Statebuilding and Justice Reform Matteo Tondini, 2010-02-25 The book provides an updated account of justice reform in Afghanistan which started in the wake of the US led military intervention of 2001. In particular it focuses on the role of international actors and their interaction with local stakeholders highlighting some provisional results together with problems and dilemmas encountered in the reform activities. Since the mid 1990s justice system reform has become increasingly important in state building operations particularly with regard to the international administrations of Bosnia Kosovo East Slavonia and East Timor. Statebuilding and Justice Reform examines in depth the reform of justice in Afghanistan evaluating whether the success of reform may be linked to any specific feature or approach. In doing so it stresses the need for development programmes in the field of justice to be implemented through a multilateral approach involving domestic authorities and other relevant stakeholders. Success is therefore linked to limiting the political interests of donors establishing functioning pooled financing mechanisms restricting the use of bilateral projects improving the efficacy of technical and financial aid and concentrating the attention on the demand for justice at local level rather than on the traditional supply of financial and technical assistance. This book will be of much interest to students of Afghanistan intervention and statebuilding peacekeeping and post conflict reconstruction as well as International Relations in general. Matteo Tondini is a researcher and a legal advisor. He has served as a project advisor to the Embassy of Italy in Kabul Development Cooperation Unit working within the Afghanistan Justice Program and has a Phd in Political Systems and Institutional Change from the Institute of Advanced Studies Lucca Italy.

Criminal Law Markus Dubber, Tatjana Hörnle, 2014-03-27. Criminal Law A Comparative Approach presents a systematic and comprehensive analysis of the substantive criminal law of two major jurisdictions the United States and Germany. Presupposing no familiarity with either US or German criminal law the book will provide criminal law scholars and students with a rich comparative understanding of criminal law's foundations and central doctrines. All foreign language sources have been translated into English cases and materials are accompanied by heavily cross referenced introductions and notes that place them within the framework of each country's criminal law system and highlight issues ripe for comparative analysis. Divided into three parts the book covers foundational issues such as constitutional limits on the criminal law before tackling the major features of the general part of the criminal law and a selection of offences in the special part. Throughout readers are exposed to alternative approaches to familiar problems in criminal law and as a result will have a chance to see a given country's criminal law doctrine on specific issues and in general from the critical distance of comparative analysis.

Criminalizing Sex Stuart P. Green, 2020 In the late 20th century the law of sexual offenses began to reflect a striking divergence On the one hand it became significantly more punitive in its approach to nonconsensual sexual conduct as in the case of rape and sexual assault On the other hand it became more permissive in how it dealt with putatively consensual sex such as sodomy adultery and adult pornography This book explores the conceptual and normative implications of this divergence In doing so it assumes that the proper role of criminal law in a liberal state is to protect individuals in their right not to be subjected to sexual contact against their will while also safeguarding their right to engage in private consensual sexual conduct in which they do wish to participate Although consistent in the abstract these dual aims frequently come into conflict in practice as is explored in the context of a wide range of offenses
