Nobody's Son; Or, The Life and Adventures of Percival Mayberry Percival Mayberry (pseud.), 1851

Somebody & Nobody Mary St. Clair, 1871 Labor's Text Laura Hapke, 2001

Hapke's book remarkable in scope and inclusiveness offers those concerned with American working people a mine of information about and analysis of the rich lived history of American laborers as that has been represented in fictions of every kind. She provides an invaluable foundation for understanding the dirtiest of America's dirty big secrets: the pervasiveness of class differences, class discrimination, indeed of class conflict in this the wealthiest nation in history. Hers is an indispensable guided tour through more than a century and a half of literary representations of hands at their looms, pickets on the line, agitators on their soapboxes, ordinary working women, men, and children in kitchens, parks, factories, and fields across America.

Paul Lauter, A. K. G. M. Smith, Professor of Literature, Trinity College

Labor's Text sets over 150 years of the multi-ethnic literature of work in the context of the history that informed it: the history of labor, organizing, of industrial change, of social transformations, and of shifting political alignments. Any scholar of American literature or American history cannot help but be enlightened by this boldly ambitious and illuminating book.

Shelly Fisher Fishkin, professor of American studies, University of Texas at Austin

Labor's Text traverses nearly two centuries of the U.S. literary response in fiction to workers and the work experience. Casting her net more broadly than any of her predecessors, Hapke's revision of the genre includes many recent writings not usually recognized as part of the tradition. Coming at a moment when there is a steady increase in interest about class, from color, and gender-inflected perspectives this is a work of committed scholarship that may well prove to be a crucial compass to reorient the thinking and scholarship of a new generation Alan Wald author of Writing from the Left A stunning work of scholarship It is an extraordinary achievement and an immense contribution to working class studies Janet Zandy author of Calling Home Working Class Women's Writings Laura Hapke is a professor of English at Pace University The winner of two Choice magazine Outstanding Academic Book awards she is the author of Daughters of the Great Depression Women Work and Fiction in the American 1930s and other books on labor fiction and working class studies
