Prostitution And Feminism Towards A Politics Of Feeling:

Prostitution and Feminism Maggie O'Neill, 2013-06-25 Feminists have long differed in their view of prostitution. While some regard it as a classic form of exploitation and degradation, others offer a more sympathetic interpretation of women's involvement in the sex industry. In this important new book, Maggie O'Neill seeks to explore the theoretical debates on prostitution and the relevance of these to the everyday lived experiences of women working on the streets. Based upon her own ethnographic research, defined as ethno-mimesis, the author seeks to undermine and demystify stereotypical images of prostitutes. She explores the narratives offered by prostitutes themselves as well as other forms of their representation in film, art, and photography and shows how these various mediums may be used to shed light on the socio-economic processes and structures which lead women into prostitution. These personal accounts produce what O'Neill refers to as a politics of feeling, which she argues may be used to transform attitudes, policy, and practice in relation to female prostitution. By relating these individual experiences to critical feminist theory, the book deepens our understanding of the phenomenon of prostitution in contemporary society. The book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in gender studies, feminist theory, and sociology.

The Subject of Prostitution Jane Scoular, 2015-12-22 The Subject of Prostitution offers a distinctive analysis of the links between prostitution and social theory in order to advance a critical analysis of the relationship of law to sex work. Using the lens of social theory to disrupt fixed meanings, the book provides an advanced analytical framework through which to understand the complexity and contingencies of sex work in late modernity. The book analyses contemporary citizenship discourse and the law's ability to meet the competing demands of empowerment by sex workers and protection by radical feminists who view prostitution as the epitome of patriarchal sexual and economic relations. Its central focus is the role of law in both structuring and responding to the problem of prostitution. By developing a distinctive constitutive approach to law, the author offers a more advanced analytical framework from which to understand how law matters in contemporary debates and also suggests how law could matter in more imaginative justice reforms. This is particularly pertinent in a period of unprecedented legal reform both internationally and nationally as legal norms simultaneously attempt to protect, empower, and criminalise parties involved in the purchase of sexual services. The Subject of Prostitution aims to overcome the current aporia in these debates and suggest new ways to engage with the subject and law. As such, The Subject of Prostitution provides an advanced theoretical resource for policymakers, researchers, and activists involved in contemporary struggles over the meanings and place of sex work in late modernity.

Demanding Sex: Critical Reflections on the Regulation of Prostitution Marina Della Giusta, 2016-05-13 Interrogating supply and demand from an inter- and multi-disciplinary perspective this collection broadens engagement beyond the routine analysis of the locus of violence in prostitution and the validity of the prostitute's consent. A focus on the supply demand dynamic brings into play a range of other societal economic and psychological factors such as the social construction of sexuality the viability of alternative choices for prostitutes and clients and the impact of regulatory regimes on the provision of sexual services. The factors which underlie each component of the supply demand dyad are also studied and an examination is made of their dynamic interrelation. The collection emphasizes the importance of rendering policy makers alert to the evidence emerging from empirical studies conducted in different fields of enquiry in the hope of moving beyond polarity and politics at the local national and international level.

Women, Crime and Justice in Context Anita Gibbs, Fairleigh Gilmour, 2022-01-17 Women Crime and Justice in Context presents contemporary feminist approaches to key issues in criminal justice. It draws together key researchers from Australia and New Zealand to offer a context specific textbook that covers all of the major debates in the discipline in an accessible way. This book examines both the foundational texts and cutting edge contributions to the topic and acknowledges the unique challenges and debates in the local Australian and New Zealand context. Written as an entry level text it introduces undergraduate students to key theories and debates on the topics of offending victimization and the criminal justice system. It explores key topics in feminist criminology with chapters exploring sex work prison abolitionism community punishment media representations of crime and victims and the impacts of digital technology on gendered violence. Centring on an intersectional approach the book includes chapters that focus on disability queer criminology indigenous perspectives migration and service user perspectives. The book concludes by exploring future directions in feminist approaches to crime and justice. This book will be essential reading for undergraduates studying feminist criminology gender and crime queer criminology socio legal studies intersectionality sociology and criminal justice.

Prostitution, Harm and Gender Inequality Maddy Coy, 2016-04-08 Prostitution Harm and Gender Inequality brings together international research exploring the range of gendered harms to women involved in prostitution and the consequences of growth of the sex industry for global gender relations. While there is an increasing amount of research and academic output on prostitution the current focus is often on discussion and critique of policy frameworks and contemporary debates over harm are largely limited to sex trafficking and sexual exploitation of children. Less attention is paid to questions of how the sex industry perpetuates notions of objectification and male entitlement with respect to sexual access to women's bodies despite being key feminist concerns for several decades. This position has become effectively marginalized but the global growth and industrialization of the sex industry requires a return to these questions. Through exploring gendered inequality and re engaging with an understanding of prostitution as harmful with impacts on the self and body that are experienced as abusive but do not always constitute violence this book introduces a range of research and thinking while also drawing on existing literature to explore the consequences of prostitution for women in the sex industry and wider gender relations. These issues are discussed with regard to coercion and recruitment including trafficking.

notions of male entitlement in accounts of men who buy sex critical interrogations of agency and choice legal and policy frameworks and representations of prostitution in popular culture Post-War Prostitution Roos de Wildt, 2019-08-12

Amidst ongoing allegations of inappropriate behavior and trafficking during UN peacekeeping missions this volume takes a step back to analyze the post war and peacekeeping contexts in which prostitution flourishes Using ethnographic research conducted in Kosovo from 2011 to 2015 this book offers an alternate understanding of the growth of the sex industry in the wake of war It features in depth interviews with the diverse women engaged in prostitution with those facilitating it and with police prosecutors and gynecologists Drawing on the perspectives of women engaged in prostitution in the wake of war this volume argues that the depiction of these women as victims of trafficking in the hegemonic discourse does more harm than good Instead it outlines the complex set of circumstances and choices that emerge in the context of a growing post war sex economy Extrapolating the conclusions from the study of Kosovo this book is a valuable resource for researchers and practitioners studying the aftermath of war in the Balkans and beyond and researchers engaged with the function of the UN and peacekeeping missions internationally Realising Justice for Sex Workers , Sharron A. FitzGerald, Kathryn McGarry, 2018-08-16

In the past two decades feminist politics on prostitution has become more polarised and ideological On the one hand those on the radical spectrum of feminist politics have fought long and hard to criminalise sex purchase with the intention of ultimately abolishing prostitution Other feminists have lobbied the state to recognise and institutionalise sex workers human rights The collection is both a critical intervention in and a re orientation of the schism in contemporary feminist prostitution politics Contributors will use this schism as a platform from which to challenge current debates and think an alternative sex worker centred politics for social justice By placing sex workers lived experiences of prostitution at the centre of the conversation the book rejects the hegemony of neo abolitionism as the solution to the problem of sex work The book brings international trans disciplinary scholars together to address a rights based agenda for sex work law and policy and consequently for sex workers lives This collection offers an invaluable resource on the subject of how sex workers experience injustices and how we can mitigate this globally through a transformative vision of social justice Selling Sex

Emily van der Meulen, Elya M. Durisin, Victoria Love, 2013-03-15 Despite being dubbed the world's oldest profession prostitution has rarely been viewed as a legitimate form of labour Instead it is often criminalized sensationalized and polemicized across the socio political spectrum by everyone from politicians to journalists to women's groups In Selling Sex Emily van der Meulen Elya M Durisin and Victoria Love present a more nuanced balanced and realistic view of the sex industry They bring together a vast collection of voices including researchers feminists academics and advocates as well as sex workers of differing ages genders and sectors to engage in a dialogue that challenges the dominant narratives surrounding the sex industry and advances the idea that sex work is in fact work Presenting a variety of opinions and perspectives on such diverse topics as social stigma police violence labour organizing anti prostitution feminism human trafficking and harm reduction Selling Sex is an eye opening challenging and necessary book Prostitution in the Community Sarah Kingston, 2013-10-15 Prostitution often causes significant anxiety for communities These communities have been known to campaign against its presence in their neighbourhoods seeking the removal of street sex workers and their male clients Although research and literature has begun to explore prostitution from the standpoint of the community there is no comprehensive text which brings together some of the current literature in this area This book aspires to cast light on some of this work by exploring the nature extent and visibility of prostitution in residential communities and business areas considering the legal and social context in which it is situated and the community responses of those who live and work in areas of sex work This book aims to examine current literature on the impacts of prostitution in residential areas and considers how different policy approaches employed by the police and local authorities have mediated and shaped the nature of sex work in different communities It explores what communities think about prostitution and those involved as well as studies the techniques and strategies communities have utilized to take action against prostitution in their neighbourhoods This book will also demonstrate the diversity of public attitudes action and reaction to prostitution in the community This book is a useful contribution for academics and researchers in the fields of Criminology and Sociology who wish to understand current policy initiatives surrounding the issue of prostitution in local national and international community settings
