My Quests for Hope and Meaning Rosemary Radford Ruether, 2013-10-02 This book is an autobiography tracing Rosemary Radford Ruether's intellectual development and writing career. Ruether examines the influence of her mother and family on her development and particularly her interactions with the Roman Catholic religious tradition. She delves into her exploration of interfaith relations with Judaism and Islam as well. Her educational formation at Scripps College and the importance of historical theology is also a major emphasis. Mental illness has also affected Ruether's nuclear family in the person of her son and she details the family's struggle with this issue. Finally in this intellectual autobiography Ruether explores her long concern and involvement with ecology feminism and the quest for a spirituality and practice for a livable planet.

Assaulted Personhood Craig C. Malbon, 2020-12-14 In 21st century America personhood is under daily assault sometimes with dire consequences. Scientist, ethicist and ordained minister Craig C. Malbon encourages the reader to consider such assaults on personhood endured by victims of abortion, ageism, Alzheimer's disease, drug addiction, mental and physical disabilities, gender, gender orientation, racism, sexual preference, identity politics, and our will to power over the other. In exploring personhood status Malbon poses difficult questions for us: Is personhood assigned as all or nothing or is it a sliding scale based upon criteria arbitrarily aimed at our vulnerabilities? Does the voiceless embryo and fetus have advocates who can speak to the moral question of abortion? Is the personhood of an economically insecure pregnant woman degraded to the point where lack of access to early termination of pregnancy results in coercive childbearing? Does being a member of the LGBTQI community target one for assaults on personhood to the extreme of being killed? In delving into the biology and psychology of assaults of self upon the other Malbon sees powerful linkages of everyday assaults on personhood to darker, profound original sins that are foundational to the rise of the American empire: i.e. assaults on the indigenous Native Americans and assaults derivative to the institution of slavery upon Africans, African Americans and their descendants.

Feminism and Religion in the 21st Century Gina Messina-Dysert, Rosemary Ruether, 2014-10-10 This anthology will explore the new directions of conversations occurring in relation to feminism and religion as well as the technological modes being utilized to continue dialogue, expand borders and create new frontiers in feminism. It is a cross-generational project bringing together the voices of foremothers with those of the twenty-first century generation of feminist scholars to discuss the changing direction of feminism and religion, new methods of dialogue and the benefits for society overall.

Encyclopedia of American Women and Religion June Melby Benowitz, 2017-08-18 This two-volume set examines women's contributions to religious and moral development in America, covering individual women, their faith-related organizations, and women's roles and experiences in the broader social and cultural contexts of their times. This second edition of Encyclopedia of American Women and Religion provides updated and expanded information from historians and other scholars of religion, covering new issues in religion to better describe and document women's roles within religious groups. For instance, the term evangelical feminism is one newly defined aspect of women's involvement in religious activism. Changes are constantly occurring within the many religious faiths and denominations in America, particularly as women strive to gain positions within religious hierarchies that previously were exclusive to men and rise within their denominations to become theologians, church leaders, and bishops. The entries examine the roles that American women have played in mainstream religious denominations, small religious sects, and non-traditional practices such as witchcraft, as well as in groups that question religious beliefs, including agnostics and atheists. A section containing primary documents gives readers a firsthand look at matters of concern to religious women and their organizations. Many of these documents are the writings of women who merit entries within the encyclopedia. Readers will gain an awareness of women's contributions to religious culture in America from the colonial era to the present day and better understand the many challenges that women have faced to achieve success in their religion-related endeavors.

Hopeful Realism in Urban Ministry Barry K. Morris, 2016-05-20

What pray tell does a faithful urban ministry require if not a triadic relationship of prayer, justice, and hope? Could such a theologically conjunctive relationship of prayer, justice, and hope fortify urban ministry and challenge students and practitioners to ponder and practice beyond the box? Frequently, justice is collapsed to charity, hope into wishful thinking, or temporarily arrested despair, and prayer a grasp at quick fix interventions. An urban ministry's steadfast public and prophetic witness longs for the depth and width of this triad. Via three countries, decades of endeavors, one chapter brainstorms urban ministry practices while another's literature survey signals crucial convictions. Amid many seminal theologians are summoned to ground urban ministry intimations and implications: Niebuhr on justice, Moltmann on hope, and Merton on contemplative prayer. Evident is passion that fuels compassion in the service of justice, hope that engages despair, and prayer that draws from the contemplative center of it all: thankful resources for long-haul ministry. The triad presses to illumine a concrete ministry's engagement of relentless, forced-option issues yet with significant networks resourcing. Contrast, awareness animates endurance. The summary exegetes the original, grace-based serenity prayer. Hence, hope vitally balances realism's temptation to cynicism. Realism saves hope from irrelevancy.

Women and Interreligious Dialogue Catherine Cornille, Jillian Maxey, 2013-09-26

Though women have been objects more often than subjects of interreligious dialogue, they have nevertheless contributed in significant ways to the dialogue, just as the dialogue has also contributed to their own self-understanding. This volume, the fifth in the Interreligious Dialogue Series, brings together historical, critical, and constructive approaches to the role of women in the dialogue between religions. These approaches deal with concrete examples of women's involvement in dialogue, critical reflections on the representation of women in dialogue, and the important question of what women might bring to the dialogue. Together, they open up new avenues for reflection on the nature and purpose of interreligious dialogue.

The Father and the Feminine Spencer Miles Boersma, 2024-09-12

How should Christians speak of the transcendent yet personal God when our language for persons is almost always gendered? Is male imagery such as Father Son or King the only appropriate way Are there ways to talk of God using female gendered metaphors and pronouns And how does the use of such language impact humans as gendered people Moving beyond the extremes in this debate The Father and the Feminine seeks to clarify the ways Christians speak about God whether this is by recognizing revelation and Christian tradition upholding God s ineffability using analogies metaphors and narratives referring to God as Father Son and Spirit or by seeking a liberating way of life in community Spencer Miles Boersma argues that male language for God need not be problematic if used and understood correctly but at the same time that it cannot be the exclusive way Christians speak of the Divine The grammar of Christian Scripture and tradition both authorize the use of female language which Christians ought to use in pursuing a deeper relationship with God and others as well as a more authentic view of self The State of New Testament Studies Scot McKnight,Nijay K.
