Reporting Cuban Revolution Manipulated Journalists:

Reporting the Cuban Revolution Leonard Ray Teel, 2015 The Subject of Revolution Jennifer L. Lambe, 2024-08-27

From television to travel bans geopolitics to popular dance The Subject of Revolution explores how knowledge about the 1959 Cuban Revolution was produced and how the Revolution in turn shaped new worldviews Drawing on sources from over twenty archives as well as film music theater and material culture this book traces the consolidation of the Revolution over two decades in the interface between political and popular culture The subject of Revolution it proposes should be understood as the evolving synthesis of the imaginaries constructed by its many subjects including revolutionary leaders activists academics and ordinary people within and beyond the island's borders The book reopens some of the questions that have long animated debates about Cuba from the relationship between populace and leadership to the archive and its limits while foregrounding the construction of popular understandings It argues that the politicization of everyday life was an inescapable effect of the revolutionary process as well as the catalyst for new ways of knowing and being The

our current reactionary times ANDREW HARTMAN The gripping untold story of how six epic journeys launched the three communist revolutions that changed world history forever From the streets of Petrograd during the heady autumn of 1917 to Mao's stunning victory in October 1949 and Fidel's triumphant arrival in Havana in January 1959 the history of the twentieth century was transformed in dramatic and profound ways by the Russian Chinese and Cuban revolutions In Three Revolutions the stories of these epoch defining events are told together for the first time At the heart of each revolution was an epic journey Lenin's 1917 return to Russia from exile in Switzerland Mao's Long March of 1934-35 covering some 6 000 miles across China and Fidel Castro's return to Cuba in 1956 following his exile in Mexico Told in tandem with these are the corresponding journeys of three extraordinary journalists John Reed Edgar Snow and Herbert L Matthews whose electric testimony from the frontlines of each revolution would make a decisive contribution to how these revolutions were understood in the wider world Here in Simon Hall s masterful retelling these six remarkable journeys are brought vividly to life Featuring a stellar cast extraordinary drama and an epic sweep Three Revolutions raises fundamental questions about the nature of political power the limits of idealism and the role of the journalist questions that remain of utmost urgency today

Last Seasons in Havana César Brioso,2019-03-01 2020 SABR Baseball Research Award Last Seasons in Havana explores the intersection between Cuba and America s pastime from the late 1950s to the early 1960s when Fidel Castro overthrew Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista C sar Brioso takes the reader through the triumph of the revolution in 1959 and its impact on professional baseball in the seasons immediately following Castro s rise to power Baseball in pre Castro Cuba was enjoying a golden age The Cuban League which had been founded in 1878 just two years after the formation of the National League was thriving under the auspices of organized baseball Throughout the first half of the twentieth century players from the Major Leagues Minor Leagues and Negro Leagues had come to Cuba to play in the country's wholly integrated winter baseball league Cuban teams had come to dominate the annual Caribbean Series tournament and Havana had joined the highest levels of Minor League Baseball fielding the Havana Sugar Kings of the Class AAA International League Confidence was high that Havana might one day have a Major League team of its own But professional baseball became one of the many victims of Castro's Communist revolution American players stopped participating in the Cuban League and Cuban teams moved to an amateur state sponsored model Focusing on the final three seasons of the Cuban League 1958-61 and the final two seasons of the Havana Sugar Kings 1959-60 Last Seasons in Havana explores how Castro's rise to power forever altered Cuba and the course of a sport that had become ingrained in the island's culture over the course of almost a century

A Nervous Man Shouldn't Be Here in the First Place Amy Paige Condon, 2020-10-20 This is not a simple life my friend and there are no simple answers The late editor of the late Miami News Bill Baggs stamped these words on plain white postcards and sent them to readers who sent him hate mail a frequent occurrence as Baggs a white editor of a prominent southern newspaper championed unpopular ideas in his front page columns such as protecting the environment desegregating public schools and peace in Vietnam Under his leadership the Miami News earned three Pulitzer Prizes For his stances Baggs earned a bullet hole through his office window police officers stationed outside his home and a used Mercedes outfitted with a remote starter so that if it had been rigged with a bomb it would blow up before he opened the door Despite his causes and accomplishments when Baggs died of pneumonia in 1969 at the age of forty five his story nearly died with him and that would have been a travesty because Baggs still has so much to teach us about how to find the answers to those not so simple questions like how to live in peace with one another In this first biography of this influential editor Amy Paige Condon retraces how an orphaned boy from rural Colquitt Georgia bore witness and impacted some of the twentieth century's most earth shifting events World War II the civil rights movement the Cuban Missile Crisis and the Vietnam War With keen intellect and sparkling wit Baggs seemed to be in the right place at the right time From bombardier to reporter then accidental diplomat Baggs used his daily column as a bully pulpit for social justice and wielded his pen like a scalpel to reveal the truth

Get the Damn Story Thomas W. Lippman, 2023 In the decades between the Great Depression and the advent of cable television when daily newspapers set the conversational agenda for the people of the United States the best reporter in the business was a rumpled hard drinking figure named Homer Bigart His reporting left marks on history In 26 years at the New York Herald Tribune and 17 more at the New York Times Bigart chronicled and brought to life the events that defined the era wars in Europe the Pacific Korea and Vietnam the civil rights movement the creation of Israel the end of colonialism in Africa and the Cuban revolution He was one of the first reporters to visit and describe Hiroshima after the atomic bomb He was the first correspondent to penetrate the Haganah the militant Zionist underground in Palestine He recounted the trial of Adolf Eichmann the Army McCarthy hearings and the court martial of William Calley A model of versatility he also wrote with verve and compassion about strip mining in Kentucky squalor on the Bowery and the murder of a shopkeeper in Harlem Despite two Pulitzers and a host of other prizes Bigart never sought fame when he retired from the New York Times in 1972 he quickly faded from public view and few today know the extent to which he was esteemed by his peers and those who came after including Neil Sheehan and David Halberstam This is the first comprehensive biography to encompass all of Bigart s reporting not just his war reporting American Journalism and International Relations Giovanna Dell'Orto,2013-03-29 American Journalism and International Relations argues that the American press disengagement from world affairs has critical repercussions for American foreign policy Giovanna Dell Orto shows that discourses created circulated and maintained through the media mold opinions about the world and shape foreign policy parameters This book is a history of U S foreign correspondence from the 1840s to the present relying on more than 2 000 news articles and twenty major world events from the 1848 European revolutions to the Mumbai terror attacks in 2008 Americans perceptions of other nations combined with pervasive and enduring understandings of the United States role in global politics act as constraints on policies Dell Orto finds that reductive media discourse as seen during the 1967 War in the Middle East or Afghanistan in the 1980s has a negative effect on policy whereas correspondence grounded in events such as during the Japanese attack on Shanghai in the 1930s or the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 fosters effective leadership and realistic assessments
