Prosperity For All Consumer Activism In An Era Of Globalization:

Prosperity for All Matthew Hilton, 2009 In Prosperity for All the first international history of consumer activism Matthew Hilton shows that modern consumer advocacy reached the peak of its influence in the decades after World War II and focused on creating a more equitable marketplace The Oxford Handbook of Consumption Frederick F. Wherry, Ian Woodward (Sociologist), 2019 The Oxford Handbook of Consumption examines the most pressing questions addressed by consumption studies scholars today The volume counteracts the tendency towards disciplinary myopia as it engages scholars from around the world drawing on sociology anthropology psychology history and consumption studies The volume's thirty one chapters are organized around six themes facilitating cross disciplinary exploration Motivating Change:

Sustainable Design and Behaviour in the Built Environment Robert Crocker, Steffen Lehmann, 2013-07-24 Today's most pressing challenges require behaviour change at many levels from the city to the individual This book focuses on the collective influences that can be seen to shape change Exploring the underlying dimensions of behaviour change in terms of consumption media social innovation and urban systems the essays in this book are from many disciplines including architecture urban design industrial design and engineering sociology psychology cultural studies waste management and public policy Aimed especially at designers and architects Motivating Change explores the diversity of current approaches to change and the multiple ways in which behaviour can be understood as an enactment of values and beliefs standards and habitual practices in daily life and more broadly in the urban environment Urban Activism in Western Europe from the 1950s to the 1980s Tim Verlaan, Christian Wicke, 2024-07-23 Bringing together contributions from social political and urban historians this collection examines social movements in Western European cities from the 1950s to the 1980s Since their post war recovery and reconstruction cities in this part of the world underwent far reaching societal transitions such as deindustrialisation and the rise of the service economy the expansion and decline of local welfare regimes suburbanisation and urban redevelopment and the democratisation of urban politics Indeed the sources for urban activism have been manifold and the rehistoricization of this era through an urban lens is therefore valuable The authors of this volume seek to provide a comprehensive and multifaceted understanding of how structural socio economic political and cultural changes ideological shifts and urban spaces were intertwined in various place dependent ways By doing so they offer fresh comparative and conceptual perspectives on urban activism The book focuses on the long 1970s a structural break in time across the industrial West which corresponded with the emergence of new social movements and an urban crisis that left a wasteland of abandoned factories dilapidated workers housing and stalling redevelopment schemes in its wake Addressing how the post industrial revolution socially ideologically and physically manifested itself in the urban environment this book provides useful insights for colleagues in the fields of urban history social history political history and social movement studies Making the patient-consumer Alex Mold, 2015-07-01 Over the last fifty years British patients have been transformed into consumers This book considers how and why the figure of the patient consumer was brought into being paying particular attention to the role played by patient organisations Making the patient consumer explores the development of patient consumerism from the 1960s to 2010 in relation to seven key areas Patient autonomy representation complaint rights information voice and choice were all central to the making of the patient consumer These concepts were used initially by patient organisations but by the 1990s the government had taken over as the main actor shaping ideas about patient consumerism This volume is the first empirical historical account of a fundamental shift in modern British health policy and practice The book will be of use to historians public policy analysts and all those attempting to better understand the nature of contemporary healthcare

Globalizing Responsibility Clive Barnett,Paul Cloke,Nick Clarke,Alice Malpass,2010-12-09 Globalizing Responsibility The Political Rationalities of Ethical Consumption presents an innovative reinterpretation of the forces that have shaped the remarkable growth of ethical consumption Develops a theoretically informed new approach to shape our understanding of the pragmatic nature of ethical action in consumption processes Provides empirical research on everyday consumers social networks and campaigns Fills a gap in research on the topic with its distinctive focus on fair trade consumption Locates ethical consumption within a range of social theoretical debates on neoliberalism governmentality and globalisation Challenges the moralism of much of the analysis of ethical consumption which sees it as a retreat from proper citizenly politics and an expression of individualised consumerism

The Sovereign Consumer Niklas Olsen,2018-08-25 This book presents a new intellectual history of neoliberalism through the exploration of the sovereign consumer Invented by neoliberal thinkers in the interwar period this figure has been crucial to the construction and legitimation of neoliberal ideology and politics Analysis of the sovereign consumer across time and space demonstrates how neoliberals have linked the figure both to the idea of democracy as a method of choice and also to a re invention of the market as the democratic forum par excellence Moreover Olsen contemplates how the sovereign consumer has served to marketize politics and functioned as a major driver in a wide ranging transformation in political thinking subjecting traditional political values to the narrow pursuit of economic growth A politically timely project The Sovereign Consumer will have a wide appeal in academic circles especially for those interested in consumer and welfare studies and in political economic and cultural thought in the twentieth century

Consuming Behaviours Erika Rappaport, Sandra Trudgen Dawson, Mark J. Crowley, 2020-05-26 In twentieth century Britain consumerism increasingly defined and redefined individual and social identities New types of consumers emerged the idealized working class consumer the African consumer and the teenager challenged the prominent position of the middle and upper class female shopper Linking politics and pleasure Consuming Behaviours explores how individual consumers and groups reacted to changes in marketing government control popular leisure and the availability of consumer goods From football to male fashion tea to savings banks leading scholars consider a wide range of products ideas and services and how these were marketed to the British public through periods of imperial decline economic instability war austerity and prosperity The development of mass consumer society in Britain is examined in relation to the growing cultural hegemony and economic power of the United States offering comparisons between British consumption patterns and those of other nations Bridging the divide between historical and cultural studies approaches Consuming Behaviours discusses what makes British consumer culture distinctive while acknowledging how these consumer identities are inextricably a product of both Britain s domestic history and its relationship with its Empire with Europe and with the United States
