Motherhood is often lauded as the most important job, and Americans regularly talk about valuing family. However, as it tends to be women who are primarily responsible for caregiving in the family, the work is systematically devalued economically, socially, and legally. The gendered nature of mothering also has a profound influence on women's and men's lives outside of the family, especially at work. To explore the complex intellectual and practical issues contemporary American motherhood raises for feminist scholars, this course draws on the strengths of two disciplines—rhetoric and sociology—to examine motherhood as an intellectual concern, a social institution, and a site of competing discourses. The course structure interweaves theory, discourse, practice, and change as we explore a variety of approaches to motherhood and mothering as key theoretical concerns, sources of social and economic inequality, and pivotal sites of women's resistance, social action, and change.

Lynn O'Brien Hallstein is an Associate Professor of Rhetoric in the College of General Studies at Boston University. She is the author of Bikini-Ready Moms: Celebrity Profiles, Motherhood, and the Body, White Feminists and Contemporary Maternity: Purging Matrophobia; is co-editor of Academic Motherhood in a Post-Second Wave Context: Challenges, Strategies, and Possibilities and Contemporary Maternity in an Era of Choice: Explorations into Discourses of Reproduction, which won the Organization for the Study of Communication, Language, and Gender's 2011 Outstanding Book Award for an edited volume, and she has been published in a variety of communication and gender studies journals.

Ana Villalobos, Assistant Professor of sociology at Brandeis University, is a multiple award winning teacher with courses focusing on parenting, gender, and selfhood. She is the author of Motherload: 'Making it all Better' in Insecure Times (2014, University of California) as well as various articles and book chapters on motherhood, including on mothering in fear post-9/11, on stay-at-home mothering in the U.S. cultural context of non-reciprocity, and on how mothers' own needs are sometimes the impetus for intensive mothering. Her most recent line of research explores how teenagers depict themselves in two-dimensional space through social media, digital photography, and in the college application—all variants of what she calls the "packaged self." She is exploring how the process of self-packaging affects teens' sense of self, as well as how parents two-dimensionally package their children through their own social media, digital photography, and investment in the college application.

Mother Matters Andrea O'Reilly, Association for Research on Mothering, 2004 Encyclopedia of Motherhood Andrea O'Reilly, 2010-04-06 In the last decade the topic of motherhood has emerged as a distinct and established field of scholarly inquiry A cursory review of motherhood research reveals that hundreds of scholarly articles have been published on almost every motherhood theme imaginable The Encyclopedia of Motherhood is a collection of approximately 700 articles in a three volume A to Z set exploring major topics related to motherhood from geographical historical and cultural entries to anthropological and psychological contributions In human society few institutions are as important as motherhood and this unique encyclopedia captures the interdisciplinary foundation of the subject in one convenient reference The Encyclopedia is a comprehensive resource designed to provide an understanding of the complexities of motherhood for academic and public libraries and is written by academics and institutional experts in the social and behavioural sciences Mothers, Mothering and Motherhood Across Cultural Differences - A Reader Andrea O'Reilly, 2014-05-01 Mothers Mothering and Motherhood across Cultural Differences the first ever Reader on the subject matter examines the meaning and practice of mothering motherhood from a multitude of maternal perspectives The Reader includes 22 chapters on the following maternal identities Aboriginal Adoptive At Home Birth Black Disabled East Asian Feminist Immigrant Refugee Latina Chicana Poor Low Income Migrant Non Residential Older Queer Rural Single South Asian Stepmothers Working Young Mothers and Mothers of Adult Children Each chapter provides background and context examines the challenges and possibilities of mothering motherhood for each group of mothers and considers directions for future research The first anthology to provide a comprehensive examination of mothers mothering motherhood across diverse cultural locations and subject positions the book is essential reading for maternal scholars and activists and serves as an ideal course text for a wide range of courses in Motherhood Studies Mothers at the Margins Jenny Jones, Marie Porter, Lisa Raith, 2015-06-18 In the last two decades maternal scholarship has grown exponentially Despite this however there are still numerous areas which remain under researched one of which is the experiences of marginalised mothers Far from being a sentimental feel good account of mothering this collection speaks with the voices of mothers through the application of a matricentric lens In particular it speaks with the voices of those mothers who feel alienated or stigmatised mothers who have been rendered Textual Mothers/Maternal Texts Elizabeth Podnieks, Andrea O'Reilly, 2011-04-07 Textual Mothers Maternal Texts focuses on mothers as subjects and as writers who produce auto biography fiction and poetry about maternity International contributors examine the mother without child with child and in her multiple identities as grandmother mother and daughter The collection examines how authors use textual spaces to accept negotiate resist or challenge traditional conceptions of mothering and maternal roles and how these texts offer alternative practices and visions for mothers Further it illuminates how textual representations both reflect and help to define or re shape the realities of women and families by examining how mothering and being a mother are political personal and creative narratives unfolding within both the pages of a book and the spaces of a life The range of chapters maps a shift from the daughter centric stories that have dominated the maternal tradition to the matrilineal and matrifocal perspectives that have emerged over the last few decades as the mother s voice moved from silence to speech Contributors make aesthetic cultural and political claims and critiques about mothering and motherhood illuminating in new and diverse ways how authors and the protagonists of the texts read their own maternal identities as well as the maternal scripts of their families cultures and nations in their quest for self knowledge agency and artistic expression

Twenty-first Century Motherhood Andrea O'Reilly,2010-09-23 A pioneer of modern motherhood studies Andrea O Reilly explores motherhood s current representation and practice considering developments that were unimaginable decades ago the Internet interracial surrogacy raising transchildren male mothering intensive mothering queer parenting the applications of new biotechnologies and mothering in the post 9 11 era Her work pulls together a range of disciplines and themes in motherhood studies She confronts the effects of globalization HIV AIDS welfare reform politicians as mothers third wave feminism and the evolving motherhood movement and she incorporates Chicana African American Canadian Muslim queer low income trans and lesbian perspectives The Mother Blame Game Vanessa Reimer,2015-11-01 The Mother Blame

Game is an interdisciplinary and intersectional examination of the phenomenon of mother blame in the twenty first century As the socioeconomic and cultural expectations of what constitutes good motherhood grow continually narrow and exclusionary mothers are demonized and stigmatized perhaps now more than ever for all that is perceived to go wrong in their children s lives This anthology brings together creative and scholarly contributions from feminist academics and activists alike to provide a dynamic study of the many varied ways in which mothers are blamed and shamed for their maternal practice Importantly it also considers how mothers resist these ideologies by engaging in empowered and feminist mothering practices as well as by publicly challenging patriarchal discourses of good motherhood The Social

Organization of South Asian Immigrant Women's Mothering Work Ferzana Chaze,2018-10-01 This book examines the social organization of recent immigrant South Asian women s mothering work It explicates the processes that contribute to those belonging to this social group making changes to their mothering work after immigrating to Canada despite having reservations about doing so The book draws its findings from interviews with 20 South Asian immigrant mothers who were raising school aged children in Canada and had been in the country for less than five years Government policies websites and newspaper reports also form important data sources for this study Using institutional ethnography the book shows the disjuncture between the mothering work of the South Asian immigrant woman and institutionally backed neoliberal discourses in Canada around mothering schooling and immigrant employment It highlights the manner in which the settlement experiences for South Asian immigrant women can become stressful and complicated by the changes that these women are required to make in line with these institutional discourses The study explicates how the work of immigrant mother in the settlement process changes over time as she participates in social relations that require her to raise her children as autonomous responsible citizens who can participate in a neoliberal economy characterised by precarious work. The research that informs this book has implications for the social work profession which is connected in many ways to the settlement experiences of immigrant women.

Mothering, Community, and Friendship Essah Díaz, Dannabang Kuwabong, Dorsía Smith Silva, 2022-04-04. Mothering, Community and Friendship is an anthology that explores the complexities of mothering, motherhood, communities and friendship from across interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary perspectives. The chapters in this text not only examine how communities and friendship shape and influence the various spectrums of motherhood but also analyze how communities and friendship are necessary for mothers. Through personal reflective critical essays and ethnographies, this collection situates the ways mothers are connected to communities and how these relationships form, such as in mothering groups and maternal friendships. By calling attention to these central and current topics, Mothering, Community and Friendship represents how communities and friendship become means of empowerment for mothers.

Notions of Family Marla H. Kohlman, Dana B. Krieg, Bette J. Dickerson, 2013-02-15. Presents a framework for understanding the ways in which the salient identities of gender, class, position, race, sexuality and other demographic characteristics function simultaneously to produce the outcomes we observe in the lives of individuals as integral forces in the maintenance of family.
