades of war and revolution even as traditional practitioners presented alternatives to Western biomedicine The 1949 establishment of the People s Republic of China introduced a new era of socialist internationalism as well as new initiatives to establish connections across the non aligned world using medical diplomacy After 1978 the post socialist transition gave rise to new configurations of health governance The rich and varied history of Chinese involvement in global health offers a means to make sense of present day crises Feeling Machines Shawn

Bender, 2024-11-19 In recent years debates over healthcare have accompanied rapid advances in technology from the expansion of telehealth services to artificial intelligence driven diagnostics In this book Shawn Bender delves into the world of Japanese robots engineered for care Care robots kaigo robotto emerged early in the 21st century when roboticists began converting assembly line technologies into responsive machines for older adults and people with disabilities These robots are meant to be felt and programmed to feel While some greet them with enthusiasm others fear that they might replace a fundamentally human task Based on fieldwork in Japan Denmark and Germany Bender traces the emergence of care robots in Japan and examines their impact on therapeutic practice around the world Social science scholarship on robotics tends to be either speculative imagining life together with robots or experimental observing robot human interaction in laboratories or through short term field studies Instead Bender follows roboticists developing technologies in Japan and travels with the robots themselves into everyday sites of care tracking the integration of robots into institutional care and the connection of care practice to robotics development By exploring the application of Japanese robotics across the globe Feeling Machines highlights the entanglements of therapeutic practice and technological innovation in an age of more than human care
