Ubiquitous Mobile Information and Collaboration Systems Luciano Baresi, Schahram Dustdar, Harald Gall, Maristella Matera, 2005-03-01 Over recent years most business processes have changed in various dimensions: e.g. exhibitory interconnectivity, coordination style, autonomy due to market conditions, organizational models and usage scenarios of information systems. Frequently information is relocated within a geographically distributed system according to rules that are only seldom defined as a well coded business process. This creates the need for a software infrastructure that enables ubiquitous mobile and collaboration systems. UMICS: The anywhere, anytime, any means paradigm is becoming the major challenge in conceiving, designing and releasing next generation information systems. New technologies like Wi networks and 3rd generation mobile phones are offering the infrastructure to conceive of information systems as ubiquitous information systems that is, systems that are accessible from anywhere at any time and with any device. Ubiquity is not yet another buzzword pushed by emerging technologies but is mainly a means to support new business models and encourage new ways of working This new wave of UMICS will exploit the knowledge developed and deployed for conventional information systems but will also need new concepts models methodologies and supporting technologies to fully exploit the potentials of the enabling infrastructure and to be ready for the challenge Moreover people need to move across organizational boundaries and collaborate with others within an organization as well as between organizations The ability to query the company's distributed knowledge base and to cooperate with co-workers is still a requirement but mobility brings new access scenarios and higher complexity

Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment (WEEE) Handbook Vannessa Goodship, Ab Stevels, Jaco Huisman, 2012-08-30
Electrical and electronic waste is a growing problem as volumes are increasing fast Rapid product innovation and replacement especially in information and communication technologies ICT combined with the migration from analog to digital technologies and to flat screen televisions and monitors has resulted in some electronic products quickly reaching the end of their life The EU directive on waste electrical and electronic equipment WEEE aims to minimise WEEE by putting organizational and financial responsibility on producers and distributors for collection treatment recycling and recovery of WEEE Therefore all stakeholders need to be well informed about their WEEE responsibilities and options While focussing on the EU this book draws lessons for policy and practice from all over the world Part one introduces the reader to legislation and initiatives to manage WEEE Part two discusses technologies for the refurbishment treatment and recycling of waste electronics Part three focuses on electronic products that present particular challenges for recyclers Part four explores sustainable design of electronics and supply chains Part five discusses national and regional WEEE management schemes and part six looks at corporate WEEE management strategies With an authoritative collection of chapters from an international team of authors Waste electrical and electronic equipment WEEE handbook is designed to be used as a reference by policy makers producers and treatment operators in both the developed and developing world Draws lessons for waste electrical and electronic equipment WEEE policy and practice from around the world Discusses legislation and initiatives to manage WEEE including global e waste initiatives EU legislation relating to electronic waste and eco efficiency evaluation of WEEE take back systems Sections cover technologies for refurbishment treatment and recycling of waste sustainable design of electronics and supply chains national and regional waste management schemes and corporate WEEE management strategies
