Not Drowning But Waving Women Feminism And The Liberal Arts:

Not Drowning But Waving Susan Brown, 2011-08-15 A welcome progress report on the variety of feminisms at work in academe and beyond

Working Women in Canada Leslie Nichols, 2019-08-23 In this edited collection Leslie Nichols weaves together the contributions of accomplished and diverse scholars to offer an expansive and critical analysis of women's work in Canada. Students will use an intersectional approach to explore issues of gender, class, race, immigrant status, disability, sexual orientation, Indigeneity, age, and ethnicity in relation to employment. Drawing from case studies and extensive research, the text's eighteen chapters consider Canadian industries across a broad spectrum including political, academic, sport, sex trade, retail, and entrepreneurial work. Working Women in Canada is a relevant and in-depth look into the past, present, and future of women's responsibilities and professions in Canada. Undergraduate and graduate students in gender studies, labour studies, and sociology courses will benefit from this thorough and intersectional approach to the study of women's labour.

Not Drowning But Waving Susan Brown, Jeanne Perreault, Jo-Ann Wallace, Heather Zwicker, 2011-08-15 Not Drowning but Waving gestures both at the difficulties faced by feminists in the humanities in Canada and at the possibilities of hope of new waves of feminism. Twenty-two essays explore topics such as feminism in the liberal arts, disciplines, the relationship of the liberal arts to the larger university, the costs and rewards for women in administration, the corporatization of university campuses, intergenerational and transcultural tensions within feminist communities, balancing personal life with professional aspirations, the relationship of feminism to cultural studies, women, social justice, and the liberal arts. Not Drowning But Waving is a welcome progress report on the variety of feminisms at work in academe and beyond. It provides crucial insights for university administrators, faculty, and literate non-specialists interested in the Arts and Humanities.

Gendered Militarism in Canada Nancy Taber, 2016-01-29 Despite Canada's claim to be a gender equitable nation, militarism continues to function in ways that protect inequality. From the Introduction, Little has been done to examine, critique, and challenge the ways ingrained societal ideas of militarism and gender influence lifelong learning patterns and practices of Canadians. Editor Nancy Taber and ten other contributors explore reasons why Canadian educators should be concerned with how learning, militarism, and gender intersect. Readers may be surprised to discover how this reaches beyond the classroom into the everyday lessons, attitudes, and habits that all Canadians are taught, often without question. Pushing the boundaries of education theory, research, and practice, this book will be of particular interest to feminist adult and teacher educators and to scholars and students of education, the military, and women's and gender studies. Foreword by Patricia Gouthro. Contributors: Mark Anthony Castrodale, Gillian L. Fournier, Andrew Haddow, Cindy L. Hanson, Laura Lane, Jamie Magnusson, Robert C. Mizzi, Shahrzad Mojab, Snezana Ratkovi, Roger Saul, Nancy Taber.

Making Feminist Media Elizabeth Groeneveld, 2016-08-30 Making Feminist Media provides new ways of thinking about the vibrant media and craft cultures generated by Riot Grrrl and feminism s third wave It focuses on a cluster of feminist publications including BUST Bitch HUES Venus Zine and Rockrgrrl that began as zines in the 1990s By tracking their successes and failures this book provides insight into the politics of feminism s recent past Making Feminist Media brings together interviews with magazine editors research from zine archives and analysis of the advertising articles editorials and letters to the editor found in third wave feminist magazines It situates these publications within the long history of feminist publishing in the United States and Canada and argues that third wave feminist magazines share important continuities and breaks with their historical forerunners These publishing lineages challenge the still dominant and hotly contested wave metaphor categorization of feminist culture The stories struggles and strategies of these magazines not only represent contemporary feminism they create and shape feminist cultures The publications provide a feminist counter public sphere in which the competing interests of editors writers readers and advertisers can interact Making Feminist Media argues that reading feminist magazines is far more than the consumption of information or entertainment it is a profoundly intimate and political activity that shapes how readers understand themselves and each other as feminist thinkers

Modern Print Activism in the United States

Rachel Schreiber, 2016-04-15 The explosion of print culture that occurred in the United States at the turn of the twentieth century activated the widespread use of print media to promote social and political activism Exploring this phenomenon the essays in Modern Print Activism in the United States focus on specific groups individuals and causes that relied on print as a vehicle for activism They also take up the variety of print forms in which calls for activism have appeared including fiction editorials letters to the editor graphic satire and non periodical media such as pamphlets and calendars As the contributors show activists have used print media in a range of ways not only in expected applications such as calls for boycotts and protests but also for less expected aims such as the creation of networks among readers and to the legitimization of their causes At a time when the golden age of print appears to be ending Modern Print Activism in the United States argues that print activism should be studied as a specifically modernist phenomenon and poses questions related to the efficacy of print as a vehicle for social and political change
