Moche Fineline Painting From San Jose De Moro Cotsen Monograph:

Moche Fineline Painting From San Jose De Moro Christopher B. Donnan, Donald McClelland, Donna McClelland, 2007-12-31 Moche civilization flourished on the north coast of Peru from AD 200 to 800 Although the Moche had no writing system they left a vivid artistic record of their beliefs and activities on intricately painted ceramic vessels several thousand of which are scattered in museums and private collections throughout the world today Unfortunately nearly all were looted by grave robbers so their origin and context are unknown In recent years however through a combination of archaeological excavation and stylistic analysis it has been possible to identify more than 250 painted vessels from the site of San Jose de Moro To date this is the largest sample of Moche art from a single place and time Thus it provides a unique opportunity to identify a distinct sub style of Moche ceramics and to assess its range of artistic and technological variation Moreover within the sample it is possible to identify multiple paintings by 18 different artists thus elucidating the range of subject matter that an artist would paint as well as the variation in the way he would portray the same scene By discussing and illustrating more than 200 painted vessels from San Jose de Moro this volume provides insights about a community of ancient Peruvian potters who shared a distinctive painting style and left a fascinating record of their achievement Moche Fineline Painting from San José de Moro Donna McClelland, Donald McClelland, Christopher B. Donnan, 2007 Moche civilization flourished on the north coast of Peru from AD 200 to 800 Studies a sample of more than 250 painted vessels from the site of San Jose de Moro providing insights about a community of ancient Peruvian potters who shared a distinctive painting style and left a fascinating record of their achievement People of Ancient Daunia Camilla Norman, 2024-06-01 The statue stelae of Early Iron Age Daunia north Apulia Italy a group of stone slabs are each incised to represent the garb and accoutrements of a person They detail the clothing and adornment worn by men and women in full regalia plus through additional figurative images drawn on the robes show ritual practices everyday activities and scenes of local legend As such they offer an unparalleled window into the lives of a proto historic people providing a rich source of self representation for what is otherwise a fairly poorly understood society Grounded in the scholarship of post colonial and gender archaeology this book pays full respect to the agency of indigenous communities and the important role of women It considers the stelae not through a Hellenic lens but in the Italo Adriatic context to which they belong This is the first time an in depth holistic study of the Daunian stelae has been undertaken and the first presentation of the material in English Sacrifice, Violence, and Ideology Among the Moche Steve Bourget, 2016-05-03 In a special precinct dedicated to ritual sacrifice at Huaca de la Luna on the north coast of Peru about seventy five men were killed and dismembered their remains and body parts then carefully rearranged and left on the ground with numerous offerings The discovery of this large sacrificial site one of the most important sites of this type in the Americas raises fundamental questions Why was human sacrifice so central to Moche ideology and religion And why is sacrifice so intimately related to the notions of warfare and capture In this pioneering book

Steve Bourget marshals all the currently available information from the archaeology and visual culture of Huaca de la Luna as he seeks to understand the centrality of human sacrifice in Moche ideology and more broadly the role s of violence in the development of social complexity He begins by providing a fully documented account of the archaeological contexts demonstrating how closely interrelated these contexts are to the rest of Moche material culture including its iconography the regalia of its elite and its monumental architecture Bourget then probes the possible meanings of ritual violence and human sacrifice and their intimate connections with concepts of divinity ancestry and foreignness He builds a convincing case that the iconography of ritual violence and the practice of human sacrifice at all the principal Moche ceremonial centers were the main devices used in the establishment and development of the Moche state Rock Art at Little Lake John C.

Bretney, Gordon Hull, Jo Anne Van Tilburg, 2012-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize The product of ten years of fieldwork at Little Lake Ranch in the Rose Valley the southern gateway to the Owens Valley this book presents the results of intensive rock art analyses carried out by the interdisciplinary research team of the UCLA Rock Art Archive The research attempts to establish a connective web of associations to break down traditional but artificial barriers between rock art and the rest of archaeology Through time honored methods of stylistic analysis the focus is on recent breakthroughs in the analysis of meaning and religion in the context of landscape attributes and ecological opportunities Regional or ethnic differences suggested by the rock art record has made it possible to create a flexible analytical framework containing previously unpublished or overlooked archaeological excavation and object data This book describes the occurrence concentration distribution and formal variation of pecked and painted motifs Scratched pecked and painted patterns are analyzed separately Full color illustrations throughout enhance the physical appeal of this beautiful book Archaeology of the Chinese Bronze Age Roderick B. Campbell, 2014-12-31 Archaeology of the Chinese Bronze Age is a synthesis of recent Chinese archaeological work on the second millennium BCE the period associated with China s first dynasties and East Asia s first states With a focus on early China s great metropolitan centers in the Central Plains and their hinterlands this work attempts to contextualize them within their wider zones of interaction from the Yangtze to the edge of the Mongolian steppe and from the Yellow Sea to the Tibetan plateau and the Gansu corridor Analyzing the complexity of early Chinese culture history and the variety and development of its urban formations Roderick Campbell explores East Asia s divergent developmental paths and re examines its deep past to contribute to a more nuanced understanding of China s Early Bronze Age Art Book News Annual, volume 4: 2008 , Advances in Titicaca

Basin Archaeology-2 Abigail R. Levine, Alexei Vranich, 2013-12-31 This volume the second in a series of studies on the archaeology of the Titicaca Basin serves as an excellent springboard for broader discussions of the roles of ritual authority coercion and the intensification of resources and trade for the development of archaic states worldwide Over the last hundred years scholars have painstakingly pieced together fragments of the incredible cultural history of the Titicaca Basin an area that encompasses over 50 000 km² achieving a basic understanding of settlement patterns and chronology While large scale surveys will need to continue and areas will need to be revisited to further refine chronologies and knowledge of site formation processes the maturation of the field now allows archaeologists to fruitfully invest energy in single locations and specialized topics

The South American Camelids Duccio Bonavia, 2009-02-01 One of the most significant differences between the New World's major areas of high culture is that Mesoamerica had no beasts of burden and wool while the Andes had both Four members of the camelid family wild guanacos and vicunas and domestic llamas and alpacas were native to the Andes South American peoples relied on these animals for meat and wool and as beasts of burden to transport goods all over the Andes In this book Duccio Bonavia tackles major questions about these camelids from their domestication to their distribution at the time of the Spanish conquest One of Bonavia's hypotheses is that the arrival of the Europeans and their introduced Old World animals forced the Andean camelids away from the Pacific coast creating the mistaken impression that camelids were exclusively high altitude animals Bonavia also addresses the diseases of camelids and their population density suggesting that the original camelid populations suffered from a different type of mange than that introduced by the Europeans This new mange he believes was one of the causes behind the great morbidity of camelids in Colonial times In terms of domestication while Bonavia believes that the major centers must have been the puna zone intermediate zones he adds that the process should not be seen as restricted to a single environmental zone Bonavia's landmark study of the South American camelids is now available for the first time in English This new edition features an updated analysis and comprehensive bibliography In the Spanish edition of this book Bonavia lamented the fact that the zooarchaeological data from R S MacNeish's Ayacucho Project had yet to be published In response the Ayacucho's Project's faunal analysts Elizabeth S Wing and Kent V Flannery have added appendices on the Ayacucho results to this English edition This book will be of broad interest to archaeologists zoologists social anthropologists ethnohistorians and a wide range of students

Excavations at Cerro Azul, Peru Joyce Marcus, 2008-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize During the Late Intermediate period AD 1100-1470 the lower Canete Valley of Peru was controlled by the walled Kingdom of Huarco While inland sites produced irrigated crops the seaside community of Cerro Azul 130 km south of Lima produced fish for the rest of the kingdom Cerro Azul's noble families lived in large multipurpose compounds with tapia walls Their pottery had its strongest ties with valleys to the south such as Chinchic and Ica During the course of excavation the University of Michigan Project excavated two tapia buildings in their entirety saving every sherd from every room walled work area feature and midden This remarkable volume is the final site report on the architecture and pottery of Late Intermediate Cerro Azul
