Sensible Objects Elizabeth Edwards, Chris Gosden, Ruth Phillips, 2020-05-31 Anthropologists of the senses have long argued that cultures differ in their sensory registers This groundbreaking volume applies this idea to material culture and the social practices that endow objects with meanings in both colonial and postcolonial relationships It challenges the privileged position of the sense of vision in the analysis of material culture Contributors argue that vision can only be understood in relation to the other senses In this they present another challenge to the assumed western five sense model and show how our understanding of material culture in both historical and contemporary contexts might be reconfigured if we consider the role of smell taste touch and sound as well as sight in making meanings about objects

Photography and Exploration James R. Ryan,2013-07-15 When Ferdinand Magellan set out to circumnavigate the globe in 1519 he wasn t able to bring a digital camera or a smartphone with him Yet as the eagerly awaited images from the Mars rover prove modern exploration is inconceivable without photography Since its invention in 1839 photography has been integral to exploration used by explorers sponsors and publishers alike and the early twentieth century advances in technology and photography's newfound cultural currency as a truthful witness to the world made the camera an indispensable tool In Photography and Exploration James R Ryan uses a variety of examples from polar journeys to space missions to show how exploration photographs have been created circulated and consumed as objects of both scientific research and art Examining a wide range of photographs and expeditions Ryan considers how nations have often employed images as a means to scientific advancement or territorial conquest He argues that because exploration has long been bound up with the construction of national and imperial identity expeditionary photographs have often been used to promote claims to power especially by the West These images also challenge the way audiences perceive the world and their place within it Featuring one hundred images Photography and Exploration shines new light on how photography has shaped the image of explorers expeditions and the worlds they discovered

Photography and Making Bedouin Histories in the Naqab, 1906-2013 Emilie Le Febvre, 2023-12-22 Introducing a novel anthropological study of photography in the Middle East Emilie Le Febvre takes us to the Naqab Desert where Bedouin use photographs to make and respond to their own histories She argues Bedouin presentations of the past are selective but increasingly reliant on archival documents such as photographs which spokespersons treat as evidence of their local histories amid escalating tensions in Israel These practices shape Bedouin visual historicity that is the diverse ways people produce their pasts in the present with images This book charts these processes through the afterlives of six photographs c 1906 2013 as they circulate between the Naqab's entangled visual economies a transregional landscape organised by cultural ideals of proximity and assemblages of Bedouin iconography Le Febvre illustrates how representational contentions associated with tribal civic and Palestinian Israeli politics influence how images do history work in this society She concludes Bedouin visual historicity is defined by acts of persuasion during which photographs authenticate alternating history projects Here Bedouin value photographs not because they evidence singular narratives of the past Rather the knowledges inscribed by photography are multifarious as they support diverse constructions of history and society with which members mediate a wide range of relationships in southern Israel This book bridges studies of anthropology photography Palestinian Israeli
