Philosophy Psychology Time Studies Brain:

Folk Psychology and the Philosophy of Mind Scott M. Christensen, Dale R. Turner, 2013-04-15 Within the past ten years the discussion of the nature of folk psychology and its role in explaining behavior and thought has become central to the philosophy of mind. However, no comprehensive account of the contemporary debate or collection of the works that make up this debate has yet been available. Intending to fill this gap, this volume begins with the crucial background for the contemporary debate and proceeds with a broad range of responses to and developments of these works from those who argue that folk theory is a misnomer to those who regard folk theory as legitimately explanatory and necessary for any adequate account of human behavior. Intended for courses in the philosophy of mind, psychology and science as well as anthropology and social psychology, this anthology is also of great value in courses focusing on folk models, eliminative materialism, explanation, psychological theory, and in particular, intentional psychology. It is accessible to both graduate students and upper division undergraduate students of philosophy and psychology as well as researchers. As an aid to students, a thorough discussion of the field and the articles in the anthology is provided in the introduction, as an aid to researchers, a complete bibliography is also provided.

The Blackwell Companion to Consciousness Susan Schneider, Max Velmans, 2017-03-16 Updated and revised, the highly anticipated second edition of The Blackwell Companion to Consciousness offers a collection of readings that together represent the most thorough and comprehensive survey of the nature of consciousness available today. Features updates to scientific chapters reflecting the latest research in the field. Includes 18 new theoretical, empirical, and methodological chapters covering integrated information theory, renewed interest in panpsychism, and more. Covers a wide array of topics that include the origins and extent of consciousness, various consciousness experiences such as meditation and drug-induced states, and the neuroscience of consciousness. Presents 54 peer-reviewed chapters written by leading experts in the study of consciousness from across a variety of academic disciplines.

Extending the Extended Mind Pii Telakivi, 2023-07-25 This book argues that conscious experience is sometimes extended outside the brain and body into certain kinds of environmental interaction and tool use. It shows that if one accepts that cognitive states can extend, one must also accept that consciousness can extend. The proponents of Extended Mind defend the former claim but usually oppose the latter claim. The most important undertaking of this book is to show that this partition is not possible on pain of inconsistency. Pii Telakivi presents three arguments for the hypothesis of Extended Conscious Mind, examines and answers the most common counterarguments, and introduces a novel means to interpret and apply the concept of constitution. She also addresses the tensions between analytic philosophy of mind and enactivism and builds a bridge between two different traditions: on the one hand, extended mind, and on the other, enactivism and embodied mind. She maintains that a unifying approach is necessary for a theory about extended consciousness.

Philosophy and Psychology of Time Bruno Mölder, Valtteri Arstila, Peter Øhrstrøm, 2015-11-02 This book is an edited collection of papers from international experts in philosophy and psychology concerned with time The collection aims to bridge the gap between these disciplines by focussing on five key themes and providing philosophical and psychological perspectives on each theme The first theme is the concept of time The discussion ranges from the folk concept of time to the notion of time in logic philosophy and psychology The second theme concerns the notion of present in the philosophy of mind metaphysics and psychology The third theme relates to continuity and flow of time in mind One of the key questions in this section is how the apparent temporal continuity of conscious experience relates to the possibly discrete character of underlying neural processes The fourth theme is the timing of experiences with a focus on the perception of simultaneity and illusions of temporal order Such effects are treated as test cases for hypotheses about the relationship between the subjective temporal order of experience and the objective order of neural events The fifth and the final theme of the volume is time and intersubjectivity This section examines the role of time in interpersonal coordination and in the development of social skills The collection will appeal to both psychologists and philosophers but also to researchers from other disciplines who seek an accessible overview of the research on time in psychology and philosophy

How Biology Shapes Philosophy David Livingstone Smith, 2017 A collection of original essays by major thinkers addressing how the biological sciences inform and inspire philosophical research

Consciousness and the Ontology of Properties Mihretu P. Guta, 2018-07-20 This book aims to show the centrality of a proper ontology of properties in thinking about consciousness Philosophers have long grappled with what is now known as the hard problem of consciousness i.e. how can subjective or qualitative features of our experience such as how a strawberry tastes arise from brain states More recently philosophers have incorporated what seems like promising empirical research from neuroscience and cognitive psychology in an attempt to bridge the gap between measurable mental states on the one hand and phenomenal qualities on the other In Consciousness and the Ontology of Properties many of the leading philosophers working on this issue as well as a few emerging scholars have written 14 new essays on this problem The essays address topics as diverse as substance dualism mental causation the metaphysics of artificial intelligence the logic of conceivability constitution extended minds the emergence of consciousness and neuroscience and the unity and neural correlates of consciousness but are nonetheless unified in a collective objective the need for a proper ontology of properties to understand the hard problem of consciousness both on non empirical and empirical grounds

Physics of the Human Temporality Ihor Lubashevsky, Natalie Plavinska, 2021-10-21 This book presents a novel account of the human temporal dimension called the human temporality and develops a special mathematical formalism for describing such an object as the human mind One of the characteristic features of the human mind is its temporal extent For objects of physical reality only the present exists which may be conceived as a point like moment in time In the human temporality the past retained in the memory the imaginary future and the present coexist and are closely intertwined and impact one another This book focuses on one of the fragments of the human temporality called the complex present A detailed analysis of the classical and modern concepts has enabled the authors to put forward the idea of the multi component structure of the present For the concept of the complex present the authors proposed a novel account that involves a qualitative description and a special mathematical formalism This formalism takes into account human goal oriented behavior and uncertainty in human perception The present book can be interesting for theoreticians physicists dealing with modeling systems where the human factor plays a crucial role philosophers who are interested in applying philosophical concepts to constructing mathematical models and psychologists whose research is related to modeling mental processes

Physical Time Within Human Time Anne Giersch, Leonardo P.G. De Assis, 2023-11-13 There is a gap between the concept of time in physics and that in neuroscience Human time is dynamic and involves a dynamic flow whereas physical time is said to be frozen as in Einstein's Block Universe The result has been a fierce debate as to which time is real Our recently accepted paper by Frontiers provides a compromise dualistic view The claim is that within the cranium there already exists an overlooked complete and independent physical system of time that is compatible with the essence of modern spacetime cosmology However the brain through a process of evolution developed a complementary illusory system that provides a supplementary more satisfying experience of temporal experiences that leads to better adaptive behavior The Dualistic Mind View provides evidence that both systems of time exist and are not competitive Neither need be denigrated

Process Approaches to Consciousness in Psychology, Neuroscience, and Philosophy of Mind Michel Weber, Anderson Weekes, 2009-11-18 This collection opens a dialogue between process philosophy and contemporary consciousness studies Approaching consciousness from diverse disciplinary perspectives philosophy psychology neuroscience neuropathology psychotherapy biology animal ethology and physics the contributors offer empirical and philosophical support for a model of consciousness inspired by the process philosophy of Alfred North Whitehead 1861-1947 Whitehead's model is developed in ways he could not have anticipated to show how it can advance current debates beyond well known sticking points This has trenchant consequences for epistemology and suggests fresh and promising new perspectives on such topics as the mind body problem the neurobiology of consciousness animal consciousness the evolution of consciousness panpsychism the unity of consciousness epiphenomenalism free will and causation
