

Study Guide: Answer Key

Chapter 7: DNA Structure and Replication

Biologically Unique: How DNA helped free an innocent man

Driving Question 1:

What is the function of DNA, and how is DNA organized in cells?

Why should you care?

DNA is the hereditary molecule—passed from parents to offspring—that serves as the instruction manual for “building” each individual. DNA is found in the nucleus of almost every cell in our body. Forensic scientists can, therefore, collect DNA evidence from many different types of crime scene evidence, such as semen, saliva, skin cells, blood, and hair. This DNA can then be used to positively identify a perpetrator or exonerate accused suspects of a crime.

Roy Brown was convicted by junk science; the only “evidence” linking him to the crime was his teeth, and bite mark analysis is notoriously unreliable. Other types of physical evidence, such as hair samples examined under a microscope, are also problematic because they are not distinct enough to positively identify the individual from which they come. DNA is valuable in forensics because it is unique to each individual. DNA’s structure is the key to its uniqueness in each individual.

What should you know?

To fully answer this Driving Question, you should be able to:

1. Describe the origin and function of DNA.
2. Describe the location of DNA in eukaryotic cells.
3. Describe the structure of chromosomes.
4. Describe the number and origin of the chromosomes in human cells.

Infographic Focus:

The infographics most pertinent to the Driving Question are 7.1 and 7.2.

Test Your Vocabulary:

Match these terms to their definitions:

[DEOXYRIBONUCLEIC ACID (DNA)] The molecule of heredity, common to all life forms, that is passed from parents to offspring.

[CHROMOSOME] A single, large DNA molecule wrapped around proteins.

Chromosomes are located in the nuclei of most eukaryotic cells.

[NUCLEOTIDES] The building blocks of DNA. Each nucleotide consists of a sugar, a phosphate, and a base. The sequence of nucleotides (As, Cs, Gs, Ts) along a DNA strand is unique to each person.

1. Describe the origin and function of DNA.

The field of cognitive psychology has expanded rapidly in recent years with experts in affective and cognitive neuroscience revealing more about mammalian brain function than ever before In contrast psychological problems such as ADHD autism anxiety and depression are on the rise as are medical conditions such as diabetes obesity and autoimmune disorders Why in this era of unprecedented scientific self knowledge does there seem to be so much uncertainty about what human beings need for optimal development Evolution Early Experience and Human Development asserts that human development is being misshaped by government policies social practices and public beliefs that fail to consider basic human needs In this pioneering volume scientists from a range of disciplines theorize that the increase in conditions such as depression and obesity can be partially attributed to a disparity between the environments and conditions under which our mammalian brains currently develop and our evolutionary heritage For example healthy brain and emotional development depends to a significant extent upon caregiver availability and quality of care These include practices such as breastfeeding co sleeping and parental social support which have waned in modern society but nevertheless may be integral to healthy development As the authors argue without a more informed appreciation of the ideal conditions under which human brains minds develop and function human beings will continue to struggle with suboptimal mental and physical health and as problems emerge psychological treatments alone will not be effective The best approach is to recognize these needs at the outset so as to optimize child development Evolution Early Experience and Human Development puts forth a logical empirically based argument regarding human mammalian needs for optimal development based on research from anthropology neurobiology animal science and human development The result is a unique exploration of evolutionary approaches to human behavior that will support the advancement of new policies new attitudes towards health and alterations in childcare practices that will better promote healthy human development
