George William MacArthur Reynolds

Non And Other Sense Non And Other Sense:

Official Proceedings of the Democratic National Convention ,1868 A Reply to the Rev. Richard Ward and the Rev. G. A. Poole's Answers to Oxford Tracts Unmasked. [With a MS. letter from S. Butler, Bishop of Lichfield, MS. notes and printed cuttings inserted.] Miles JACKSON,1838 Necessity in International Law Jens David Ohlin,Larry

May,2016-09-09 Necessity is a notoriously dangerous and slippery concept dangerous because it contemplates virtually unrestrained killing in warfare and slippery when used in conflicting ways in different areas of international law Jens David Ohlin and Larry May untangle these confusing strands and perform a descriptive mapping of the ways that necessity operates in legal and philosophical arguments in jus ad bellum jus in bello human rights and criminal law Although the term necessity is ever present in discussions regarding the law and ethics of killing its meaning changes subtly depending on the context It is sometimes an exception at other times a constraint on government action and most frequently a broad license in war that countenances the wholesale killing of enemy soldiers in battle Is this legal status quo in war morally acceptable Ohlin and May offer a normative and philosophical critique of international law s prevailing notion of jus in bello necessity and suggest ways that killing in warfare could be made more humane not just against civilians but soldiers as well Along the way the authors apply their analysis to modern asymmetric conflicts with non state actors and the military techniques most likely to be used against them Presenting a rich tapestry of arguments from both contemporary and historical Just War theory Necessity in International Law is the first full length study of necessity as a legal and philosophical concept in international affairs The Law Times ,1853 "The" Athenaeum ,1829 Fellow Creatures Christine M.

Korsgaard,2018-06-18 Christine M Korsgaard presents a compelling new view of humans moral relationships to the other animals She defends the claim that we are obligated to treat all sentient beings as what Kant called ends in themselves Drawing on a theory of the good derived from Aristotle she offers an explanation of why animals are the sorts of beings for whom things can be good or bad She then turns to Kant s argument for the value of humanity to show that rationality commits us to claiming the standing of ends in ourselves in two senses Kant argued that as autonomous beings we claim to be ends in ourselves when we claim the standing to make laws for ourselves and each other Korsgaard argues that as beings who have a good we also claim to be ends in ourselves when we take the things that are good for us to be good absolutely and so worthy of pursuit The first claim commits us to joining with other autonomous beings in relations of moral reciprocity The second claim commits us to treating the good of every sentient creature as something of absolute importance Korsgaard argues that human beings are not more important than the other animals that our moral nature does not make us superior to the other animals and that our unique capacities do not make us better off than the other animals She criticizes the marginal cases argument and advances a new view of moral standing as attaching to the atemporal subjects of lives She criticizes Kant s own view that our duties to animals are indirect and offers a non utilitarian account of the relation between pleasure and the good She also addresses a number of directly practical questions whether we have the right to eat animals experiment on them make them work for us and fight in our wars and keep them as pets and how to understand the wrong that we do when we cause a species to go extinct The British Magazine and Monthly Register of Religious and Ecclesiastical Information, Parochial History, and Documents Respecting the State of the Poor, Progress of Education, Etc ,1842 The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States; with an Appendix, Containing Important State Papers and Public Documents, and All the Laws of a Public Nature; with a Copious Index... [First To] Eighteenth Congress.--first Session: Compring the Period from March 3, 1789 to May 27, 1824, Inclusive. Comp. from Authentic Materials United States. Congress,1834 Ellen Percy; or, The memoirs of an actress George William MacArthur Reynolds,1880 Six Group Therapies S. Long,2013-06-29
