The authors report that, although there is a growing body of research on the effects of stress on the immune system, the mechanisms by which stress affects the immune system are not well understood. They state that the immune system is a complex system that is influenced by many factors, including stress. They suggest that the immune system is a dynamic system that is constantly changing and adapting to the environment. They also suggest that the immune system is a system that is highly sensitive to changes in the environment. They conclude that the immune system is a system that is highly sensitive to changes in the environment and that it is a system that is constantly changing and adapting to the environment.
