

The Reformation was a major movement in the 16th century that led to the creation of new Protestant churches. It began in 1517 when Martin Luther posted his 95 Theses on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany. Luther's ideas challenged the authority of the Pope and the Catholic Church's teachings. His ideas spread quickly, and many people began to leave the Catholic Church and join the new Protestant churches. The Reformation led to the creation of many different Protestant churches, including Lutheranism, Calvinism, and Anglicanism. It also led to the development of new religious ideas and practices, such as the emphasis on the Bible and the importance of faith.
