Posters & Anchor Charts

Monitor COMPREHENSION

How do readers monitor comprehension?

Good readers self-monitor by knowing, or being aware of, when they do or do not understand what they are reading.

- When good readers are confused, they use "Fix-Up" strategies to help them get back on track to comprehension.

FIX-UP STRATEGIES EXAMPLES:

Go back and reread a sentence, passage, or pages.	Ask yourself questions.	Read the passage out loud.
Skip ahead. Sometimes what you read next clears up confusion you have.	Use text features.	Discuss your confusion with a classmate or teacher.

VISUALIZE

How do readers visualize?

Good readers visualize by creating mental and sensory images while reading. They imagine a picture or movie of the text in their minds.

- Readers change, or revise, their visualizations often while reading.
- Sensory details and descriptive language help readers to create vivid images.
- This allows readers to better comprehend and become emotionally invested in what they are reading.

EXAMPLE:

From Owl Moon
Pa turned on his big flashlight and caught the owl just as it was landing on a branch. For one minute, three minutes, maybe even a hundred minutes, we stared at one another.

Make CONNECTIONS

How do readers make connections?

Good readers make connections by using what they already know to connect a text to their life experiences, another text, or the world.

Text to Self:

Connecting the story to your life & experiences

Text to Text:

Connecting the story to another book

Text to World:

Connecting the story to the real world

Use CONTEXT CLUES

How do readers use context clues?

Good readers use context clues by using words and phrases around an unknown word that help them figure out the word's meaning. These clues could be right around the word, or in a sentence before/after the word.

PICTURE:

During its lifetime, a butterfly goes through metamorphosis.

EXAMPLE:

During its lifetime, a butterfly goes through metamorphosis. It changes from egg to caterpillar to butterfly.

SYNONYM:

During its lifetime, a butterfly changes in a process called metamorphosis.

DEFINITION:

During its lifetime, a butterfly goes through metamorphosis, or a complete change in how it looks.

WORD PARTS:

met- = changes, beyond
morph = shape, form, code, safe, process
