Guided Reading

Postwar America

1. How does each of the authors describe the solutions offered to deal with postwar problems?

1. Problems: Millions of returning veterans and millions of youth are finding themselves without jobs.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration and Congress	Congress passed the United States Housing Act, guaranteeing veterans a year's worth of unemployment benefits while job hunting. It offered unemployment benefits, guaranteed loans.

2. Problems: Severe housing shortage.

Solutions offered by developers such as William Levitt	Levitt used assembly-line techniques to build houses, offering homes to small residential communities called suburbs for less than $17,500.
Solutions offered by the Truman and Eisenhower administrations	The Truman and Eisenhower administrations provided financial support for urban renewal and housing, setting aside for low-income families.

3. Problems: Severe inflation.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration and Congress	Congress passed Truman Administration recommendations, setting limits on the amounts people can spend, wages, and prices.

4. Problems: Labor unions that threaten to supply the nation.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration	Truman's administration said the nation's workers could not be put on strike to supply the job. He instructed the federal government to union that threat. And President he later asked all the workers, for the very first time, to work for them.

5. Problems: Discrimination and racial violence.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration	The Truman administration passed an anti-lynching law, a fair employment practice commission, a government civil rights commission, integration of the armed forces, ordered set aside for discrimination in the federal government employees.

6. Evaluate the significance of leaders in, Eisenhower, and Paul Dean.

Leaders	The leaders were asked to build the nation's economy, which is reflected in a severe housing shortage.
