Abstract

Bihari refugees from Pakistan who were stranded in Bangladesh during the 1971 liberation war became Pakistani citizens. In 2008, after extensive discussions and debates, the court approved their integration into Bangladeshi society. This research aims to address two crucial inquiries: RQ-1: How do Bihari refugees residing in the Geneva refugee camp in Dhaka experience challenges related to their livelihoods? RQ-2: What common coping strategies do the Bihari community employ to survive in the refugee camp? Using an Interpretative Phenomenological Approach (IPA), this study delved into the lived experiences of various groups of Bihari individuals. The research included twenty semi-structured interviews, five Key Informants' Interviews (KIIs), and five months of participant observation. The data was analyzed, processed, and coded inductively using the Granheim approach and Nvivo-12 software. Different themes were employed to classify the life stories and experiences of the participants in the camp. According to the study, the Geneva camp faced significant challenges such as a severe housing crisis, inadequate sanitation, a scarcity of fuel, water, and electricity, massive unemployment, poor medical arrangements, and inadequate education facilities. Consequently, the Bihari refugee developed some adaptation strategies, such as doing odd jobs to reduce unemployment. As a means of generating additional income for the family, their child was sent to work. Additionally, early marriages for their daughters were arranged to address the housing shortage. In light of these findings, it is crucial for the government, stakeholders, policymakers, NGOs, and development practitioners to take necessary actions to alleviate the suffering and enhance the quality of life for Bihari refugees in Bangladesh.

From Crisis to Communisation Gilles Dauvé, 2019-02-01 Communisation means something quite straightforward a revolution that starts to change social relations immediately It would extend over years decades probably but from Day One it would begin to do away with wage labour profit productivity private property classes States masculine domination and more There would be no transition period in the Marxist sense no period when the associated producers continue furthering economic growth to create the industrial foundations of a new world Communisation means a creative insurrection that would bring about communism not its preconditions Thus stated it sounds simple enough The questions are what how and by whom That is what this book is about Communisation is not the be all and end all that solves everything and proves wrong all past critical theory The concept was born out of a specific period and we can fully understand it by going back to how people personally and collectively experienced the crises of the 1960s and 70s The notion is now developing in the maelstrom of a new crisis deeper than the Depression of the 1930s among other reasons because of its ecological dimension a crisis that has the scope and magnitude of a crisis of civilisation This is not a book that glorifies existing struggles as if their present accumulation were enough to result in revolution Radical theory is meaningful if it addresses the question How can proletarian resistance to exploitation and dispossession achieve more than aggravate the crisis How can it reshape the world

Proceedings of the 2023 2nd International Conference on Social Sciences and Humanities and Arts (SSHA 2023) Mohd Fauzi bin Sedon, Intakhab Alam Khan, Mehmet CÜNEYT BİRKÖK, KinSun Chan, 2023-06-29 This is an open access book With the progress of social civilization social science and its research are becoming more and more important Theoretically and practically the study of social phenomena and social problems and the development of prosperous social sciences are the eternal themes of human beings At present social science research and its results can hardly meet the needs of social development especially the unscientific evaluation of social science results which has aroused great concern from all walks of life and has produced dirt and questions on social science thus affecting the proper development of social science Max Weber once said that the most important function of social science in modern times is to keep people clear headed and to resist the delusions of prophetic legislators Humanities and arts are the process of perceiving realizing thinking manipulating and expressing objective or subjective objects through capturing and excavating feeling and analyzing integrating and applying or displaying the stage results in the form obtained through feeling seeing hearing smelling touching The social sciences and humanities and arts contain content that will directly affect our lives and the way society functions And by reacting to today s increasingly intricate problems and situations through systematic and professional discussions they will further contribute to the improvement of institutions and the development of society By thinking about issues and looking at problems and the world from different perspectives by putting the two together it may be possible to have more comprehensive appropriate and better responses for example the development of laws requires a deeper understanding of the environment in which they are implemented international trade requires a certain understanding of the customs of different countries and the development of tax and economic policies requires a certain understanding of the population consumer demand etc Our Good Crisis Jonathan K. Dodson,2020-03-17 Behind every crisis we read about in the news lurks a moral crisis a crisis of goodness To properly address these issues Pastor Jonathan Dodson thinks we must be formed as people of moral goodness In this wise and practical book Dodson takes us back to the Beatitudes examining each teaching in the context of the new morality in our society today and presenting a compelling portrait of the truly good life From Crisis to Convergence Mr.Dmitry Gershenson,Mr.Albert Jaeger,Mr.Subir Lall,2016-03-25 In 2011 following years of large scale external imbalances financed by debt Portugal s economy reached a crisis point To restore economic growth and credibility with international lenders the country embarked on a difficult path of fiscal adjustment and structural reforms By many metrics Portugal s 2011 14 macroeconomic stabilization program has been a success but going forward Portugal would benefit from policies to reduce vulnerabilities absorb labor slack and generate sustainable growth Frontline Crisis Response Jori P. Time To Rethink Risk Management: Surviving Future Global Crises Tony Bendell,2023-03-10 The purpose of this book is to change thinking about crises and risk Risk management is today both a great success an impressive achievement and a notable failure It works and it doesn t work It saves lives and property and it fails to save lives and property It helps and it hinders Like all such management approaches this has a lot to do with how it is employed and practiced but in the case of risk management there is also a much more fundamental issue The risk management framework the risk management model is wrong Many organisations today treat all risks as point events when the real risks involve systemic threats inherent in the global economy and the uncertain nature of global society The book argues that risk management has come a long way but that evidence of its more recent failure is now all around us and that it needs to now change dramatically if it is to accommodate current realities Whilst there is a clear need for us all to manage risk through a crisis there is a lack of understanding of the nature of crises that is impeding progress As well as providing a conceptual basis for changing the way risk management is undertaken the book provides a blueprint for managing at organisational level through a global crisis and to a more limited extent at government and other levels how to prepare what to do when it s happening and how and when to emerge into the post crisis world
