Noble Households Eighteenth Century Inventories Of Great English Ho:

Noble Households Tessa Violet Murdoch, Tessa Murdoch, 2006-04-13 Published in memory of the architectural historian John Cornforth these great house inventories document the taste and lifestyle of leading aristocratic patrons and the households that supported them The Country House Library Mark Purcell, 2019-09-03 Beginning with new evidence that cites the presence of books in Roman villas and concluding with present day vicissitudes of collecting this generously illustrated book presents a complete survey of British and Irish country house libraries Replete with engaging anecdotes about owners and librarians the book features fascinating information on acquisition bordering on obsession the process of designing library architecture and the care and neglect of collections The author also disputes the notion that these libraries were merely for show arguing that many of them were profoundly scholarly assembled with meticulous care and frequently used for intellectual pursuits For those who love books and the libraries in which they are collected and stored The Country House Library is an essential volume to own Shakespearean Objects in the Royal Collection, 1714-1939 Kirsten Tambling, 2025-09-22 The British royal collection includes nearly 2 000 objects with a connection to Shakespeare What stories do these objects tell of the relationship between the man often described as Britain's national poet and Britain's royal family Royal collecting of Shakespeare did not really begin until 1714 and has therefore broadly tracked the development and entrenchment of the Hanoverian and latterly the Saxe Coburg Gotha royal family Not entirely coincidentally this period also saw a general increase in public interest in objects associated with Shakespeare's life and biography often to the detriment of Shakespeare's works a development partially spearheaded by the Shakespeare Jubilee masterminded by the actor David Garrick at Stratford upon Avon in 1769 The histories of specific works of art in the royal collection from Thomas Gainsborough's painting of Mary Robinson to a collection of relic objects relating to Herne's Oak and Shakespeare's mulberry tree reveal how royal engagement with Shakespearean objects between 1714 and 1939 contributed to the development of a new constitutional settlement between the monarchy and its subjects under George IV Queen Victoria and George V and Queen Mary During this period objects relating to Shakespeare increasingly regarded by the royal family as nostalgic souvenirs from a fantastical national past were useful tools in shoring up these ideas and in yoking the fortunes of the British monarchy to a new vision of shared national history Selling Textiles in the Long Eighteenth Century J. Stobart, B. Blonde, 2014-09-16 Textiles are a key component of the industrial and consumer revolutions yet we lack a coherent picture of how the marketing of textiles varied across the long 18th century and between different regions This book provides important new insights into the ways in which changes in the supply of textiles related to shifting patterns of demand
