Participatory Activist Research in the Globalised World Lisahunter, Elke Emerald, Gregory Martin, 2012-12-05 Action research was conceived as a method of collaborative, self-reflective problem solving in a community context. Yet many believe it has evolved too far away from its original, directly activist roots. As a direct response to calls for a rejuvenation of the social agenda of action research, this volume provides an all-inclusive road map to generating and implementing politically active, grass roots research activities. It is a priceless practical guide for the newly minted researcher wanting to make a tangible difference in their profession and in the world. Where some action research models have been criticized for losing focus on the participatory and social justice roots of this type of research, this book puts social justice activism squarely center stage, guiding the researcher through the theoretical, methodological, and practical considerations and constraints of developing, implementing, and sustaining research in the cultural professions. Locating and contextualizing the history and theory of action research, critical theory, and other related methodologies and concepts, this volume takes the reader on a journey that begins with the formation of a question, puzzle, or research idea, right through to the publication of a report on your finished project. Including discrete sections on every stage in the process, from generating a social justice activism agenda through forming a team and empowering participants to ensuring the implementation of your agenda and publishing and disseminating your work, engaging their readers with a fresh acronym, PATR (Participatory Activist Research), the authors give fresh impetus to those looking for a systematic way to understand and shape practice in their daily work, their profession, and their world. This is an outstanding book that represents a critical research process sorely needed in the academy today. Any researcher interested in making an intervention into the egregious social conditions wrought by neoliberal capitalism would do well to read this book. An important contribution to the literature on research methodology. Peter McLaren, Professor, School of Critical Studies in Education, University of Auckland.
