Migration Urbanization And Development New Directions And Issues:

Migration, Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilborrow, 1998 Internal migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is one of the greatest transformations witnessed in the 20th century Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where internal migration can be felt at first hand view migration as one of the most important factors affecting the course of development It is within this context that UNFPA convened the Symposium on Internal Migration and Urbanization in Developing Countries in January 1996 in preparation for the United Nations World Conference on Human Settlements in Istanbul in June 1996 The final results of the symposium are found in this book This volume provides a better understanding at global level of internal migration issues of concern to policy analysts The Dynamics of Migration, Health and Livelihoods Kubaje Adazu, 2017-11-28 Using INDEPTH's multi site network to provide new demographic insights into population variables this book provides a new perspective on migration health and livelihoods interaction over time The book starts with providing a conceptual and methodological framework to inform the epidemiological studies that are clustered into two themes showing the dynamics of migration with either household livelihoods or individual health outcomes The findings demonstrate the important cross national regularities in human migration The contributed chapters also exemplify the fact that the impacts of migration can be either positive or negative for sending and or receiving communities depending on the issues at hand and the type of migration under consideration Migration, Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilborrow, 1998 Environmental Change and Security Project Report, 1999 Population and Development W.T.S. Gould, 2015-05-08 The new edition of Population and Development offers an up to date perspective on one of the critical issues at the heart of the problems of development for all countries and especially those that seek to implement major economic and social change the reflexive relationships between a country's population and its development How does population size distribution age structure and skill base affect development patterns and prospects How has global development been affected by regional population change Retaining the structure of the well received first edition the book has been substantially revised and updated The opening chapters of the book establish the theoretical and historical basis for examining the basic reflexive relationship with exploration of the Malthusian perspective and its critics to examine how population change affects development and exploration of the Demographic Transition Model and its critics to examine how why and to what extent development drives population change These are followed by empirically rich chapters on each of the main components of population change mortality fertility internal and international migration age structures and skill base each elaborating key ideas with detailed and contrasting case studies from all regions of the developing world There are concluding and more integrative discussions on population policies and global population futures Bringing together Population Studies Development Studies and Geography the new edition of Population and Development is a key resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students across a range of programmes with specialist modules on population change There is a large bibliography with major new sections identifying a wide range of online resources for further study Each chapter contains a reading guide with discussion questions The text is enlivened by a number of case studies from around the world most of which are new or have been substantially revised Written by a leading international scholar in population the book successfully integrates cutting edge academic research with the focus and efforts of international development agencies
