Q I have a 1994 Ford Taurus with 100,000 miles. The engine is a 3.0 liter V6. I have been having problems with the engine lately. It seems to be running rough and I have noticed some white smoke coming out of the tailpipe. What could be the problem?

A The most common cause of white smoke is a leak in the cooling system. This could be a head gasket leak or a leak in the radiator. You should check the coolant level and look for any leaks. If you find a leak, you should have it repaired as soon as possible. Another possibility is a problem with the fuel system. A clogged fuel filter or a bad fuel injector could cause the engine to run rough. You should have the fuel system checked and cleaned if necessary.
