Palestinian Walks Notes On A Vanishing Landscape:

Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh, 2008-06-03 A rare historical insight into the tragic changes taking place in Palestine Jimmy Carter From one of Palestine's leading writers a lyrical elegiac account of one man's wanderings through the landscape he loves once pristine now forever changed by settlements and walls updated with a new afterword by the author I often come to walk in these hills I said to the man who was doing all the talking and seemed to be the commander In fact I was once here with my wife it was 1999 and some of your soldiers shot at us It was over on that side the soldier pointed out I was there he said smiling When Raja Shehadeh first started hill walking in Palestine in the late 1970s he was not aware that he was traveling through a vanishing landscape In recent years his hikes have become less than bucolic and sometimes downright dangerous That is because his home is Ramallah on the Palestinian West Bank and the landscape he traverses is now the site of a tense standoff between his fellow Palestinians and settlers newly arrived from Israel In this original and evocative book we accompany Raja on six walks taken between 1978 and 2006 The earlier forays are peaceful affairs allowing our guide to meditate at length on the character of his native land a terrain of olive trees on terraced hillsides luxuriant valleys carved by sacred springs carpets of wild iris and hyacinth and ancient monasteries built more than a thousand years ago Shehadeh's love for this magical place saturates his renderings of its history and topography But latterly as seemingly endless concrete is poured to build settlements and their surrounding walls he finds the old trails are now impassable and the countryside he once traversed freely has become contested ground He is harassed by Israeli border patrols watches in terror as a young hiking companion picks up an unexploded missile and even on one occasion when accompanied by his wife comes under prolonged gunfire Amid the many and varied tragedies of the Middle East the loss of a simple pleasure such as the ability to roam the countryside at will may seem a minor matter But in Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh's elegy for his lost footpaths becomes a heartbreaking metaphor for the deprivations of an entire people estranged from their land

Palestinian Walks Raja Shehadeh, 2008 Over two decades of turmoil and change in the Middle East steered via the history soaked landscape of Palestine This new edition includes a previously unpublished epigraph in the form of a walk When Raja Shehadeh first started hill walking in Palestine in the late 1970s he was not aware that he was travelling through a vanishing landscape These hills would have seemed familiar to Christ until the day concrete was poured over the flora and irreversible changes were brought about by those who claim a superior love of the land Six walks span a period of twenty six years in the hills around Ramallah in the Jerusalem wilderness and through the ravines by the Dead Sea Each walk takes place at a different stage of Palestinian history since 1982 the first in the empty pristine hills and the last amongst the settlements and the wall The reader senses the changing political atmosphere as well as the physical transformation of the landscape By recording how the land felt and looked before these calamities Raja Shehadeh attempts to preserve at least in words the Palestinian natural treasures that many Palestinians will never know Decolonial Imaginaries in Palestinian

Experimental Film and Video Kristin Lené Hole, 2024-04-24 Decolonial Imaginaries in Palestinian Experimental Film and Video focuses on an underexamined group of female Palestinian filmmakers highlighting their relevance for thinking through a diverse set of issues relating to decolonial aesthetics post nationalism and gender non Western ecologies trauma and memory diasporic experiences of space biopolitics feminist historiography and decolonial temporalities Positioning that these filmmaker artists radically counter dominant media images of Palestinians deessentializing Palestinian identity while opening up history and the present to new potentialities and ways of imagining Palestinian futures Decolonial Imaginaries in Palestinian Experimental Film and Video argues that Palestinian experience is urgently relevant to all of us As the works address issues of food availability and land use environmental collapse and forced displacement Hole explores how such films generate hope imagine impossible possibilities and offer inspiration and wisdom when it comes to losing and rebuilding Addressing a fundamentally transnational and understudied area this book will resonate with readers working in the areas of film and media studies Palestinian cultural studies historiography Middle East studies and experimental film

The Edge of the Plain James Crawford, 2023-01-10 A wide ranging journey through the history of borders and an exploration of their role in shaping our world today Since the earliest known marker denoting the edge of one land and the beginning of the next a stone column inscribed with Sumerian cuneiform borders have been imagined mapped moved and fought over In The Edge of the Plain James Crawford skillfully blends history travel writing and reportage to trace these borderlines throughout history and across the globe What happens on the ground when we impose lines on a map that contradict how humans have always lived and moved Crawford confronts that question from bloody territorial disputes in Mesopotamia to the S pmi lands of Scandinavia the shifting boundaries of the Israel Palestine conflict efforts to build a wall on the United States Mexico border and the dangerous border crossings pursued by migrants into Europe And yet the role of borders extends beyond specific sites of conflict On the largest scale borders define the limits of empire the two walls in Britain that once represented the northwestern edge of the Roman Empire the mythological eastern gate supposedly closed off by Alexander the Great China s virtual Great Firewall On the smallest human scale cell walls are the last physical barrier against disease after lines of quarantine have failed Finally as The Edge of the Plain reveals humans have not only made their mark on the landscape the landscape itself is now changing more and more rapidly due to climate change Crawford introduces us to both the Alpine watershed one such shifting natural borderline and the Great Green Wall in Africa envisioned as an international community built bulwark against desertification Borders are as old as human civilization and focal points for today s colliding forces of nationalism climate change globalization and mass migration The Edge of the Plain illuminates these lines of separation past and present how we define them and how they define us

Decolonising the Mediterranean Gabriele Proglia, 2017-03-07 Decolonising the Mediterranean means first and foremost investigating how the legacy of colonial rule over bodies and land has been used by other entities and powers to impose new forms of hegemony after the fall of empires and European powers

It means denouncing and dissecting the tools employed in the production of new geometries of power in the global Mediterranean as well as in the farthest most recondite corners of the Mediterranean World Decolonising the Mediterranean is an epistemological practice of border dismantling and scrutiny of the ways in which powers overlap and intertwine The multiplication of the border is investigated in this volume from an in between position namely a specific positionality of subjectivities in order to connect the global and local and address Mediterranean issues with a transnational approach Decolonising the Mediterranean means thinking of the Mediterranean as a space of investigation beyond its geographical boundaries Finally it requires deconstructing the power relations at play viewing the Mediterranean as an excess space of signification in order to reconsider the past and present stories and subjectivities erased by Eurocentric nationalist historical discourse In this sense the Mediterranean may then be more than a method a matter of politics or a space without borders where the future can be reinvented from the bottom up This volume is structured into six chapters each written by a different author focusing on a single North African Maghreb and Mashrek country s colonial legacy to investigate borders in a transnational perspective While the research directions and topics of investigation adopted here are different they can all be situated on the boundary line described above and each chapter suggests a specific path for decolonising knowledge

Transgressive Truths and Flattering Lies Markus Schmitz, 2020-04-02 This book explores the formative correlations and inventive transmissions of Anglophone Arab representations ranging from early 20th century Mahjar writings to contemporary transnational Palestinian resistance art Tracing multiple beginnings and seminal intertexts the comparative study of dissonant truth making presents critical readings in which the notion of cross cultural translation gets displaced and strategic unreliability representational opacity or matters of act advance to essential qualities of the discussed works aesthetic devices and ethical concerns Questioning conventional interpretive approaches Markus Schmitz shows what Anglophone Arab studies are and what they can become from a radically decentered relational point of view Among the writers and artists discussed are such diverse figures as Rabih Alameddine William Blatty Kahlil Gibran Ihab Hassan Jabra Ibrahim Jabra Emily Jacir Walid Raad Ameen Rihani Edward Said Larissa Sansour and Raja Shehadeh Edward Said Nubar Hovsepian, 2025-06-24 An exploration of the political thought of one of the twentieth century s most influential thinkers and the foremost advocate for the Palestinian cause in the West Edward Said was one of the most influential intellectuals of the twentieth century A literary scholar with an aesthete s temperament he did not experience his political awakening until the 1967 Arab Israeli war which transformed his thinking and led him to forge ties with political groups and like minded scholars Said s subsequent writings which cast light on the interplay between cultural representation and the exercise of Western political power caused a seismic shift in scholarly circles and beyond In this intimate intellectual biography by a close friend and confidant Nubar Hovsepian offers fascinating insight into the evolution of Said s political thought Through analysis of Said s seminal works and the debates surrounding them Edward Said The Politics of an

Oppositional Intellectual traces the influence of Foucault on Said and how Said eventually diverged from this influence to arrive at a more pronounced understanding of agency resistance and liberation. He consequently affiliated more closely with Raymond Williams, Antonio Gramsci, and more contemporaneously with his friends the late Eqbal Ahmad and Ibrahim Abu Lughod. Said held that it is the intellectual's responsibility to expose lies and deceptions of the holders of power. A passionate advocate for the Palestinian cause, his solidarity did not prevent him from launching a sustained critique of the Palestinian leadership. Hovsepian charts both Said's engagement with the Palestinian national movement and his exchanges with a host of intellectuals over Palestine, arguing that Said's interventions have succeeded in changing the parameters of the discourse in the humanities and among younger Jews searching for political affiliation. Drawing on his diaries in which he recorded his meetings with Said as well as access to some of Said's private letters, Hovsepian illuminates in rich detail the trajectory of Said's political thinking and the depth and breadth of his engagement with peers and critics over issues that continue to resonate to this day.

Israel-Palestine Omer Bartov, 2021-09-17 The conflict between Israel and Palestine has raised a plethora of unanswered questions, generated seemingly irreconcilable narratives, and profoundly transformed the land's physical and political geography. This volume seeks to provide a deeper understanding of the links between the region that is now known as Israel and Palestine and its peoples, both those that live there as well as those who relate to it as a mental, mythical, or religious landscape. Engaging the perspectives of a multidisciplinary international group of scholars, it is an urgent collective reflection on the bonds between people and a place, whether real or imagined, tangible as its stones or ephemeral as the hopes and longings it evokes.

Living Greatly in the Law David Dixon, Andrew Lynch, 2025-09-01 John Halden Hal Wootten, 1922-2021 lawyer, legal academic, and the founder of the UNSW Faculty of Law, made a major contribution to the law and public life in Australia. Wootten's essays on the causes he felt passionately about, including the rights of First Nations peoples, press degradation, the future of legal education, climate change, the Palestinian tragedy, are as fresh and relevant today as when they were written. Wootten's vision of what was important led to a series of interesting jumps in his career, from barrister to law school dean to Supreme Court judge, from Royal Commissioner into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody to Chairman of the Australian Press Council. At all times, he sought to live greatly in the law by his values and for those upon whom the law bears harshly. In this edited collection of essays, speeches, and unpublished work, David Dixon and Andrew Lynch present Wootten's contribution to shaping a more just society. We all continue to benefit from Hal's legacy of living greatly in the law through the generations of lawyers he has educated and inspired. This important book introduces his vision to the next generation.
