Our Mother Saint Paul:

Our Mother Saint Paul Beverly Roberts Gaventa, 2007-07-03 In his epistles Paul at various points uses maternal imagery to talk about his apostolic labors sometimes actually referring to himself as a mother For example Paul writes that he must behave like a nurse caring for her own children Later he writes he is in labor again and must continue to nurse his fellow Christians with milk These images though known among earlier generations of Christians today remain largely both unacknowledged and unexplored in thinking about Paul and his work In Our Mother Saint Paul Beverly Gaventa retrieves these images explores their significance for understanding apostolic ministry and demonstrates how they point beyond their original contexts and offer unique perspectives for understanding Paul's thought as well as the larger cosmic understanding of the gospel

Paul and Time L. Ann Jervis, 2023-11-21 How did Paul understand time Standard interpretations are that Paul modified his inherited Jewish apocalyptic sequential two age temporality Paul solved the conundrum of Christ's resurrection occurring without the resurrection of the righteous by asserting that the ages are not sequential but rather that they overlap Believers live in already not yet temporality In this groundbreaking book Ann Jervis instead proposes that Paul thought not in terms of two ages but in terms of life in this age or life in Christ Humans apart from Christ live in this age whereas believers live entirely in the temporality of Christ Christ's temporality like God's is time in which change occurs at least between Christ and God and creation Their temporality is tensed but the tenses are nonsequential The past is in their present as is the future However this is not a changeless now but a now in which change occurs though not in the way that human chronological time perceives change Those joined to Christ live Christ's temporality while also living chronological time In clear writing Jervis engages both philosophical and traditional biblical understandings of time Her inquiry is motivated and informed by the long standing recognition of the centrality of union with Christ for Paul Jervis points out that union with Christ has significant temporal implications Living Christ's time transforms believers suffering sinning and physical dying While in the present evil age these are instruments purposed for destruction in Christ they are transformed in service of God's life Living Christ's time also changes the significance of the eschaton It is less important to those in Christ than it is for creation for those joined to the One over whom death has no dominion are already released from bondage to corruption Scholars and students will profit from this lively contribution to Pauline studies which offers big picture proposals based on detailed work with Paul's letters The book includes a foreword by John Barclay

The Ministry of Women in the New Testament Dorothy A. Lee, 2021-02-16 Respected scholar Dorothy Lee considers evidence from the New Testament and early church to show that women's ministry is confirmed by the biblical witness Her comprehensive examination explores the roles women played in the Gospels and the Pauline corpus with a particular focus on passages that have been used in the past to limit women's ministry She argues that women in the New Testament were not only valued as disciples but also given leadership roles which has implications for the contemporary church

Embodied Performance Sarah

Agnew,2020-09-22 Embodied Performance presents a methodology by which performer interpreters can bring their intuitive interpretations to the scholarly conversations about biblical compositions It may not be comfortable for scholarship is out of practice in listening to emotion and intuition It may not be the only way to bring the fullness of human meaning making into scholarly discussions It is a beginning as Sarah Agnew storyteller and scholar places herself as the subject and object under examination observing her practice as a biblical storyteller making meaning through embodied performance and develops a coherent method rigorously tested with an Embodied Performance Analysis of Romans Follow Sarah s story as she searches within Biblical Performance Criticism for such a method before determining the need to strike out in a new direction from within an already innovative field All biblical scholars are complex human beings making meaning through their embodiment their emotions their embeddedness in community Embodied Performance Analysis offers a way to attend to and incorporate the full range of human meaning making in our engagement with biblical compositions for richer discussion closer to the intent of the compositions themselves

Saint Paul Elliott C. Maloney,2014-02-28 In Saint Paul Elliott C Maloney explores what the great saint says about the spiritual life the how to in the day to day activities and concerns of Christians How should people live in covenant relationship with God committed to seeking God s will in every aspect of their lives Spirituality is a popular topic but it is regarded as merely one part of life some higher level of living when compared to ordinary living Even Catholic scholarship Maloney argues notable as it is in Pauline exegesis and theology seems to lack a feel for the overall kind of living that Paul wanted for his communities not to mention how we might appropriate such wisdom for today For Paul all of a believer s life is spiritual life The alternative is a life according to the flesh a self centered life without God a continual spiritual death Based on over forty years of teaching and study of the Pauline letters Maloney s Saint Paul offers a rich vision of Christianity and the spiritual life in Christ

Mothering, God, and the Mothering God V. Jean Thomas,2025-09-05 Mothers today face unprecedented pressure as contemporary American society feeds into the culture of intensive mothering leading many to be consumed by their role as mothers Many grapple with additional expectations stemming from the teachings of today s evangelical church Rather than serving as a countercultural influence encouraging women to cultivate their primary identity in Christ women often receive the message that to be a good Christian they need to make mothering their top priority The effects of this ideology impact not only women who are mothers but also the church and society at large How does Scripture inform this conversation including both biblical mothers and references to God as Mother Which biblical and historical mothers have been celebrated why and how do they stack up with today s expectations How can mothers today simultaneously follow God and faithfully fulfill their roles as mothers and how can the church support this endeavor This book seeks to reset mothering expectations for the church today by examining examples and expectations of mothers as depicted by Scripture and church history namely the expectation to locate primary identity in Christ

Romans Christian A. Eberhart,2025-04-05 Can a feminist interpretation of Romans discover anything new In this volume Christian Eberhart pays special attention to the fact that Paul entrusted Phoebe a gentile woman with the task of delivering the letter to Rome. There she would have been the person who recited it aloud and by heart in front of various audiences. Yet as the leader of a congregation in Corinth, Phoebe had likely also been involved in the process of composing the letter as some passages reveal. This multifaceted engagement of a woman gives new meaning to the vision of human society in Romans that celebrates the full participation of women and men, Jews and gentiles, weak and strong and free and slave.

The First Urban Churches 8

James R. Harrison, L. L. Welborn, 2025-08-22. This eighth volume of First Urban Churches explores the literary, archaeological, documentary, numismatic, and iconographic evidence from ancient Galatia and Lycaonia. Essays focus on the northern cities of Ancyra and Pessinus and the southern cities of Pisidian Antioch and Iconium. An introduction to the province of Galatia and contributions focused on various aspects of ancient benefaction follow. Locals mistaking Paul and Barnabas for Zeus and Hermes, Paul's maternal metaphor for his ministry, and more shed light on the rise of early Christianity in this region. D. Clint Burnett, Alan H. Cadwallader, Susan M. Elliott, James R. Harrison, Peter Oakes, Wesley Redgen, Michael P. Theophilus, David Wyman, and Arjan Zuiderhoek present cutting-edge research that opens new interpretive possibilities for the Letter to the Galatians.

Divine Regeneration and Ethnic Identity in 1 Peter

Katie Marcar, 2022-06-09. In this book, Katie Marcar examines how 1 Peter draws together metaphors of family, ethnicity, temple, and priesthood to describe Christian identity. She examines the precedents for these metaphors in Second Temple Judaism and early Christianity in order to highlight the originality, creativity, and theological depth of the text. She then explores how these metaphors are combined and developed in 1 Peter to create complex narrational metaphors which reframe believers' understanding of themselves, their community, and their world. Integrating insights on ethnicity and race in the ancient and modern world, as well as insights from metaphor studies, Marcar examines why it is important for Christians to think of themselves as one family and ethnic group. Marcar concludes by distilling the metaphors of divine regeneration down to their underlying systematic metaphors.

Metaphors and Social Identity Formation in Paul's Letters to the Corinthians

Kar Yong Lim, 2017-05-05. Why did Paul frequently employ a diverse range of metaphors in his letters to the Corinthians? Was the choice of these metaphors a random act or a carefully crafted rhetorical strategy? Did the use of metaphors shape the worldview and behavior of the Christ followers? In this innovative work, Kar Yong Lim draws upon Conceptual Metaphor Theory and Social Identity Theory to answer these questions. Lim illustrates that Paul employs a cluster of metaphors, namely sibling, familial, temple, and body metaphors, as cognitive tools that are central to how humans process information, construct reality, and shape group identity. Carefully chosen, these metaphors not only add colors to Paul's rhetorical strategy but also serve as a powerful tool of communication in shaping the thinking governing the behavior and constructing the social identity of the Corinthian Christ followers.
