On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution Brian Bartell, 2025-10-28 Uncovering the Black Power movement's contributions to theorizing the politics of automation On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution offers a comprehensive look at the Black Power movement's theoretical work and insights into the entanglement of capitalism technology and racism Drawing upon James and Grace Lee Boggs's expanded notion of the cybercultural era Brian Bartell demonstrates how a range of artists writers and activists from the 1960s prefigured the wider discourse around automation and made it a central concern of their politics Rather than reducing automation to an isolated technical phenomenon theorists of the Black radical tradition identified its important historical antecedents in colonialism and plantation slavery emphasizing how the emerging cyberculture joined with issues such as the reorganization of labor ecological harm and racial inequality Examining the work of Martin Luther King Jr Noah Purifoy the Black Panthers and others On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution outlines the new forms of social reproduction conceived outside of the dominant structures of racial capitalism Bartell synthesizes a wide range of source texts including political speeches literature and activist archives to show how the Black Power movement sought to create a postscarcity more than capitalist economy By shedding light on the movement's underexplored engagement with theories of technology he provides a crucial key to understanding the historical dynamics responsible for our technocapitalist present Retail e book files for this title are screen reader friendly

These Survivals Lynne Huffer, 2025-04-04 A collage style work in fragments Lynne Huffer's These Survivals brings together philosophy memoir poetry and original multimedia artworks to articulate an ethics of living on a devastated planet Focusing on climate change and mass species extinction Huffer approaches ruination through assemblages rendered in sharp edged prose vibrant color images and experimental features that include black out poems weather reports and abecedarian essays She considers her struggles with everyday life and confronts the immensity of extinction across the expanse of geological time recognizing the self's insignificance in the context of the planet's 4.5 billion year existence As she moves across autobiographical political and literary registers her abiding theme is the repeated phrase the fragment remains while the whole crumbles At every turn Huffer insists on the fragmentary provisional nature of anything taken to be whole as well as the impartial conditions under which we write at times experienced as constraint and at others freedom. Reveling in interruption, obliquity and layering, Huffer opens space for thought to emerge in unexpected and innovative ways, ways that are grounded in the material practices of writing and living.

The Routledge Companion to African American Art History Eddie Chambers, 2019-11-12 This Companion authoritatively points to the main areas of enquiry within the subject of African American art history. The first section examines how African American art has been constructed over the course of a century of published scholarship. The second section studies how African American art is and has been taught and researched in academia. The third part focuses on how African American art has been reflected in art galleries and museums. The final section opens up understandings of what we mean when we speak of African American art. This book will be of interest to graduate students, researchers and professors and may be used in American art, African American art, visual culture and culture classes.

Race and Modern Architecture Irene Cheng, Charles L. Davis II, Mabel O. Wilson, 2020-05-26 Although race, a concept of human difference that establishes hierarchies of power and domination, has played a critical role in the development of modern architectural discourse and practice since the Enlightenment, its influence on the discipline remains largely underexplored. This volume offers a welcome and long-awaited intervention for the field by shining a spotlight on constructions of race and their impact on architecture and theory in Europe and North America and across various global contexts since the eighteenth century. Challenging us to write race back into architectural history, contributors confront how racial thinking has intimately shaped some of the key concepts of modern architecture and culture over time, including freedom, revolution, character, national and indigenous style, progress, hybridity, climate, representation and radicalism. By analyzing how architecture has intersected with histories of slavery, colonialism and inequality from eighteenth-century neoclassical governmental buildings to present-day housing projects for immigrants, Race and Modern Architecture challenges, complicates and revises the standard association of modern architecture with a universal project of emancipation and progress.
