Residential Design For Aging In Place:

Residential Design for Aging In Place Drue Lawlor, Michael A. Thomas, 2008-08-18 Consult Residential Design for Aging In Place the key reference for designing homes for aging people if you seek to understand how to create effective spaces for the elderly Interior designers architects and homebuilders are increasingly asked by clients to design homes to allow for adaptation over time and this is the definitive guide endorsed by the American Society of Interior Designers ASID Find case study examples of good design solutions for designing for aging in place from two authors who are highly respected fellows of the ASID Health and Well-being for Interior Architecture Dak Kopec, 2017-06-26 Cover Title Copyright Dedication Contents List of Contributors Foreword 1 Traditional and Alternative Approaches to Health and Well being 2 Co producing Our Habitat for Health and Well being 3 Human Factors and Ergonomics through the Lifespan 4 Designing to Confront the Adverse Health Impacts of Workplace Sitting 5 Communicable Diseases and our Environments 6 Environmental Contaminants 7 Green Design and Health 8 Health and Wellness in Today s Technological Society 9 Salutogenic Design for Birth 10 Healthy Schools Healthy Lifestyles Literature Review 11 Universal Design Design for Aging in Place and Habilitative Design in Residential Environments 12 Empathic Design Matters 13 The Role of Place in Well being 14 Designing for Spirituality 15 Safety Security and Well being within the Dimensions of Health Care 16 The Intersection of Law Human Health and Buildings Afterword Index Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population Victor Regnier, 2018-09-12 Longer lifespans and the needs of the oldest old are challenging the senior living industry to find bold and compassionate solutions to combine programs and services with housing Victor Regnier s latest research provides a thoughtful and insightful roadmap that arrays new ways of thinking from small scale settings to community based options International case studies offer possible solutions with the best thinking from around the globe all with Vic s unique perspective of extracting themes and concepts that are broadly applicable and essential to addressing the needs of those that live on life s fragile edge David Hoglund FAIA Supporting the independence of the oldest old is a tough problem Victor Regnier addresses in his latest book on aging and housing Like previous work Victor relies on the best practices of northern Europeans to outline a three prong approach First providing extremely comprehensive home care services in an apartment for life setting Second reforming the conventional nursing home by exploring small group style accommodations Third combining new technology with community based services to age in place Case studies document the experiences of others in making these programs work here and abroad The magnitude of the 90 and 100 population increases in the next 50 years make it clear how important it is to address this concern today Edward Steinfeld Darch The movement of health care from the institution to the home is a theme that Regnier identifies as one of the most important lessons in rethinking the issue of how to support the ever growing and increasingly aged older population here and abroad He examines simple but profound approaches we can take in making long term care a more humane proposition Familiar themes like humanizing technology and optimizing the impact of the natural environment are brought together with clear policy thinking about what we need to do. The timing is good because the impact of this growing segment of society will have major repercussions on health care for the next 50-70 years.

Stephan Verderber Ph.D. A comprehensive guide to designing housing for the world's aging population. The dilemma of helping older people maintain their independence through better housing with services is growing. This book presents innovative solutions for those who create and provide housing for the world's increasingly longer living population. By focusing on three specific housing and service arrangements, it offers alternatives that provide greater freedom of choice than the current living arrangements that exist today. It presents selected examples of housing and service solutions from the US, Sweden, Denmark, and the Netherlands to stimulate thinking about the possibilities of community-based service models.

Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population looks at a trio of options for housing the oldest old: the Dutch Apartment Condo for Life Model, AFL decentralized Small Green Houses, and the provision of enhanced personal and health care for people who want to stay in their own home. It offers unique and eye-opening chapters covering what older people want, what age changes affect independence, demographics and living arrangements, how long-term care is defined, concepts and objectives for housing the frail, care giving and management practices that avoid an institutional lifestyle, innovative case studies, programs that encourage staying at home with service assistance, therapeutic use of outdoor spaces, how technology will help people stay independent and more. Based on the author's numerous conversations with other experts as well as his examinations of high-quality settings from Northern Europe and the US, Building case study examples showcase innovative and compassionate solutions. In-depth coverage of three major systems that work. Examines successful programs such as PACE, Friendly Cities, NORC, and the Village to Village Network to demonstrate the progress made in helping older frail people stay in their own homes for as long as possible.

Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population: Redefining Assisted Living for the Mentally and Physically Frail is an important book for those who create design and manage assisted living and skilled nursing facilities as well as for those who set policies regarding health and personal care for our world's aging society.

Land Use Law and Disability Robin Paul Malloy, 2015. This book argues that communities need better planning to be safely navigated by people with mobility impairment and to facilitate intergenerational aging in place.

Designing Sustainable Residential and Commercial Interiors Lisa M. Tucker, 2014-09-11. Designing Sustainable Commercial Interiors: Applying Concepts and Practices is a core text that teaches students and designers how to apply sustainable principles to all stages of the design process for residential and commercial interiors. An overview of the types of design projects emphasizes a three-pronged approach to sustainability: equity, economy, and ecology. Through case studies for a range of project types including retail, healthcare, hospitality, corporate, adaptive reuse, civic, and institutional, and residential, readers will learn how to use a sustainable concept as the foundation for well-designed projects.
